Lancaster Farming

VOL. 29 No. 2 | Four Sections | Lancaster Farming, Saturday, November 12, 1983 | $7.50 per Year

District II Director, William Daubert presents Tom Watkins, Belmont, Ohio with a silver bowl for first place in group 2 of the National Brown Swiss Association's Production Type Performance Registry. The Watkin's Fox Trail herd of 46 registered Brown Swiss scored a total of 2134 points to win the honor.

Brown Swiss breeders gather in Lancaster

BY TRISH WILLIAMS

LANCASTER — Nearly 200 Brown Swiss breeders and representatives of dairy businesses from across the country gathered this week in Lancaster for the National Brown Swiss Convention.

Headquartered at the Host Farm Corral, the four day event had a variety of fun and factual activites that have provided something for everyone in the family.

1983 marks the 114th year of Brown Swiss breeding in the United States, and the 103rd year of the National Brown Swiss Association. This is the first year Pennsylvania has hosted the convention.

Activities got underway Wednesday evening as conventioneers started arriving for an informal "Get Together" that provided them the opportunity to get reacquainted with old friends and make new ones.

Thursday's session was in a more serious vein. After a buffet breakfast, Brown Swiss breeders had the option of three different seminars that focused on concerns of the modern dairymen. The seminars were prepared and presented by faculty members of the Penn State Dairy Science Department.

Sidney E. Barnard, gave a presentation entitled "Good Flavor Sells More Milk." Barnard pointed out that Brown Swiss breeders can be proud of the quality of milk their Brown Swiss produce. Of the six major dairy breeds in the United States, the Brown Swiss produces milk highest in protein, a component that not increases the nutritional value of milk, but also adds a richness in flaver.

In addition to federal indemnity

Pa. continues to seek funds to help Avian poultry farmers

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

LANCASTER — As a federally funded program to depopulate Avian-infected flocks prepares to begin, Pennsylvania continues its search for additional funds to aid disease-stricken poultry farmers cover losses not included in the bird indemnities.

On Wednesday, the federal government released an initial $12.5 million to begin the depopulation, which will concentrate on those flocks diagnosed with the highly pathogenic strain of the Avian flu.

Poultry farmers who believe they will be included in the depopulation have been urged to contact the Avian Task Force to determine flock census figures. These figures are necessary to provide a base from which indemnity costs would be figured when the depopulation takes place.

The federal indemnity does not cover other costs, such as birds which may have already died of the disease and any losses in incomes during the depopulation program.

These are the specific two areas which the state is investigating to determine if any state funds can be made available to help the poultry operators.

Several meetings have been held by Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture officials with legislative leaders to explore the possibility of state funds. In addition, the Industry Task Force in Lancaster has held briefings with area ag bankers, Chamber of Council officials and area legislators to stress the severity of the situation and the continuing financial help that will be needed.

Two possibilities being explored on the state level are Emergency Management Service funds, which are designed for such immediate, unforeseen disasters and possible

Lancaster Holstein Assn. honors top producers

BY SALLY BAIR
Staff Correspondent

STRASBURG — Holstein breeders recognized top producing animals at the annual banquet of the Lancaster County Holstein Association held at Historic Strasburg on Tuesday. John A. Brubaker, Christiana, took the most awards with his senior two-year-old who placed first in both milk and fat and a four-year-old who was high in milk production.

Brubaker's Knott Run Pete Lucy had a record of 30,229 pounds of milk and 1,023 pounds of fat in 305 days. The four-year-old, Knott Run Job Pammy had 38,678 pounds of milk.

J. Mowery Frey, Jr., Willow Street, was also a multiple winner, with the junior two-year-old in milk, Waterview Elevation Lynn ET, with 23,161 pounds. His MD Gaywinds Astronaut Flo was the high three-year-old in milk with 26,708 pounds.

The junior two-year-old fat winner was owned by Lamar Witmer, Manheim. Royal Dream SWD Rosabelle had 875 pounds of fat, and is a Valiant daughter.

Galen Crouse, Stevens, owned the three-year-old fat winner, Diamond-S Wape Classy, a Conductor daughter with 999 pounds of fat.

Robert L. Kauffman, Jr., Peach Bottom, owned the four-year-old fat winner, Sukavin Apollo Romaine. Sired by Virginian she produced 1,068 pounds of fat.

Fountain Hill Star Pebbles, an Ivanhoe Star daughter owned by Thomas C. Lapp, Gap, was high in milk in the aged cow category with 32,596 pounds.

Robert H. Kauffman, Elizabethown, received the high fat award in the aged cow category for Gorlib Matt Frances, a Fond Matt daughter with 1115 pounds of fat.

Robert and Thomas Barley, sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Barley, Conestoga, and Paul Welk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Welk, Peach Bottom, took all the awards in the junior milk and fat contest.

KILE's top winners stressed inside

HARRISBURG — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition wound up its 27th year of quality livestock contests Wednesday, after six days of competition.

Exhibitors representing the eastern states, from Maine to Virginia, paraded quality livestock past the judges vying for championship spots. Livestock represented included beef, sheep, swine and horses.

Activities for the Keystone International were highlighted with the naming of the 1983 Livestock Man of the Year. Jesse F. Smith, Enola, received the honor from the Pennsylvania Livestock Association at its annual banquet Nov. 4. Smith has been in the livestock business for 27 years.

Other highlights included the Eastern Chester White Show, the National Shropshire Show and a wool contest. KILE also hosted the National Merino Show for the second year.

Recognizing the role that youth have in the future of agriculture, much of the KILE competition was geared to 4-H and FFA members. Youth activites included a junior shearing contest, livestock judging contests, and junior livestock show competition in beef, sheep and swine.

Complete coverage of KILE competition can be found throughout the pages of this week's Lancaster Farming.

Delmarva Poultry

Thursday, November 10
Report supplied by USDA

Market Comment: RTC movement on whole birds is fair to generally good with some plants reported to be in an oversold position. Cutlet movement is satisfactory. Rib breasts are moving fair at best in retail and distributive channels but most plants are easily able to siphon off any surplus products as line runs. Leg and leg quarters are well-cleared. Wings improved slightly. Overall slaughter is heavy. While several plants still remain closed for Fri. others have reconsidered and are now operating. Live supplies are adequate. Weights are in a wide range. Undertone is fully steady to fair but cautious.

Today's L.T.L. asking prices are sharply higher on U.S. Grade A at .56-.61 cents.

Estimated slaughter of broiler fryers in Delmarva (000).

Estimated 11/10 1,959; Actual 11/3 1,775; Actual 11/8 1,870; Average Weights 11/8 4.30; Average Weight 11/1 4.35.

Philadelphia Eggs

Thursday, November 10
Report supplied by USDA

MARKET COMMENT: Prices unchanged to sharply higher. Cartoned egg orders are heavy in most quarters as movement is fairly good overall plus many traders are trying to build inventories predicted on previous markets. Buying interest is active particularly for heavier weight nest runs. Offerings are light and confidently held where available. Undertone is fairly steady to firm.

Prices to retailers; sales to volume buyers, consumer grades white eggs in cartons delivered store door:

A Extra Large .81-.91; A Large .80-.90; A Medium .76-.84.

Thursday, November 10

Trade this week active and demand good for all cattle. Compared to Wednesday, Feeder Steers were 1.00-2.00 higher, except 600-700 lb. Steers 3.00-4.00 higher. Feeder Heifers under 600 lb. firm to 1.00 higher; over 600 lb. 1.00-2.00 higher. Slaughter Cows regained most of last weeks losses as they closed 1.00-3.00 higher with full advance on Utility and Commercial Cows. Breaking Utility and Commercial 2-4 Cows sold from 32.00-35.80; Cutter and Boning Utility 1-2 30.00-35.00; Canner and Low-Cutters from 25.00-30.50. Slaughter Bulls were steady to 1.00 higher in limited trade. Yield grade 1 1100-1300 lb. Bulls sold from 43.00-47.75; 1500-2000 lb. from 45.00-50.00, individual 1920 lb. high-dressing topped at 53.00. Salable receipts this week estimated at 15,900 head compared with 26,857 head last week and 20,967 head last week. The majority of receipts consisted of Feeder Steers and Heifers; Cows and Bulls made up 13 percent of salable supply.

Livestock health security fund

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

As efforts continue to resolve Pennsylvania's milk security fund, perhaps the overall concept of "ag security" should be expanded to include livestock health.

Twice in about as many years, Pennsylvania and particularly Lancaster County,have been hit with devastating livestock diseases. First, pseudorabies. Now, Avian influenza.

In both cases, it may have been possible to lessen the effects of the enormous extent of these diseases and reduce the tremendous financial losses if state veterinary officials had had available financial resources to move in and depopulate immediately.

In pseudorabies, there never was any reimbursable depopulation. Some farmers did it on their own and at their own expense. Now with Avian flu, the cost of depopulation has reached enormous proportions and the millions and millions of dollars already cited for the program won't even begin to cover actual losses to the overall poultry industry. Valuable time was lost even after the seriousness of the Avian was fully realized and the federal funds were released.

But what if depopulation could have been done when the first hog herd was diagnosed with pseudorabies or the first flock of chickens with Avian -- mild or not.

Could these outbreaks have been nipped in the bud?

Maryland didn't lose any time in depopulating its two Avian-infected flocks. It didn't wait for any federal funds. Sure, Maryland officials had the luxury of knowing of Pennsylvania's predicament and the two flocks were small. But back in April the number of affected birds in Lancaster County was relatively small.

This is not intended as an armchair hindsight look at the two diseases with the intent of laying any blame.

But now when it's fresh in everyone's mind and pocketbook, perhaps it's appropriate to look ahead.

Is it time for a Livestock Health Security Fund to be considered? Producers, processors and even consumers could contribute into a fund that would stand available to immediately finance action against a livestock disease and proceed with depopulation before valuable time is lost.

If the extent of the disease eventually requires federal help, then the fund could be reimbursed for the depopulation that had been accomplished to date.

Given the livestock densities that exist in parts of the state, particularly Lancaster County, similar problems are sure to happen again.

Let's not be caught napping.

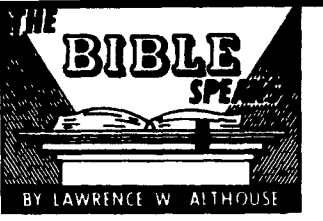
As the Pennsylvania Dutch say: "What makes two, makes three."

First, pseudorabies.

Second, Avian flu.

And, third?

Let's be ready.



SON OF GOD
November 13, 1983

Background Scripture:
John 4:24; 14:25, 26; Romans 8:9-17, 26-28.
Devotional Reading
Romans 8:1-8.

I'm sure you assumed — even without really thinking about it — that the title above this column, "SON OF GOD", is a reference to Jesus Christ.

However, if you did make that assumption, you're really quite wrong, for the title is a personal reference to you: You are the son of God!

LED BY THE SPIRIT

I realize that that statement may jar you just a bit — it was meant to. Most of us are quite satisfied to have Jesus be the Son of God — after all, that's what he's for, isn't he? To think that he occupies an elevated plane so far above our own capacities relieves us of taking too seriously some of the heavy requirements of his teachings. It's O.K. for him to forgive his enemies, because after all he is the Son of God!

For us to realize, however, that it is God's intention that all of us be the Sons of God is a frightening prospect. In the depths of our hearts we know that that is precisely what he wants of us. Someone has said that "Jesus became what we are so that we might become what he is."

Ah, Lord, but you've come to the wrong person. Surely you don't intend for me to be your Son. A disciple, perhaps, even an apostle, but a Son! You know I'm not up to that. I don't have what it takes. I wasn't made that way. I don't have it in me to be your Son!

It is true that, at first examination, there doesn't seem to be any of us the quality of Divine Sonship. Even if the spirit is willing, the flesh is much too weak. I can will to do right, Lord, but I can't make myself do it. So there, that's the end of it, isn't it?

CHRIST IN YOU

Yet, in Romans Paul is trying to help the church to understand that all of us have the basic ingredient of Divine Sonship — in each of us there dwells God's own Spirit within to rule us, then we will fulfill our Sonship: "For all who are led by the Spirit of God are sons of God" (8:14).

It is interesting that Paul uses several different terms for this same reality: "Spirit of God" (8:9), "Christ...in you" (8:10), "the Spirit of Christ" (8:9b) and simply "the Spirit" (8:14). Paul uses these terms interchangably, because he is only interested in helping his readers to know that the presence of God in Christ is in each of us. It doesn't matter what you call that presence — "Holy Spirit" or any of the above—so long as you open your life to the power and guidance of God within your life.

We have become accustomed to speaking mostly of God as outside us—and that is certainly a valid spiritual concept. But we need to know and acknowledge that there is also the presence of God within us—always attempting to guide, lead and help us. And when we respond to that presence with willing hearts, we are the SONS OF GOD.

To Assist in Avian Influenza Cleanup

This is not just a problem for poultry farmers in the Lancaster and nearby counties, it's a concern for all farmers. If a dairy farmer visits a poultry farm that has contracted Avian Influenza, then the dairy farmer could carry the virus on the vehicle or clothes to another poultry farm. The virus is not transmissible to any animal or human. I caution anyone visiting poultry farms to be sure to take all health security precautions which include staying out of poultry houses, disinfect shoes or boots when leaving, park the car or truck in a clean area or wash the vehicle before leaving.

There is an Avian Influenzia "hot line" to assist with the many questions concerning this virus. If you need general information or permits for movement of birds, feel free to call 717-569-6502 or 569-6503. For calls concerning sick birds call 717-569-6504 or 569-6505.

To Appreciate Farm-City Week

Each farmer is a very important person. While we have fewer farmers than ever before, the growing population demands more food. Never have so many persons been so dependent on so few.

Farm-City Week is being observed November 17 to 23 to bring a better understanding of problems existing between the rural and urban segments of our society. Some people may think that agriculture is a diminishing industry, but this is not true. There are fewer farmers but each farmer is now producing enough food to feed 73 people. In Russia that ratio is one to seven.

Over one-fifth of the state's work force is employed in agriculture related manufacturing, wholesale and retail trades. Even more workers are employed in the industries providing seed, feed, fertilizer and other supplies used in farm production. We urge you to take part in Farm-City Week events.

To Mulch Strawberries

Winter injury has been a problem in strawberries for a number of years. Crown injury can be reduced by applying mulch to protect them for the winter. The best time for application is from mid-November to mid-December. The exact date depends on weather conditions. But a good rule of thumb is to apply mulch when the temperature begins to stay around 20 to 25 degrees F. If it drops to 15 degrees or lower, un-protected strawberry crowns could be injured. In any case it's a good idea to mulch the plants after they have been exposed to a few good freezes. Mulching is a very good practice to insure a better crop next summer.

To Stretch Your Feeds and Feed Dollars

With feed being the largest single item of cost in producing meat and milk, it's important to make feeds go further. Several things can be done to accomplish this according to our dairy agent, Glenn Shirk. Here are a few. Avoid feed waste and spoilage. For more efficient utilization, test your forages and balance your rations.

WELL BILLY, THAT'S PART OF THE DUTY OF BEING A FARMER. YOU SEE, IT'S NOT REALLY MY LAND, I'M JUST THE CARE TAKER OF IT WHILE I'M ON THIS EARTH. SO IT'S MY JOB TO USE THIS LAND PROPERLY, TO GROW FOOD PRODUCTS TO FEED THE WORLD. ALSO, I AM NOT TO ABUSE THE LAND, BUT TO TAKE CARE OF IT SO THAT FUTURE GENERATIONS WILL BE ABLE TO GROW FOOD ON IT, TOO. — SO YOU SEE, THAT'S WHY I'M PLANTING TREES, THEY WILL HELP CONTROL SOIL EROSION, THEY WILL PROVIDE A HOME FOR WILDLIFE AND...
... AND THEY WILL PROVIDE TREES FOR THE KIDS OF THE FUTURE TO BUILD TREE-HOUSES IN.

Fumigation service claims success in Avian fight

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

MASTERSONVILLE — A poultry fumigation service operating in the heart of the Avian flu area in northwestern Lancaster County is claiming success in reversing the disease on farms where it has struck and keeping it out of flocks surrounded by the disease.

The Elmtree Poultry Service, of near Mastersonville, utilizes a unique formaldegen fumigation system, which it says is safer and provides better penetration into all areas of a chicken house to kill off any virus.

"We've used the system in about 15 or 20 poultry houses with Avian or suspected of having it," explains Galen Young, of R3 Elizabethtown.

"Not one flock following the fumigation has contacted the disease."

"But we've found that during the present crisis, the fumigation must be done after each flock to keep the disease out."

Elmtree has had success in both layer and broiler houses. On one farm, the fumigation application kept Avian out of houses that were literally surrounded within visual distance of nine other houses with Avian. It has been successfully applied in houses where Avian was previously present in which both the manure was cleaned out and not.

On one farm in the heart of the Avian area and located within a short distance of a duck pond, the broiler flock following treatment had only one percent mortality and half of these were culled cripples.

The Elmtree system, for which patents have been applied, utilizes its own design "burners" which operate off the house panel box. Different sized 220-units are used for various sized houses and there are smaller sized units, operating off 110, for egg rooms, delivery vehicles, feed bins, etc.

The units use formaldegen flakes, which when heated and combined with water or the natural humidity in the poultry house, forms a mist that penetrates into all areas of the structure.

"We get total penetration throughout the building and even into the ceiling, into the fans and the cracks in the building," Young said.

The system replaces the electric fry pans or the five-gallon cans with potassium magnate and liquid formadehyde now mostly in use and is much safer, according to Young.

The system is activated from outside the building and eliminates the mad dash to set off the potassium.

A unit is placed about every 75 feet in a house for total coverage. The formaldegen burn continues for four hours and then the house is ventilated after setting for 24 hours.

During the present Avian outbreak, the disease returned to only one house and that was only after the owner attempted to put two flocks through.

"That is why we're recommending treatment after every flock while the disease is still prevalent in the area," Young said.

Now is the Time

Also, feed frequently and offer animals small portions at each feeding; this is one of the benefits of electronic feeders. Where pratical, it may be beneficial to blend some or all of the ration, such as in total mixed rations. Grind and chop feeds to the proper length. For example, corn kernels should be broken into about 6 pieces for dairy cattle. Take advantage of good feed buys. Don't waste scarce, expensive feeds on non-productive animals; cull low producers, problem cows and excess heifers of questionable genetic merit. Raise fewer heifers, feed them well and breed them to calve at 22-24 months. Depending on the relative cost of grains and supplements as compared to forages, consider feeding more forages and less grain, especially in mid and late lactation. However, be sure to feed dry cows and springing heifers properly. Never fail to give the good cows the feed they need to be productive and profitable.

Bucks Holstein Assn. meets

BY HAROLD SHELLY

KELLERS CHURCH — A total of 145 members and guests attended the annual meeting of the Bucks County Holstein Association at St. Paul's Lutheran Church last Saturday.

President David Walton presided. Elected to three-year terms of the board of directors were Bill Gunser, Tim Shull and Tom Haldema.

Premier breeder award for 1983 wetn to Harry and Allene Thompson of Fountain Farm, in Newtown. Ryan Worthington was presented with a jacket as high scoring 4-H member in all three projects; calf and cow. Worthington also had grand champion cow at the 4-H dairy show at the Middletown Grange Fair in August.

Secretary Harold Lownes reported that gross receipts for the calf raffle at the Middletown Grange fair were $2400.

Walter Wurster, member of the state executive committee, reported to the membership that despite the controversy surrouding the resignation and reappointment of William Nicholl as Executive Secretary of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, things were back to normal.

"It seems that everything is coming together," he said.

Apple Market News

Monday, November 7
Report Supplied By PDA

Movement is slowly beginning to pick up. Demand is still fair but there are indications that it wil be strengthening. Out-of-state competition is reported to be dwindling. Local supplies are becoming more stable as the growers without storage are being forced to finish their apples due to the influx of cold weather and killing frosts.

Now is the time we need the retail outlets to come through with some meaningful promotions using top quality apples. This is needed to re-establish the markets that may have been hurt by offering poor quality fruit to the consumers.

SUMMARY

Prices quoted below are wholesale, truckload, f.o.b. at the orchard or packing house on Pennsylvania apples.

Hunterdon Ag Board is busy organization

FLEMINGTON, N.J. — The Hunterdon County Board of Agriculture is winding down still another year of activity and accomplishment. The organization's annual meeting is set for next Saturday, Nov. 19, at the Quakertown Fire House.

Festivities begin at 6 p.m. with a social hour. A roast beef dinner is planned for 7 p.m.

The County Board of Agriculture was founded in 1886. It is a broad-base group of farmers and others interested in agriculture, representing most of the county's municipalities. It's concerns are county-wide, but also reaches out through its leadership into state, regional, and national organizations.

There are about 350 members in the Hunterdon County Board at the present time. Close to 300 of these are members of the New Jersey Farm Bureau.

County Board is part of a network of county boards of agriculture with representation in many state-wide organizations. The State Board of Agriculture, the Board of Managers of Cook College, Rutgers, State Farm Bureau, all draw on leadership out of the various county boards of agriculture.

Currently, Dave Buchholz, Alexandria Township, serves on the college board of managers; Fred Van Doren, Clover Hill, is on the State Farm Bureau board; Melda Snyder, Pittstown, was until recently on the state ag board. Marjorie Van Ness, Raritan Township, recently stepped down as President of the New Jersey Agricultural Society.

The officers of the county ag board this past year were Fred Clucas, Tewksbury, president; Richard Gulick, W. Amwell, 1st V-President; Ted Blew, Franklin Township, 2nd V-President; Charles Runge, Alexandria, Secretary; and Charles Eichlin. Frenchtown, Treasurer.

There are 35 elected members of the Executive Committee; and about 40 representatives of organizations across the county also serve on the committee. The Executive Committee meets on the first Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Hunterdon Extension Center.

A monthly meeting agenda will include a topic of general interest, reports of the N.J. Department of Agriculture, Farm Bureau, the Cooperative Extension, and many committees.

A history of Hunterdon agriculture and the county board's involvement in it was published recently: "As Ye Sow: the Story of an American Rural Community." It features the wide-ranging activites of the organization.

It describes the county board's role in the beginnings of many noteworthy successes: the founding of the nation's first artificial insemination cooperative; the founding of the first successful egg auction in the U.S.; the impetus in establishing the Hunterdon Medical Center.

President Fred Clucas will not dwell on the distant past in his report to the members on Nov. 19. You can be sure he will stress the achievements and successes of the association's most recent year. The organization has been active and responsive to its membership and the community.

Speaker of the evening will be Arthur Brown, Jr., State Secretary of Agriculture.

Franklin Farm - City Banquet set Nov. 22

CHAMBERSBURG — The 14th annual Franklin County Farm-City Week Banquet will be held Tuesday, Nov. 22 at the Kauffman's Community Center, according to Farm-City Week Chairman, Dalton Paul.

Dinner will be served promptly at 6:45 p.m; preceded by an "Ag. Commodities Social Hour", starting at 6 p.m. Delicious snacks of Franklin county's agricultural products will be served by County Dairy Princess, Allison Biesecker; Apple Queen, Jocelynn Hartman, and Honey Queen, Kimi Benedict.

A variety of awards will be presented by the Greater Chambersburg Chamber of Commerce, the Franklin County Farmers Association, the Waynesboro Area Jay-Cees, and the Kauffman Community Ruritan Clubs. Century-Farm Awards will be presented by C. Eugene Gayman, Regional Administrator, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Entertainment will consist of a performance by the James Buchanan Show Choir, followed by the always-popular "Job Exchange" interviews.

Area service-clubs, such as Lions, Ruritans, Rotarians, and Kiwanians are encouraged to attend and be recognized as groups.

Tickets for the event are available through Monday, Nov. 14, from the County Extension Office, Vo-Tech School, ASCS Office, Chambersburg Chamber of Commerce, and Committee members....Carl Allison, Kelly Barr, Miriam Burkholder, Jean North, Kenneth Doyle, Ruth Fitz, Betty Gamble, Eugene Hege, Ray Kauffman, Paul Lehman, Edward Myers, Fred Oaks, Gerald Reichard, Mike Small, Charles White, Betty Wingert, Myron Young and Gladys Becker.

Wool Gatherers Create Champion Shawl

HARRISBURG — Intense competition, quality and craftsmanship flourished as the Wool Gatherers of New Hampshire topped the 1983 Fourth Annual Northeast Regional Sheep to Shawl Contest. The contest was held in conjunction with the 27th Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

Four expert teams from the Northeast participated with five members per team. Each team sheared a sheep, spun the wool into yarn and wove a shawl 80x22 inches within two and a half hours.

Using a Border Leicester sheep, the Wool Gatherers made a three-dimensional shawl with excellent draping quality and novel pockets. They used pastel earthy shades to enhance the unique design of Mary Bishop, weaver, from Ackworth, N.H.

The team received a travelling trophy sponsored by the Pennsylvania Sheep and Wool Growers, a large plaque, ribbons and $150 in premiums. The shawl was later auctioned to the highest bidder, Dave Sheibley of Hill Country Wool at Frost, Marlinton, West Virginia, for $105. Team members included Judith Pratt, Priscilla Fauver, Jozi Jochums and Mary Bishop.

Spinning wheels blurred as veteran Lancaster County sheep to shawl team the Niddy Noddies created "Ribonaccis Cascade of Autumn" using 11 natural dyes including walnut, marigold and sumac. Their shawl, rich in fall colors, was accented by a Romney cross fleece shorn by Dave Eckman, shearer from Pequea Valley, Lancaster County.

Spinners on the Noddy Noddies team included Barbara Lynch, Valerie Bechtold and Tina Wolf, while Carol Barry's expertise as weaver rounded out the team. Their shawl was purchased by Harry Hock of Hill Country Wool at Frost, Marlinton, West Virginia, for $110.

Bobbins flew as the third place team, the Butler County Pedalers, were the first to complete their rose/plum/cream shawl in 96 minutes. Using a Dorset sheep sponsored by Spring Fed Farms,

Lancaster Holstein Assn. presents milk, fat awards

John Barley owned the high two-year-old in milk, Spring-Belle Whirlhill Penny, with a record of 18,980 milk and 577 fat. He also owned the three-year-old which was high in both fat and milk. Star-Rock Monitor Majesty had 17,847 pounds of milk and 746 pounds of fat.

Thomas Barley won the fat award for his two-year-old, Star-Rock Elevation Mary Dee with a record of 14,880 milk and 674 fat.

Mark Welk owned the four-year-old winner in both milk and fat. MD-Greenside Jets Maiden won both categories with 18,077 pounds of milk and 774 pounds of fat.

In the five years and over category Mark Welk's Shraders Jet Delight won both the milk and fat divisions with a record of 19,178 milk and 711 fat in 266 days.

Elected to serve three year terms were Lamar Witmer, Manheim, outgoing president; Rich Hess, Strasburg; and Paul Welk, Peach Bottom. At the reorganization held following the banquet, Greg Landis was elected president of the Board and John Howard was elected vice president. Harold Shellenberger will serve as secretary and Gary Akers will serve as treasurer.

John Howard, right, chairman of the Conestoga Classic, presents a trophy to Dr. Donald Shellenberger, Leola, for consigning the high selling animal to the sale held in August.

County Agent Glenn Shirk urged members to "work hard to produce a product worthy of promotion." He said diarymen have a responsibility to follow the product through to the end to make sure it is being handled properly. "I think the future's bright," Shirk concluded.

State Director Jay Landis told members there would be no membership card mailed to them this year, and said there is an increase in the price of individual memberships but not in the price per cow.

Doug Hershey, director of promotion for the state association, said the 1984 goal for Lancaster County would be 755 members.

Speaker for the evening was retired Lebanon County Agent Newton Bair, who took members on a slide tour through European countries he visited this summer. From lush farmland in France with high yields of wheat to high mountain farms in Switzerland, Bair related to the farmers the experiences of their counterparts in Europe. His group visited a 10th generation Simmental cattle breeder where they were hosted to lunch in a 250-year old log barn which had been spotlessly cleaned for the occasion.

The tour group observed hand methods of harvest necessary on the steep alpine slopes and the very modern dairies in Germany where animals are bred to American bulls to increase their milk production. He also explained the land reclamation projects in the Netherlands which allows farmers to farm and which was once under the sea. The value is returned over a long period of time.

Arlen Keener congratulates Tom Barley, center, and brother, Bob, on winning awards in the Lancaster Holstein junior milk and fat contest. Mark Welk was also a multiple winner, but was unable to attend banquet.

Lebanon DHIA dairymen a cut above

BY TRISH WILLIAMS

PRESCOTT — Dairy Herd Improvement Association members in Lebanon County ranked second in the state for milk production per cow in 1982. With a county average of 16,488 pounds of milk per cow, Lebanon DHIA dairymen topped the state average milk production of 15,410 pounds by 1,078 pounds.

These figures were disclosed by County Extension Agent, Denis Hoke, Tuesday evening in a progress report given at the Lebanon County DHIA annual banquet at the Prescott Firehall.

"Average milk production per cow in Lebanon County increased by 396 pounds this past year," said Hoke.

Hoke commended DHIA dairymen for their dilegence in obtaining these records, but expressed two concerns over the new records. First Hoke voiced concerned, that although average milk production increased by 396 pounds, income over feed costs increased by only $2. A second concern of Hoke's was a decrease in the average milk fat percentage from 3.7 percent to 3.6 percent.

Despite this percentage decrease, the average number of pounds of milk fat remained relatively unchanged, as did the value of product above feed costs.

Producers who achieved significant production records for the year, were honored with ribbons and trophies.

Willow Maple Farm, owned by the father-son partnership of Harold and Donald Bollinger Newmanstown, is home to Lebanon County's most productive herd of dairy cows. The herd of 44 registered Holsteins achieved a rolling herd average of 22,083 pounds of milk, 788 pounds of milk fat and 697 pounds of protein. These outstanding records placed them first in the three production award categories of milk, fat and protein.

High Herd - Willow Maple Farm, milk 22,083, fat 788.

High Cow - Fat, awarded to Dale, Ernest and Allen Hostetter, Annville, for cow number 96 who produced 1,287 pounds of fat.

- Milk, awarded to Raymond and Marlin Getz for "Twinkle" who produced 29,498 pounds of milk.

Highest Increase in Rolling Herd Average - Mark and Richard Bomberger, Lebanon, for an increase of 2,165 pounds.

"We directors decided to add a new category this year," announced Lentz. "With the milk surplus problem we are presently in, we thought we should not only recognize high production, but also should be giving an award for the herd producing the highest quality product. So this year we added an award for the herd with the lowest somatic cell count."

Price to determine grain availability

UNIVERSITY PARK — The 1983 drought and the PIK program combined to sharply reduce corn and soybean production this year, says H. Louis Moore, Penn State Extension professor of agricultural economics.

Corn production is projected at 4.2 billion bushels, down almost one-half from 1982. Soybean production at about 1.5 billion bushels will be down at least one-third.

The following question has been asked frequently in recent weeks, "Will there be enough soybeans and corn to last for the next year?"

The current carryover of 3.4 billion bushels of corn will be reduced to about 819 million bushels during the year if domestic use and exports continue at projected rates. This would leave a scant 5-week supply of corn on hand when the 1984 harvest begins compared to about a 6 month supply of surplus corn on hand at the present time.

The soybean situation will be even tighter than corn. Since Sept. 1, the crush of soybeans has exceeded the level of a year ago. Both domestic use and exports have been strong. If the carryover is to be no lower that 120 million bushels on Sept. 1, 1984, domestic use and exports will have to be cut sharply in the months ahead. A supply of 120 million bushels of soybeans on Sept. 1, 1984 will barely keep the pipeline filled until the new harvest begins to move to market.

Despite the obviously tight supply of both corn and soybeans there will be enough to last, Moore says. In a free market economy the pricing system will assure us that we will not run out of livestock feed. When supplies are depleted the price rises sufficiently to encourage some users to buy less or none. Users will also look for substitutes. A record 280 million bushels of wheat will likely be substituted for corn by the nation's livestock industry during the coming year.

The problem is that no one knows how high the price must go to restrict the use of corn and soybeans. If we continue to use at the current rate the supply will not last. This would suggest that the price has not been high enough to restrict use in recent weeks.

The ratio of price between Pennsylvania and the mid-west will be higher than during surplus production years. Pennsylvania is always a deficit feed production state but with an expected crop of only 74.7 million bushels of corn compared to last year's 126 million it will be necessary to ship even more grain in from surrounding states.

Champion Shawl

the team made a Sweedish verticle stripe lace shawl measuring 23 inches by 81 inches. Top bidder of this shawl was Pennsylvania Deputy Secretary of Agriculture E. Chester Heim of Mechanicsburg for $100. Team members included Verona McCandless, Blanche Hall, Lisa Forsythe, Ruth Schnell and Carol Shuler, all of Butler County.

Shears buzzed as the Blue Chip Romneys, winners of the 1982 contest, sheared a black Coopworth sheep. Their "Rambler Rose" pattern placed fourth in the contest, winning the team $75 in premiums. Team members included Linda and Fred Walker of Stockton, New Jersey; Sally Young of Cannonsburg, Washington County; Brad Wigle of Keymar, Maryland; and Diane Fields of Hickory, North Carolina. The high bidder and topping the sale at $135 was Gary Williams of Pleasant View Farm, Saegertown, Crawford County.

Judging this year's contest were Carol Buskirk of Fancy Flock Fiber Studio, Linglestown, Dauphin County, and Jane Cox of Riegelsville, Bucks County. Both are veteran sheep to shawl participants, as well as experience spinners and weavers. Auctioneer for the contest was Kenneth Brubaker of Chester County.

Del. pesticide test dates

NEWARK, Del. — Individuals who wish to be certified to apply restricted use pesticides in Delaware can take qualifying tests as follows: Room 201 Townsend Hall, University of Delaware, Newark (November 16, 1983; February 15, May 16, August 15 and November 21, 1984); Department of Agriculture; Dover (December 21, 1983; March 21, June 20, September 19 and December 19, 1984); and the University of Delaware Substation Georgetown (January 19, April 18, July 18 and October 17, 1984). The tests will be administered by the University of Delaware Cooperative Extension Service.

Note that all dates fall on a Wednesday and follow a rotational sequence for the convenience of residents in different counties. Each test will begin at 7 p.m.

Presently qualified applicators may be recertified by attending accredited meetings and workshops. For further information call county extension offices in Newark, Dover and Georgetown, or contact the Delaware Department of Agriculture.

Ohio youths earn overall champion steer honors

BY LAURA ENGLAND

HARRISBURG — Two Ohio youths, winning top awards in the junior steer show, carried their earnings a step further and captured overall steer honors at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Oct. 6.

Robyn Davis, Lewistown, Ohio, walked off with the championship title while Bruce Winegardner, Lima, Ohio, took reserve champion honors. Davis and Winegardner, both 4-H'ers, competed against open steer show entries for the overall titles.

Davis' 1,300 pound steer was named the heavyweight winner in the junior steer show. A Chianina-Angus-Maine Anjou cross, the steer was purchased from the High View Farm, Bellfontaine, Ohio.

Davis said her steer was late coming around and put most of his growth on during the last two months. In the KILE contest, she said her steer was "the best he's ever looked" in show competition this year.

Winegardner's reserve champion was the junior show middleweight champion. The Chianina-Angus cross weighed 1,200 pounds and was homebred.

The open steer show championship went to Melinda Schindler, Ney, Ohio, and her middleweight Chianina-Angus cross entry. Walter Cattle Company, Airville, took the reserve title with its heavyweight steer.

Judging the 90 plus entries of the open and junior shows was Tom Turner, Columbus, Ohio.

OPEN STEERS

Class 1 - Lightweight - 1035 lbs. to 1200 lbs.

Franklin Co. exhibitor shows grand champion

BY KIMBERLY HERR

HARRISBURG — The grand champion bull at Monday's Angus show at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition was owned by Rocky Forge Farm, Waynesboro, Franklin Co.

Rocky Forge, which was represented by three animals, also won reserve grand senior heifer calf, the junior champion bull title and reserve junior champion bull calf.

The reserve grand champion bull was shown by Chester Hughes, Lancaster County Extension agent. It was his first year at KILE.

The grand champion heifer was owned by Gordon Shive, of Pleasant Valley Farm, in Seven Valleys, and Robert Miller.

According to Gordon Shive, the Pleasant Valley Farm has been showing at KILE since he was "just a little boy." The Shive's daughter also won the junior champion show at KILE.

The reserve champion heifer belonged to Joel W. Stivers, Pittstown, N.J.

Dennis and Dottie Byrne and the Mar Lee Farm, Oxford, Chester County, were named premier exhibitors of the show.

Judge for the show was Dick Beck, Queenstown, Md.

South Mountain named Charolais premier breeder, exhibitor

BY LAURA ENGLAND

HARRISBURG — South Mountain Farm, owned by Ray and Mary Grimes, McKnightstown, won the premier breeder and exhibitor awards during the Charolais Show at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Tuesday.

Earning the premier titles, South Mountain captured both the grand and reserve grand champion bull honors and the reserve grand champion female honors.

The champion bull was a spring yearling, BCF Excell 494, sired by Mr. Expectation. The reserve bull was SMR Ramar, a junior calf also sired by Mr. Expectation. The Grime's reserve grand champion female was SMF Magic Molly, a

Ohio sweeps Chianina show

BY KIMBERLY HERR

HARRISBURG — Ohio exhibitors fared well Monday during the Chianina show at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

The grand champion bull was owned by Highview Farms, Bellefontaine, Ohio. Born in March of 1982, the bull weighed in at 1800 pounds.

This was the second year in a row that Highview Farms captured the grand champion bull title.

The grand champion heifer was owned by David Thomas Farmer, Winchester, Ohio, who also won junior champion with his heifer. It was his first year at KILE.

The reserve champion heifer was shown by Sherry Gilmore, of Nittany Farms, Bellefonte. Sherry has been showing at KILE for about four years.

Judge for the show was Dick Beck, Queenstown, Md.

Renner Farms dominates KILE Hereford Show

William Renner of Waynesburg, at right, lead his bull into the grand champion spotlight at the Keystone International Hereford Show. With the winners is judge Tom Turner.

BY LAURA ENGLAND

HARRISBURG — Renner Farms, Waynesburg, again dominated the Hereford Show at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition and was named the show's premier breeder and exhibitor.

On its way to the prestigious premier awards, Renner Farms, owned by Earl and William Renner, captured nearly every top award, including grand and reserve grand champion female and grand champion bull.

Competing for the first time this year was Renner's grand champion female. The summer yearling, RF 359 Dominette 237, was sired by Adv 359 Domino. Reserve female honors went to another Domino daughter owned by the Renners, an early spring yearling named RF 359 Dominette 250.

Grand champion bull honors were earned by C1 1 Domino 269, a junior yearling. Winning the championship was nothing new for this competitor, Bill Renner said. In the 10 shows the bull competed in this year, he won all the championships but one.

The reserve champion bull was exhibited by Amelia Peabody, Dover, Mass. The senior yearling, POW L1 Domino 19K, was sired by L1 Domino 76744.

Judging the Hereford entries was Tom Turner, Columbus, Ohio.

Spring Bottom Farm named premier exhibitor, breeder

BY KIMBERLY HERR

HARRISBURG — Spring Bottom Farm, of Fairfield, was named premier exhibitor and premier breeder during the Polled Hereford show Monday at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

Spring Bottom Farm, owned by Frank Darcy, also won reserve grand champion heifer, reserve senior heifer and best six head.

The grand champion heifer was owned by the University of Connecticut and shown by Mary Lou Blanchette.

Huckleberry Hall Farm, of Smithburg, Md., was the proud owner of both the grand champion and reserve bulls. The champion weighed in at about 2100 pounds, while the reserve animal weighed approximately 1700 pounds.

Judge for the show was Pete Lohr, Lewisburg, W. Va.

Ohio, Maine exhibitors capture top Shorthorn honors

BY LAURA ENGLAND

HARRISBURG — Ohio and Maine exhibitors captured the grand championship honors in the Shorthorn Show during the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Tuesday.

Ohio exhibitor Edward McLaughlin, Woodsfield, showed the grand champion female, an early spring yearling. The heifer, R W Delta Dawn, sired by Windholme Robin King, was also named the grand champion of the Junior Beef Breeding Show.

The grand champion bull honors went to a senior yearling owned by Hollis Smith, East Dixfield, Maine. GPM Trapper, sired by Green Ridge Beacon L64, was undefeated in the show circuit this year, Smith said, and has been supreme champion over all beef breeds twice. The 1982 reserve All American bull calf was purchased through the National Sale, Denver, Colo.

Bringing the Shorthorn honors back to Pennsylvania was Woodside Farms, Waynesburg. Woodside exhibited both the reserve grand champion female and reserve grand champion bull. Woodside Wachess Robin, a senior heifer, was the female winner, and Woodside Major Clyde, a junior calf, was the bull winner.

Terry and Rhonda Kibler, Woodstock, Va., were named the show's premier breeder and exhibitor. Tom Turner, Columbus, Ohio, judged the contest.

Jesse Smith named Livestock Man of the Year

BY LAURA ENGLAND

GRANTVILLE — Jesse F. Smith, Enola, was named the tenth "Livestock Man of the Year" award winner by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association at its annual banquet Nov. 4.

Smith, who has been in the livestock business for 27 years, was honored for his outstanding work in the industry. Currently employed as the dairy and livestock specialist for Agway Inc., Smith began his livestock venture upon receiving an animal science degree from Rutgers University in 1955.

A New Jersey native, Smith served for three years as a Vet Technician in the Army before joining the Agway staff. He plans to retire in February 1984 and pursue his avocation of woodworking by making wood items and music boxes with his son at the Woodsmiths Company in Enola.

Married to the former Kay Smith and father of six children, Smith has coordinated and worked with 4-H livestock judging contests. He was secretary of the Pa. Livestock Association for 11 years and managed the association's food booth during Farm Show Week. Smith has also been instrumental in securing funds for education and youth programs.

The Livestock Man of the Year award is presented each year to a person who has done outstanding work for the state's livestock industry. Initiated in 1973, winners have included: 1973, Herman Purdy; 1974, Stan Gates; 1975, Ben Morgan; 1976, John Henkel; 1977, Gilbert S. Watts; 1978, Henry Gruber; 1979, Max Smith; 1980, Dwight Younkin; 1981, Glen Kean; and 1982, Herb Schick.

In addition to the Livestock Man of the Year award, four junior members of the association were also honored and received plaques.

FFA winners were Melissa Peters, Stewartstown, and Harry Lewis, Middleburg. The 4-H youths were Janet Shick, New Castle, and Robert Mikesell, Marion Center.

Peters was a member of the Red Lion FFA Chapter and is currently enrolled at the University of Tennessee where she is a pre-vet major. her FFA projects have included broilers, pheasants, veal calves, swine finishing and breeding, dairy beef operation and grain and hay production. She has served as chapter reporter and participated in public speaking and livestock judging contests.

A member of the Middleburg FFA Chapter, Lewis is in partnership with his father on a farm near Middleburg. A high school senior, Lewis' projects include swine breeding and marketing,

Ewe sale excitement at KILE

Dorset Sale

BY TRISH WILLIAMS

HARRISBURG — Twenty Dorset ewes that had been shown in the Keystone International Livestock Exposition, were sold last Saturday in an exciting auction that attracted buyers from many states.

Auctioneer, Ken Brubaker, Westtown, reported, "The sale average was a record high for the sale. It was a tremendous sale, very exciting. I think the best Dorset sale ever."

This was the fourth year for the sale, held in the sheep show ring at the Farm Show complex.

Ten yearling ewes averaged $374. Ten fall ewe lambs brought an average of $269. The sale average was $321.25 for the 20 head sold.

The grand champion sale ewe, shown by Nix Besser Farms, Narvon, brought $525 from her buyer Scott Johnson, Bangor,Me.

Reserve grand champion ewe, exhibited by Jim Baxter, Marlington, W. Va., sold to Brian Bankert, Hanover for $375.

The top-selling ewe in the sale was the third place yearling ewe exhibited by Nix Besser. She sold for $675 to Robert Burdick, Mercer.

A yearling ewe shown by Andy Wagner, Bethlehem, sold for $450 to William Willitts, Kutztown.

And the second top-selling ewe lamb sold to Bruce Betts, Felton, Del. for $300. She was shown by Jim Baxter and was the second place ewe sale lamb.

Hampshire

The sale average in the Hampshire sheep sale was down from last year's average of $318. The 32 head sold for a sale average of $266, last Saturday.

Fifteen yearling ewes sold for an average of $270. Three fall ewe lambs sold, including the grand champion sale ewe, sold for an average of $412. Fourteen junior ewe lambs sold for an average of $231.

The grand champion Hampshire ewe sold for an outstanding price of $1000. She was shown and consigned by Price Stock Farm, Westminster, Md. Her buyer was William Yoder, Wey Farms, Kutztown.

The reserve grand champion and first place yearling ewe, exhibited by Albert Wilson, Jr., Rural Retreat, Va. She was bought for $500 by Bonnie and Margaret Burchinal, of Point Marion.

The top-selling yearling ewe was also shown and consigned by Price Stock Farm. Bringing $700 the yearling sold to Joanne O'Conner, Monongahela.

Second top-selling yearling ewe, sold for $575. She was shown by Harold Bedinger and family, Catlin, Ill.

The top-selling junior ewe lamb, placed first in her class and brought $500. She was shown and consigned by Maureen Fitzpatrick, Shamrock Farm, Wayland, NY.

Oxford

This year for the first time the Oxford breed joined in the sale excitement at KILE.

Auctioneer, Ken Brubaker, reported very good results for the first year's sale.

Six yearling ewes sold for an average of $182, Four ewe lambs sold for an average of $154. The sale average was $171.

The grand champion sale ewe, was a yearling exhibited by Gerald Thoma, Kensington, Ohio. She sold for $175 to Elaine Murphy, Clinton Corner, NY.

The first placed ewe lamb, shown by Jim Westhoven and family, Lancaster, sold for $175 to K and M Gates, Pleasant Valley.

Shropshire

The National Shropshire Ewe sale averaged $152. Fourteen yearling ewes sold for an average of $177. Sixteen ewe lambs brought an average of $128.

The champion Shropshire sale ewe, exhibited by Glenn High and family, Lexington, Ohio, sold for $375 to Bonnie and Margaret Burchinal, Point Marion.

"There are two good reasons to plant more corn in '84. XL-61 is one of them."

This year, like most years, I planted what I sold. And I sold more XL-61 than any other corn hybrid.

I've always been impressed with the quick start, strong stalks and healthy plants I get with XL-61. And I'm even more impressed with the consistently high yields.

While a lot of my customers plant XL-61 for its top quality grain, many plant it because it's also ideal for silage. With XL-61, there's no problem with ear retention either.

So, for my money, and yours, XL-61 is one real good reason to plant more corn next year. And the other reason? That's a dealer like me who knows his product line and can recommend the hybrids that will fit your needs and make the most of your acres.

See your DEKALB-PFIZER GENETICS dealer soon. He may give you more than a couple of good reasons to plant more corn in '84.

Who's giving you good reasons to plant more corn?

I am.

Use of the Computer." Heindrichs pointed out the many functions a computer can perform in farm record keeping, and economic analysis, as well as many of the software programs that are available to farmers. Dr. Louis Moore addressed the subject of "Marketing Dairy Products," a subject breeders seemed eager to learn more about.

Running concurrent to the seminars was a ladies program, featuring a wok cooking demonstration by Fran Horst.

The Annual Meeting Luncheon was held Thursday, with Jim Crowley, University of Wisconsin, as guest speaker.

Crowley is probably best known for his writings in Hoard's Dairyman. Crowley, who has spent all of his life in the dairy business, remarked that the dairy industry has undergone tremendous change in the last 25 years, but that the next 25 years will probably prove to be far more dynamic.

With humorous ancedotes, Crowley described some of the problems that have troubled dairymen through the years, and the changes they will encounter in the coming years.

Crowley said the new dairy bill currently being finalized in Congress is similar to the PIK program, with incentives not to produce. But, he noted, in 1985 an entirely new Farm Bill will be signed into law.

"Predictions are that it will be a totally new concept and will do away with parity," said Crowley.

After giving light-hearted illustrations of the various types of dairy farmers, from the opportunist, who is in and out every year, to the plunger, who jumps into everything, Crowley stated, "No matter what type of dairyman you are, your investments must be sound. When you invest a dollar you must be certain that you get more than a dollar back, preferrably two."

"You must stay up to date," cautioned Crowley, "Test your feed, balance your rations and improve the overall management of your operation."

Don Ace, Penn State, who grew up on a Brown Swiss dairy farm in Pennsylvania, was the master of ceremonies for the luncheon.

Representing Governor Dick Thornburgh and Secretary of Agriculture Penrose Hallowell, Chester Heim, deputy secretary of agriculture, read a greeting from the governor to the delegation. Thornburgh's written greeting applauded Brown Swiss breeders for their nutritional and profitable contribution to the economy.

Heim also announced that the U.S. Congress had passed a dairy bill the day before.

"The House passed the Senate version of the 'Compromise Bill' with two minor changes," said Hiem. "Four amendments were offered, only two were passed."

The first amendment gives dairymen credit for contributions to a dairy promotion program, the second deals with an orderly process for culling cows.

Roger Neitzel, superintendent of records announced production awards for records set in 1982. Neitzel said, many new records were set in 1982. Fifty-one new records entered the Honor Rolls, of those, seven were class leaders.

Youth Prouduction Awards for 305 day records went to:

District II, Allen Daubert, Pine Grove, Pa, for Wind Mill Telstar Elaine, 17,004m, 4.2%, 718f.

District III, Rebecca K. Long, Thurmont, Md., for Long View Delegat Elsa, 20,070m, 4.8%, 960f.

Thursday evening, Brown Swiss art items were sold at a fun auction and members were treated to a Pennsylvania-style hoedown.

Friday was a fun day with tours of Lancaster County. Delegates were given the opportunity to inspect sale cattle housed at the Lebanon County Fairgrounds.

The National Brown Swiss convention sale is taking place today. A complete report will be carried next week in Lancaster Farming.

On the left, Chester Heim, Pennsylvania deputy secretary of agriculture brought greetings from Governor Thornburgh to the National Brown Swiss Convention. On the right, Jim Crowley, University of Wisconsin, took a look at the dairy industry, past, present and future.

Crawford Holstein Club presents awards

CONNEAUT LAKE — The Crawford County Holstein Club held its annual meeting and banquet last Saturday, with 161 in attendance. The program was held at the stable Pit & Pub, Conneaut Lake, with County Association President Howard Caldwell moderating the program.

One of the highlights of the program was the recognition of the Distinguished Junior Holstein members and Owner-Breeder awards. Jeff Raney of the Youth Awards Committee presented 4-H'er Jill Hyde of Titusville the Crawford County Holstein Club's Distinguished Junior Member award for her outstanding activities with Holsteins.

Dan Dickey, representing the Northwest Holstein Show Committee, presented the following 4-H youth Onwer-Breeder awards:

R. Joseph Field, R1, Saegertown, who received 4th place with his Junior Calf at the 4-H Roundup.

Dale Buchanan, R1, Carlton, who received 4th place with his Intermediate calf of the 4-H Roundup.

Mike Mitchell, R2, Saegertown, received two trophies; one for 3rd and the other for 5th place with his twin Junior 2-year-old heifers at the 4-H Roundup.

Robert Manuel, R4, Cochranton, placed 2nd with his 3-year-old cow at the 4-H Roundup.

The Owner-Breeder award is to honor the 4-H'er that placed within the first five placings with the Holstein project animal they have owned and bred.

The other main event of the evening was the election of three directors of the Crawford County Holstein Club to serve for a 3 year term. Those elected were Don Closky, Cambridge Springs; Dan Dickey, Espyville; and Dallas Rynd, Cochranton.

Crawford County Dairy Princess Kathy Worley spoke on her many activities she has performed since being elected at the Farm-City Day in June.

Marion Alsdorf, Spartansburg, Pennsylvania Holstein Assocation President and Douglas Hershey, Director of Membership of the State Association, both spoke on activities of the state organization and plans for the future.

The group recognized Howard Caldwell for his two terms as County President and the fine job he has done.

Pa. 4-H Dairy Bowl team places third at NAILE

BY JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Pennsylvania's 4-H dairy bowl team earned third place at the 1983 North American 4-H Dairy Quiz Bowl competition, held last weekend during the North American International Livestock Exposition.

Members of the York County team, which won the state 4-H dairy bowl team title in August, are David Krone, Peggy Klinedinst, Patty Bupp and Lesley King.

Team captain is David Krone, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Krone, Glen Rock. He is a freshman at the main campus of Penn State, majoring in dairy production. Peggy Klinedinst, 17, is the daughter of Sandy Klinedinst, Hellam, and an advanced freshman at Penn State York campus, majoring in dairy production. Patty Bupp, 15, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Bupp, Seven Valleys, and a sophomore at Dallastown Area High School. Lesley King, 15, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul King, and a sophomore at the Harford Christian School.

Fifteen teams took part in the day-long national contest, held at the sprawling livestock and exhibit complex of the Kentucky Exposition Center in Louisville. First place honors went to the Minnesota team, with the New York team taking the runner-up spot.

Dairy quiz bowl competition is broken into three phases, a written quiz, a series of team questions and "tossup" phase, in which members vie to be first to activate a buzzer and earn their team points with correct answers to questions.

Quiz bowl questions cover all facets of the dairy industry, including feeds and feeding, milk quality, herd health, udder health, breeding and genetics, marketing, dairy foods, and calf raising. Suggested reference for studies is the Hoard's Dairyman magazine issues from January through October of the contest year.

Entrants may or may not own dairy cattle, and may not have completed or audited a dairy or animal science college course prior to the fall term of the competition year.

Coaches for the Pennsylvania team were York dairy extension agent Shannon Neumann, John Krone, Jr., Kathy King and Joyce Bupp.

Bradford Holstein Assn. elects directors

BY JANE BRESEE

ULSTER — Nearly 100 members and friends of the Bradford County Holstein Association gathered Nov. 2 at the Ulster Fire Hall for their annual dinner meeting.

Following entertainment by an old-time fiddler, Guy Munn of Sayre, Robert Whipple, president, chaired the meeting.

Three directors were elected for a three-year term: Duane Wilcox, Archie Williams, and William Brown. They will be seated with the existing board, George Page, Jr., Leigh Sturdevant, Lynn Miller, James Howard, Ben Jackson, and Robert Whipple.

Bradford County Dairy Princess, Anita Wrisley, was introduced and spoke briefly on the importance of calcium found in milk.

Douglas Hershey, representative from the state Holstein Association, and State Director from Bradford County, John Macafee, reported on state club activities.

Tour director, Lynn Miller, reported that the summer tour for 1984 is planned for July 10 to 13 to visit 12 farms in the New England area. Only one bus will be going so reservations will be limited. A spring tour is scheduled for the Harrisburg area the first week of April.

David Moon, president of the Sulbra Breeders, thanked the club members for their help in the fall Salebration sale held in Troy.

Keith Thompson, son of members Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson of Rummerfield, presented a program about his trip to Brazil for several weeks earlier this year. Keith was chosen from the Northeast Rotary District to be part of the International Direct Study Program. He illustrated his talk with slide pictures of the many places he visited. A group from Brazil will visit the Northeast next year, Keith stated.

The Bradford County Holstein Association claims to be the second largest in the state with a membership of 290 members.

lowest somatic cell count was James Martin, with a 12 month average SCC of 112,000. The county average SCC was 328,000 for the year for the 9,298 cows on test. Second lowest SCC count was achieved by Kenneth Mase, with a 12 month average SCC of 118,000.

State DHIA director, Harold Bollinger presented ribbons for protein and fat production.

The following herds were recognized for producing over 600 pounds of protein: 1. Willow Maple Farm, 697 pounds; 2. Elvin Martin, 651 pounds; 3. David Zimmerman, 643 pounds; 4. Roy Nolt, 624 pounds; 5. Gary Lentz, 622 pounds; 6. Marlin High, 619 pounds; 7. Donald Hoffer, 613 pounds; 8. Mark Bomberger and Son, 610 pounds; 9. Conewago View Farms, 605 pounds; 10. Roy Weaver, 604 pounds; 11. Irvin Brubaker, 600 pounds; 11. Hoover Farms, 600 pounds.

Milkfat ribbons were awarded to the following herds over 700 pounds: 1. Willow Maple Farm, 788 pounds; 2. Dale Hostetter, 723 pounds; 3. Raymond and Marlin Getz, 715 pounds; and 4. Roy Nolt, 701 pounds.

Gary Lentz, Dale Hoover, and David Brandt were re-elected to serve as directors for the Lebanon County DHIA.

Lebanon County Extension Director, Alletta Schadler, announced that the dairy and livestock position will soon be filled. That position has been vacant since the retirement of Newton Bair earlier this year because of a hiring freeze.

"The position was officially opened on October 14," said Schadler. "The closing date for applications is November 15. A search committee, including two laymen, will interview and select between the top three to five applicants on December 6. If all goes as planned, we could have some on board by February 1, 1984."

John Kline, DHIA fieldman for eastern Pennsylvania, told members that the DHIA processing center has a new computer that is now in operation and is being programmed. By November 20 it will be storing data, a new capability.

"By March you will see a decrease in turn-around time for receving your reports," said Kline.

"With hard economic times ahead for dairymen, we are hearing rumors that from 5 - 20 percent of dairymen may drop out of the business," Kline continued. "The key factor to success will be management. This winter in the evenings, pull out your DHIA records and review them. Base your management decisions on solid evidence. And continue to work toward decreased somatic cell count, and increase rolling herd averages."

Hershey Bare, president of Lebanon DHIA, presided over the meeting and introduced the entertainment. Members were entertained by a slide and music show, "America the Beautiful" by Glenn Eshleman.

Mark and Orpha Bomberger were honored for the herd with the highest increase in rolling herd average. The herd, owned by Mark and Richard Bomberger, increased their RHA by 2,165 pounds of milk.

Harold and Donald Bollinger, received trophies and recognition for their Willow Maple herd of 44 register Holsteins. The herd placed first in overall production, protein and fat.

Avian funding

no-interest loans through the Farmers Home Administration.

The former would require a resolution passed in either the State House or Senate and approval by the Governor and could make out-right grants available to poultry farmers. The latter would require assistance from the federal government for the FmHA funds.

Recently, the State Senate passed a resolution requesting $5 million in the Emergency Management funds to be made available to drought-stricken farmers, which has not been endorsed by the Administration.

Concerning additional funds over and above the federal indemnity for depopulation, the Pa. State Grange has gone on record as favoring retroactive payment for losses before Wednesday's Extraordinary Emergency Declaration by the federal government and income reimbursements.

The quarantine area established by the state and federal government to check the spread of the disease includes some 1500 square miles in Lancaster, Dauphin, Lebanon and Berks counties.

Permits are needed for the transportation of poultry products out of the quarantine area.

The ban on the sale of live birds at auctions, as well as poultry shows and exhibitions, continues.

In all, the Avian has affected more than 100 flocks that include up to six million birds. Nine of these flocks have been confirmed as highly pathogenic and subject to depopulation, but this number could climb to 20 or 30.

Officials have stressed that it is just as important for small backyard flock owners to contact the Task Force as the large commercial poultry operators. The disease can remain and be spread just as easily by small backyard poultry flocks as the larger.

The USDA Task Force that will be involved in the depopulation and related efforts now has reached some 65 personnel.

When depopulation begins, appraisers will determine the value of birds to be killed, along with any eggs and feed to be destroyed. Other efforts include manure removal and disposal, washdown of the houses and disinfecting.

The progress of the depopulation will depend on the speed of determining those birds with the highly pathogenic strain.

While most Avian activity has been concentrated in Pennsylvania, particularly Lancaster County, neighboring states have been taking some action.

Maryland officials moved quickly to destroy two small flocks with the disease. And a temporary ban on poultry auction sales has been put into effect in that state.

On the Eastern Shore, routine visits by servicemen and others to poultry houses have been curtailed as much as possible and visitors are using disposable clothing and boots.

The Extreme Emergency Declaration was issued by the USDA due to the possible rapid movement of the disease and the proximity of the quarantine area to the Eastern Shore poultry center.

In addition, the Avian has long-term national implications in the poultry industry, particularly concerning exports.

Computer Controlled Dairy Feeding System

- Feeding Savings more dollars over feed cost
- Improve Herd Health
- Simple Installation
- Program Each Cow to receive the amounts of feed as compared to production
- Easy To Operate

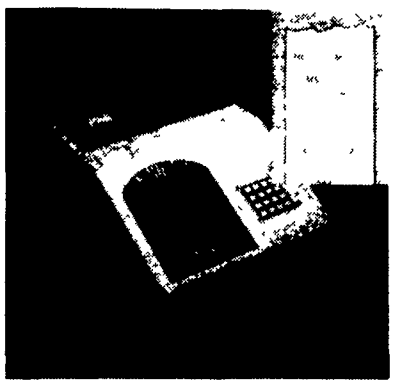
Efficient feeding = Higher PROFITS



Group feeding is costly and inefficient. To maximize your profits, you've got to supply each cow with the exact amount of feed she needs to maintain her milk production level. The computerized Selective Feeder Executive 8085 System lets you do just that. It's so effective, most dairymen find the system pays for itself in reduced feed bills and increased production in less than a year!

It's simple

You determine a daily feeding allowance for each cow by programming the computer to dispense a certain amount of feed during each 6, 8 or 12 hour cycle. You choose a unique ration for each animal by mixing supplement and base rations with the computer.

- Each cow wears an inexpensive, reliable identification tag.
- Cows can feed at any feeding station.
- Feeding auger automatically stops when cow steps away.
- Each cow receives only the amount of feed you have programmed for it.

Money-saving management tool

You can get a printout from the Executive 8085 at any time. Each printout gives you the valuable feed management information:

- Amount of feed programmed for each cow
- Amount of feed dispensed to each cow, this cycle
- Amount of feed dispensed to each cow, this month
- Summary of previous cycle.

You can quickly spot problem cows by asking the computer to print out all cows not eating 75% of their programmed ration.

Total herd management system

For a total dairy management system, connect your Selective Feeder System with our Zenith Farm Management System. Readouts are available in your office on the Zenith computer. Optional software programs allow you to integrate health, breeding, production and feeding management programs in one computer system.

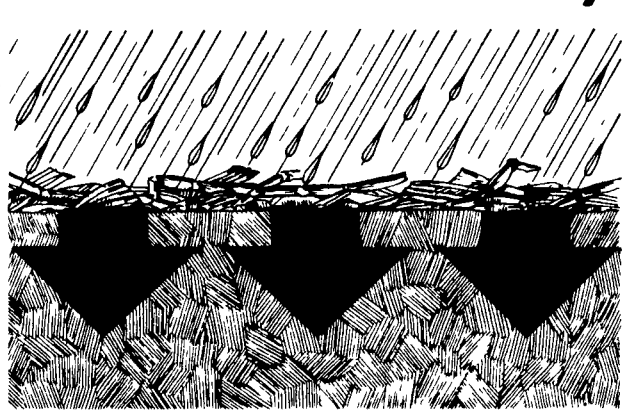
Three reasons why Bicep gives better control than most tank mixes.

Low volatility

Sure, most tank mixes do a pretty good job on weeds and grasses in corn. But what if you could get even better control with just a single product? With Bicep,® you can.

Bicep is different. It's the double-duty herbicide that gets both weeds and grasses all by itself. In fact, Bicep actually outperforms most tank mixes. One reason why is that Bicep is low in volatility.

Volatile herbicides escape into the air soon after application. They become ineffective. But not Bicep. Put it down and it stays put for season-long control—even in cool, wet weather.



Bicep goes into the soil, not into the air

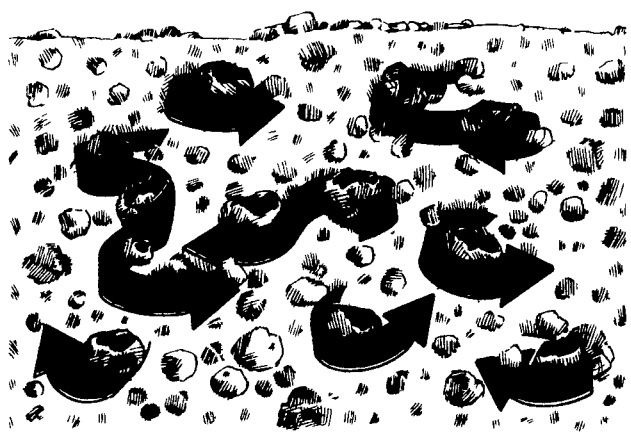
Low volatility is just the beginning of what makes Bicep better. Keep it in mind if you're up against tough weeds like cocklebur, pigweed, ragweed or black nightshade. Or late germinating grasses like foxtail, panicum or crabgrass.

Solubility

Bicep is more soluble than most tank-mix combinations.

Solubility is the ability of a herbicide to dissolve in water and become available for weed and grass uptake. The extra solubility of Bicep really helps. Because of it, Bicep is easily carried by water into the weed and grass germinating zone of the soil. And once it's there, Bicep is better dispersed. So it does a better job.

Greater solubility also makes Bicep readily available in the soil to be absorbed by the roots and shoots of weed seedlings that compete with corn. And it's part of the reason Bicep is so effective in reduced tillage fields. A light rainfall is all it takes to wash Bicep off surface trash and into the soil where it will go right to work.



Bicep stays available and active in the soil solution

Yet, for all its solubility, Bicep doesn't leach out significantly. It will give you the control you need right through harvest, even in a rainy growing season.

Excellent adsorption

Adsorption is the adhesive quality of a herbicide—how tightly or loosely it clings to soil particles. A herbicide that is too adsorptive becomes tied up by the soil—it becomes inactive. A herbicide that is not adsorptive enough leaches out excessively.

But with Bicep, adsorption is excellent, which helps explain why Bicep has staying power. Bicep stays active in the germinating zone right through harvest. Yet there are no carryover problems with Bicep, so you can rotate to soybeans.

Bicep stays active in the germinating zone of weeds and grasses

Low volatility. Greater solubility. Excellent adsorption. These are just some of the properties that help make Bicep better than most tank mixes. Your dealer can tell you about other Bicep advantages. Talk to him soon.

Nitrate meeting on Tuesday

TERRE HILL — The Eastern Lancaster county Adult Farmer Program will present an educational program on Nitrates and Water Quality on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., at the Union Grove Alternative School.

Topics to be presented will include the extent and magnitude of the water quality problem in Eastern Lancaster County, the effects on livestock and human health, and methods of treatment of water quality problems. The speakers will include Jim Gerhart, hydrologist from the U.S. Geologic Service; Karen Mancl, Extension Water Quality Engineer; George Zimmerman, veterinarian; and J. Albrecht, medical doctor.

A recent U.S. Geologic Survey report showed excess nitrates in 60% of the test wells in the Upper Conestoga watershed. Levels are 5-10 times higher in this area than the average for the Susquehanna River Basin. Some wells have tested four times higher than the 10 PPM recommended safe level for drinking water. This problem has an impact on the human and livestock health of the area as well as extending to the Chesapeake Bay where several states have become concerned with the ecological future of the Bay.

The meeting is open to all interested persons. The Alternative School is located near Terre Hill on route 625, 2 miles north of route 23. For additional information contact Robert Anderson or Donald Robinson at 445-5041.

Veal seminar on Wednesday

HARRISBURG — Two Pennsylvania Veal growers, Wayne Marcho and Walter Newton, are featured speakers at the Northeast Regional Veal Seminar, Wednesday at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y. The one-day conference is set to address marketing and drug residue advances in the veal industry.

Wayne Marcho, a veal grower, of Harleysville, Montgomery County, who is Director of the American Veal Association, is slated to explain "A Vertically Integrated Veal Operation." Marcho raises approximately 3,600 calves through his fully integrated operation each year. He is also presenting an up-date on state and national veal check-off programs.

Walter Newton, of New Albany, Bradford County, is a panel member to discuss "The Packers Outlook on Veal Marketing...their standards and requirements", along with General Manager of Provimi, Inc. and Chief Executive Officer of Berliner and Marx. Newton, President of Formula 1, operates a large purchasing, contracting, growing, and slaughtering operation for veal.

Other conference topics include: "Overview of the Veal Market"; "The Changing Image of Veal"; "How to Raise a Calf Safely Today"; "Efficacies and Drug Product Resistance of Currently Cleared Drugs"; "Cooperating with Your Veterinarian"; and open forums to answer individual grower's questions.

Waste management tour scheduled

LEESPORT — The Soil Conservation Service and the Cooperative Extension Service of Berks County will sponsor an agriculture waste management tour from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Nov. 16.

The purpose of the tour is on site observation and appraisal of various manure handling systems with emphasis on manure handling equipment. The tour will begin at the Lawrence Keifer farm, Bethel R1179. From there, the group will travel to the Elmer Bross farm, Bethel R1029, and from there to Mor-Dale Farms, Myerstown R1.

The Donald Landis farm, Myerstown R1, is next on the list, followed by Fred and Ray Bohn's farm, Myerstown R1. Robert Graves, PSU Extension engineer, and Sandra Dykstra, S.C.S. engineer, will be at each farm to discuss engineering considerations, costs, fertilizer values and equipment considerations.

For more information, contact the Cooperative Extension Ofifce at (215) 378-1327 or the Soil Conservation Service at (215) 372-4655.

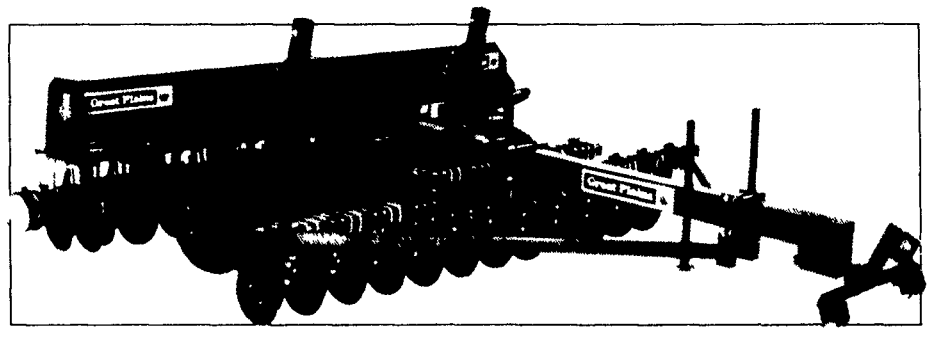
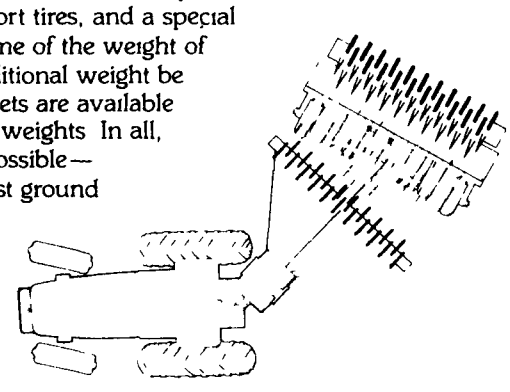
SEE THE Great Plains DRILL
Seeding Wheat In Corn Stalks



Only Great Plains has a No-Till Drill that gives you unmatched penetration, accuracy, and versatility.

Here's why
A unique pivot between the coulter unit and the drill allows each disk opener to track exactly in the slot cut by the coulter in front—even while the unit is rounding a curve

Excellent penetration is also achieved, thanks to a heavy-duty framework, calcium-fillable transport tires, and a special weight transfer design which applies some of the weight of the drill itself to the coulters Should additional weight be needed, specially designed weight brackets are available which accept most tractor suitcase-style weights In all, up to 400 lbs of weight per coulter is possible—ensuring penetration even in the toughest ground



Finally, all Combination Drill Hitches feature a quick hitch for attaching easily to 3-point drills So you have the flexibility to no-till some acreage, then switch back to a conventional seeding method as conditions vary

"WE WILL SAVE $6,000 TO $7,000 IN FERTILIZER COSTS THIS YEAR AND PROBABLY EVEN MORE NEXT YEAR WITH OUR SLURRYSTORE® SYSTEM!"

Matthew Degler
MATMAR FARMS
Leesport, PA

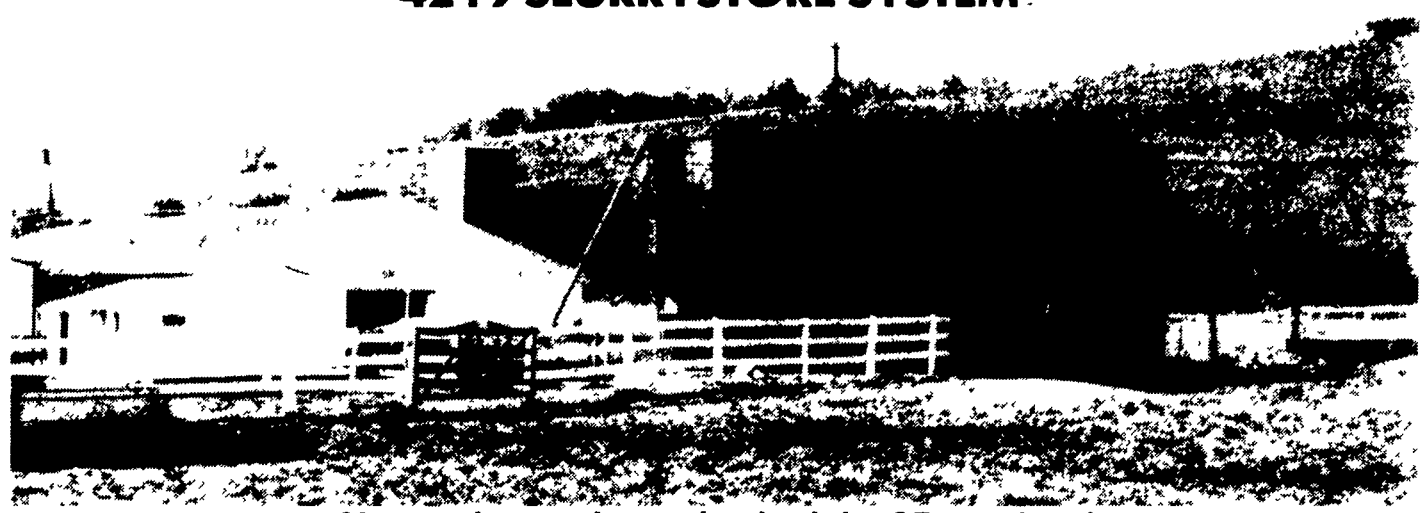
"It's amazing what this SLURRYSTORE manure does to the crops. It's unbelievable! When we bought our farm it was shale ground and some limestone. We had a hard time getting it started."

Matthew continues, "We're presently using just 200 lbs. of fertilizer/acre and the slurry manure. I think the time will come when we won't need any fertilizer!

"When you farm for 50 years and you see crops grow like this with little fertilizer, you get all excited! I just can't believe my own eyes when I look at it!"

Son Tom & Matthew

4219 SLURRYSTORE SYSTEM



Chopped straw is used to bed the 85-cow herd.

"I really like the labor savings with the SLURRYSTORE System... we spend very little time handling manure. It used to take one hour every day to clean the barn and haul manure. In winter, at 3° below zero, that's not nice. Now we run it in the SLURRYSTORE tank and go into the warm house! I just can't believe the difference with slurry manure", says Matthew.

Tom relates, "We considered the SLURRYSTORE System for three years. We hesitated because of the cost when we first looked. We went to see other farms who had SLURRYSTORE Systems and it was working for them! We could see the savings on fertilizer would cover payments. We then leased our SLURRYSTORE System.

'City Turned Country' Describes New President

By Sally Bair
Staff Correspondent

LANCASTER — When Joan Hershey talks about rural life and its benefits, she speaks with a firm conviction. Her conviction is one that has been acquired, however, since she is a city gal turned country when she married her husband Harry Jr., 25 years ago.

From growing up in the city, Joan has become an ardent supporter of rural life and ideals and on Saturday took over the helm of the Lancaster County Society of Farm Women. As county president, Joan will lead the 34 societies and nearly 1,000 women who are members.

She looks at the upcoming two year stint as president as "a challenge," adding, "It is a great opportunity to meet a lot of wonderful people. Everybody is very gracious."

Visiting all the societies is something Joan is eager for, adding, "I look forward to seeing how others have shared their lives." Joan is a charter member of Society 26, which was formed in 1966, and quickly acquired a waiting list of members, some of whom eventually formed Society 27.

"It will be a challenge to keep the rich heritage alive not only by adding more Farm Women, but by keeping rural life and all that it means alive and well," Joan states. "With so many non-farm members it puts more responsibility on us to maintain our support of the value of rural life."

While fewer and fewer members actually live on farms, Joan is one of those who do. She and her husband live on a poultry and beef farm near Mount Joy that was once part of the Simon Cameron estates. Every morning Joan can be found collecting eggs from their 64,000 layers, a job that takes about three hours.

Despite the lower number of actual farm women, Joan says, "We share a common bond, not just in farming alone but also in our concern for our home and for our community. A lot of caring for others takes place in the societies."

Joan points out that the motto for Farm Women is "For happiness," and she feels the societies meet this motto by giving both time and money to others. In the past year alone, over $10,000 was given to charities by the 34 societies.

Joan adds, "In some sense this is not an organization which supports the women's movement, but we undergird and support each other within the society. We touch people's lives in small ways by doing small things. There is a strong bond of friendships in the groups."

The new county president even suggest that the societies could become "support groups" to help keep the family farm going. She is concerned about the state of the agricultural economy and puts the blame on the fact that the farmer cannot name a price for anything.

"Nobody else functions that way," Joan notes.

Another concern for Joan is the future of societies in which members are increasing in age without taking in younger members. "Those women are dedicated and set a beautiful example for us," she notes.

"Have car will travel," will become her motto, Joan jokingly says as she plans to visit each of the societies during the coming two years. As president, she will also preside over bi-monthly meetings of the County Board and will attend three meetings of the State group each year. She has been "in training" for the position by serving first as second vice-president and then as first vice-president. Joan notes, "It's really a seven year commitment."

She will also be planning the local celebration of Farm Women Day, which Governor Dick Thornburgh declared as a way of recognizing the over 4,000 members of Farm Women societies throughout the state. "It has to gain momentum," she says, adding that this was just the second year for the commemoration.

She cited the wide variety of educational programs as one of the bonuses of belonging to Farm Women, and added, "Each society has a safety program each year. There is more and more reason for these programs because we must emphasize safety on the farm."

She says she thinks the programs should be well rounded. "We have to have a balance. They should not just be fun and not just be work. They are definitely interested in doing more creative things.

Joan grew up in the Lancaster Church of the Brethren and she and her husband are now active members of the Florin Church of the Brethren. "We are lifetime deacons," she notes. She is also a teacher of an adult Sunday School class, sings in the choir, serves as church board chairman and is assistant moderator.

In addition, Joan is involved in the Atlantic Northeast District on the church extension task committee which helps in starting new fellowships. On the Brotherhood Level, which includes all of the United States and Puerto Rico, she serves in new church development work.

Expressing her opionion that there is a real need for evangelism within her denomination, Joan says they have established a goal

(Turn to Page B4)

Joan enjoys working in the kitchen of her farm home near Mount Joy. She likes to try out new recipes, and often finds a use for her food processor which helps make short work of the chopping and slicing.

A work area in her kitchen helps Joan in organizing the many details she looks after in the course of her day. She is working here on the report which she presented to the County Convention on Saturday.

Come walk with me down memory lane
Filled with laughter, tears and pain
For the greatest surprise of my life
Was the day I became a farmer's wife.

Now a city gal rarely smells county air
And the manure was all she could bear.
Not to mention learning to drive a truck
With gears to shift - if that wasn't luck!

I soon learned the problems I'd face
Trying to keep my schedule in pace
I remembered my dear aunt's words to me
Be adaptable to change and happy you'll be.

My husband could hardly understand
Why I couldn't back a wagon as planned
And surely those directions he was clearly shouting
Could be heard o'er the tractor's noise without pouting.

Well, the years have quickly come and passed
With memories that will always last
Now I know why people did ask
If I knew of all a farm wife's tasks?

I have been richly blest - far above measure
For life on the farm has brought much pleasure
But more than these in faith I have grown
As all of God's beauty to me has been shown.

S. Joan Hershey

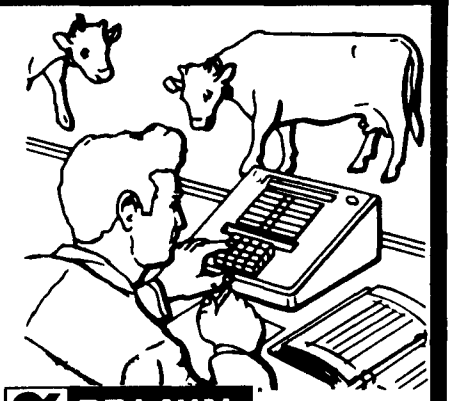
INTRODUCING THE NEW DE LAVAL FLO-MASTER™ MILK METER

The Flo-Master Milk Meter is an in-line, milk metering system designed for use in milking parlors.

The meter body, attached at each stall, receives and measures the individual milk yield of the cow as she is milked. This milk yield is then displayed on an LED digital display on the accompanying stall unit which controls the meter body.

Ration Master™ Feeding System



DE LAVAL

DeLaval technology enables you to place the dairy herd's grain feeding program under computer control. With the RationMaster Feeding System, each cow gets only the concentrate needed for optimum milk production. Components include neck-worn transponders... single-stall feeding stations where grain is dispensed automatically... and a Computer Command Center where a micro-processor stores and retrieves data on individual animals.

Reduced labor, more milk, less wasted feed, healthier cows, and shortened calving intervals are typical benefits. Let us explain more about the RationMaster Feeding System — Module One of the advanced DeLaval® Herd-Master™ Management System.

New President

of starting 40 new churches in the 1980's, 15 of them by 1984. She proudly says that 17 are already organized, one third of them with ethnic groups.

Since it is obvious that Joan has lots of things to do, the question comes up about how she accomplishes everything.

"I try to keep a list of jobs to be done each day," she says. Organization is a lot of it. I try to be organized in the work that needs to be done. I also put in long days, but try to take a day at a time so as not to be overwhelmed. If you work at it, it falls into place."

She adds with her ready laugh, "We joke about my lists. It does give me a sense of satisfaction, but I try not to let it rule me. You can't always follow the list: I've grown in that." She admits that it is a lot easier to be organized with the children grown. Her son and daughter are both married and living close by.

For relaxation, Joan enjoys writing poetry, and a sample of one of her early works on her feelings about being a farm wife is included here. She began writing through an experience of being ill, after which she was asked to write a tribut to her husband's brother-in-law upon his death. She feels now that her sickness at that time was "a time of being called aside in quietness from my busy schedule."

Joan adds, "Writing poetry is a source of enjoyment for me. I pray before I write. I have always liked poetry and I would like to write a book. I would just write some thoughts and something creative."

She adds that she doesn't have a special time for writing, and usually finds herself doing it for special occasions. "I just write some thoughts."

Other pleasures for Joan include reading and singing in the church choir. "I do crafts and I really like to try new recipes," she says. Her farm home is also graced with some antique pieces that she refinished.

Reflecting on her move to the farm as a bride, Joan says, "It took a lot of adjustment. The quietness and the darkness were hard." She credits her mother-in-law with helping her make the adjustment and says with pride, "I needed to learn about farming, but I really enjoy seeing God's handiwork. It is a tremendous life and I have a deep appreciation for all involved in farming. It seems to have always been a part of my life."

As she embarks on her career as county president, Joan is sure to feel that Farm Women is a very large part of her life, and a part that is very important not just to her but to the members throughout the County.

This fall has allowed beautiful flowers to bring pleasure, and Joan has enjoyed these chrysanthemums planted around the patio behind her farm home.

Flash Back is Theme for 4-H Night

HONESDALE — FLASH BACK '83 is the theme for 4-H Achievement Night which will be held Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room at the Presbyterian Church in Honesdale.

Awards in many areas of individual 4-H achievements will be given. The award for the outstanding Home Economics Club will be presented by a representative of the Women's Club, that of the outstanding Agricultural Club by the Chamber of Commerce and the Community Club Award by Dale Teeple, representative of the Wayne County Extension Executive Committee.

The Wayne County Commissioners, Bob Carmody, Don Olsommer, and Earl Simons, wil highlight the evening with the presentation of the awards for the Outstanding Girl and the Outstanding Boy.

In conclusion of the ceremony, the Isabel Loesch Scholarship will be awarded to a 4-H'er attending college. The recipient will receive $250.

"Flash Back" was planned by Debbie Barrett, Barbara Jarrow and Marlenee Yedinak, Hollisterville; Gladys Jamieson, Rileyville; Judy Muller, Cold Springs; Mary Jane Eroh, Pleasant Mount; Geri Hughes, Waymart; and Maggie Savitz, Lake Ariel. All are 4-H leaders.

Members from the 4-H County Council present were Steve Burlein, Clarks Corner; Randy Campbell, Bethany; and kelly Savitz, Lake Ariel.

For more information on Achievement Night or forming your own 4-H club call the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service at 253-5970, ext. 114.

Fagley Wins Sectional 4-H Award

NORRISTOWN — Debbie Fagley is the northeast United States sectional contest winner of the 4-H clothing award. She receives a paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, November 27 through December 1.

Debbie is now competing for the national clothing award and one of six $1,000 scholarships. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fagley, 720 Linden Drive, Trappe, Debbie has participated in 4-H Leadership Congress, State Achievement Days and Capital Days.

She is also an active 4-H Teen Leader in the Trappe 4-H Club and the Montgomery County 4-H summer clubs in Lansdale. In addition, she was named Montgomery County's Outstanding 4-H Girl for 1983.

Plan Now for Your Thanksgiving Feast

It's hard to believe, but the time to start planning that Thanksgiving feast is here.

It seems as though turkey, filling and gravy are pretty standard, but families often have their own traditional dishes too. If you plan to introduce a new dish to this year's family dinner, try one of these recipes sent to us by local families.

MEATBALLS WITH SYRUP

2 pounds ground beef
2 pounds ground pork
2 pounds ground ham
salt, pepper, onion, as desired
1/3 pound graham crackers, crushed
3 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups milk

Mix and make into patties. If too wet, add more crumbs.

Syrup
1 4 oz. can crushed pineapples
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon vinegar
1/2 cup water

Bring to a boil and pour over meatballs and bake 3/4 hours at 350 degrees.

Janet Musser

YAM PUFF

4 cups cooked or canned yams or sweet potatoes
1/4 cup butter, melted
1/2 cup light cream
4 eggs, separated
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Regardless of what your other Thanksgiving favorites are, almost everyone has turkey, stuffed with filling. If you are looing for a new filling this year, try Betty Biehl's bread filling.

1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
4 egg whites

Mash yams with melted butter in a large bowl. Beat in cream, egg yolks, salt, pepper and cinnamon. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry, and fold into yam mixture. Spoon into a buttered 6-cup souffle dish. Bake 30 minutes in a preheated 325-degree oven or until puffed and golden.

State College

BRUSSELS SPROUTS WITH CHESTNUTS

1 20 oz. can of whole chestnuts
2 pints fresh Brussels sprouts
3 tablespoons butter
1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg
salt and pepper to taste

Drain chestnuts, reserving 1/4 cup of the liquid. Trim off stems of sprouts cutting an X in the base of each one to ensure even cooking. Rinse sprouts and cook, uncovered, in a small amount of boiling salted water for 10 to 12 minutes, or until crisp-tender. Drain. In a large heavy saucepan, heat butter, reserved chestnut liquid and chestnuts until slightly glazed. Add sprouts and seasonings, stirring until glazed.

BREAD FILLING

1 loaf hard crusted stale bread, cubed
1 medium onion
3 tablespoons butter
3 eggs
salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
dash ground allspice
1/4 cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon chopped parsley flakes
milk to moisten bread

Moisten the cubed bread thoroughly with the milk. Brown onion in butter and add to bread with the other ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Brown filling in butter until light and fluffy. Stuff your favorite fowl.

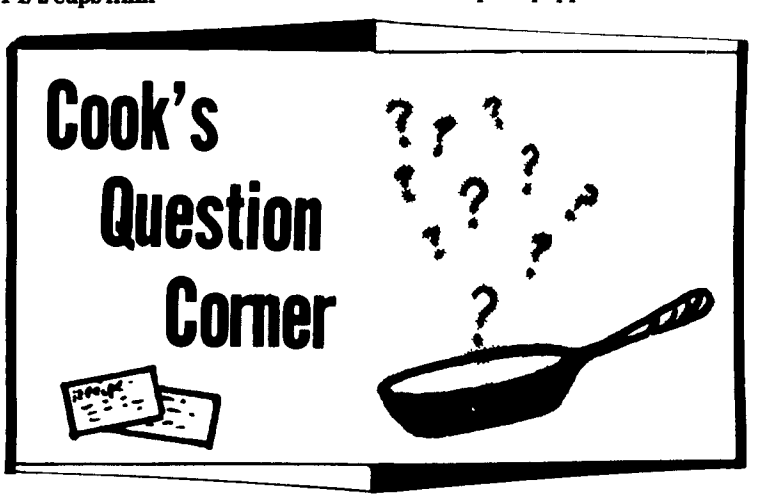
CRANBERRY-APPLE COBBLER

4 cups sliced peeled apples, 4 medium
1 cup raw cranberries
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons tapioca

(Turn to Page B8)



ANSWER - A Dauphin County reader asked for an egg roll recipe, and Betty Jane Mincemoyer, home economics teacher at Mifflinburg Area High School, sent us this entry.

Chinese Egg Rolls

8 ounces boneless pork, diced
1 tablespoon cooking oil
2 cups finely chopped cabbage
½ cup finely chopped mushrooms
¼ cup shredded carrot
¼ cup soy sauce
1 teaspoon cornstarch
12-14 Chinese egg roll wrappers oil for deep-fat frying

In wok or skillet, stir-fry pork in one tablespoon oil until brown, remove from pan. Add vegetables and cook, covered for two to three minutes. Blend together soy sauce and cornstarch; add to vegetable mixture along with pork. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Remove from heat. Fill and roll 12 to 14 egg roll wrappers, setting filled rolls aside, and covering with towel. Fry egg rolls, a few at a time, in deep hot fat, about 365 degrees, until golden brown, about two to three minutes. Drain on paper toweling. Keep warm.

ANSWER - In response to a request for a Friendship cake, Mollie Tressler sent us this recipe.

Friendship Cake

2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
¾ cup chopped English walnuts
2 teaspoons soda
1 tablespoon vanilla
20 oz. can crushed pineapple with juice

Mix only until blended. Do not over mix. Grease 9x13-inch pan and pour in above mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 or 40 minutes.

Friendship Icing

8 oz. cream cheese
1 stick margarine
1 cup 10X sugar
1 tablespoon vanilla
English walnuts, if desired

Mix all ingredients. Spread on cake while still warm, but not hot.

Featured Recipes

This week's featured recipes come from newly installed president of the Lancaster County Farm Women Societies, Joan Hershey. Her recipes will make a nice beginning and a scrumptious end to your holiday meal. Read about Joan in this week's Homestead Notes, and try her recipes for your Thanksgiving dinner.

Cream of Broccoli Soup

2 cups milk
1/3 cup flour
1/2 cup light cream
1 head of broccoli
1 quart chicken broth
4 tablespoons butter
salt to taste

Chop broccoli fine, cook in half of broth and add salt to taste. Make paste with melted butter and flour. Add milk slowly and cook to thicken. Add to broccoli mix along with remaining broth. Simmer to thicken. When serving, add bits of bacon and shredded swiss cheese. Makes three quarts.

Ice Cream

12 medium or 10 large eggs
3 cups sugar

Beat together and add three small cartons of heavy cream, one quart of half and half and three tablespoons of vanilla. Mix. Put in six-quart ice cream freezer and fill with milk to within four inches of the top. Make the ice cream. To make Oreo cookie ice cream, add three cups of crushed Oreo cookies. It will take less milk to fill to within four inches of the top.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Last week I took a day off from the bustle that surrounds this farm. Sometimes the big tank truck will be here to pick up our milk, the gas man will come to fill the underground tank and at the same time a large truck will arrive with sawdust for the cow stalls. Or another time, there are hunters on the front porch asking permission to hunt while I'm trying to make apple pies.

Fall always brings its own jobs. We've been gleaning corn from 35 acres and hauling manure from the storage pit in preparation for planting rye. There are several vegetables still in the ground and lots of lilies and dahlias to dig and store in the cellar. But I left it all behind and took an all day bus trip to New York City with a group from our church.

We visited beautiful Riverside church with a membership of 3000. It is not an old church as the first service was held in 1930. I especially enjoyed taking the elevator to the 20th floor and then climbing the stairs to the tower to see their 74 bell carillon. The largest weighs 20 tons and the smallest 10 pounds. The view of the city from that height was magnificent.

Next we traveled to the Museum of the City of New York. Here we saw an audio-visual show called the "Big Apple" which traced the history of New York City from 1524 to the present. The Museum also contained a toy gallery, costumes, works of early silversmiths and period rooms.

Our last stop was at the former home of Henry Clay Frick where we saw the Frick Collection of famous works of art. The rooms were immense and housed Rembrandt's, Gainsborough's and Jan Van Eyck's paintings among many others. The furniture was exquisite and the large enclosed garden court was a peaceful place to rest, with its fountains, statues and flowers, after all that walking.

Thanksgiving Feast

1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup water
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup all-purpose biscuit mix
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1/4 cup milk

Combine apples, cranberries, sugar, tapioca, salt and water in large saucepan. Let stand for five minutes. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Pour into shallow two-quart baking dish; dot with butter. Combine biscuit mix, two tablespoons sugar, orange rind and milk. Drop from teaspoon onto hot fruit mixture. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve warm with whopped topping, if desired.

CHEESE-LIMA BAKE

4 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1 cup grated American cheese
1/4 cup diced pimiento
1 teaspoon grated onion
1/4 cup ripe olives
3 cups cooked dry lima beans

Make cream sauce by melting butter, blending in flour and salt. Add milk slowly and cook and stir over low heat until mixture thickens. Add cheese and stir until melted. Stir in pimiento, onion, and ripe olives, cut from pits in large pieces. Pour over drained beans in buttered 1 1/2-quart casserole. Bake in 350 degree oven until browned and bubbly or for about 30 to 35 minutes.

Ladies Have You Heard?

By Doris Thomas

Lancaster Extension Home Economist

LOW-FAT ENERGY AND COMPLEX CARBOHYDRATES

Do you avoid the "banished dozen?" These nutritious foods — bread, potatoes, corn, rice, beans and pasta — have the undeserved reputation of being fattening. However, complex carbohydrates (starches) contain only four calories per gram, just like proteins. They provide the glucose necessary for body movement, food utilization, brain functioning and body temperature maintenance. In addition, they make it possible for the body to spare protein for cell growth and tissue repair.

Increasing the amount of complex carbohydrates in your diet doesn't have to mean a jump in caloric intake. However, some caution is required. Starches become high calorie foods when fried in oil, served in rich sauce or topped with butter. Minimizing fatty toppings is the key to keeping calorie count under control. Gram for gram, fats contain twice as many calories as carbohydrates.

Preparing low-fat dishes doesn't meant sacrificing flavor. Layer lasagna noodles with low-fat cottage cheese, cooked spinach, mushroom-tomato sauce and mozzarella. Your family will enjoy eating spinach cooked this way, and a single serving has only 224 calories.

Mix parsley, chives, basil and dill to replace the butter you add to hot noodles. Or combine one tablespoon of mushrooms and one of plain yogurt. This tasty topping saves 90 calories when used in place of one tablespoon of butter.

Americans obtain about 45 percent of their daily caloric intake from carbohydrates, a decrease of 11 percent from 1909. In addition, total starch consumption is down 17 percent, while refined sugar intake has increased five percent. Since consumption of simple carbohydrates provides little nutritional value, the refined sugar calories are empty ones and would be more beneficial if ingested as starches.

PLASTIC MADNESS STRIKES AGAIN

Plastic madness — also known as the credit card spree — is a seasonal disease. The symptoms include unplanned, last minute, panic Christmas buying. If you suffered from plastic madness last year, you remember how much it hurt after the season was long gone.

You can avoid the after pains of coping with a shattered budget if you and your family exercise a little caution and follow these tips for restraint.

Always begin shopping with a list. Even if you have made your list and checked it twice, there is nearly always someone to add at the last minute or a simply splendid gift that catches your eye. Don't just whip out your credit card and buy. Add the gift and the name to your list. Then add the price to your running total of holiday purchases, and give yourself a day or two to reconsider. Using a credit card is not a way to increase the amount of money you have to spend. Credit is only a way to defer your bills.

Keep checking your total as you buy gifts. Keep an additional list of everything you buy on credit so you will have a clear idea of your credit obligations in coming months as you buy your gifts. If you find your credit purchases reaching 20 percent of your monthly take home pay, STOP. Fixed expenses in the winter months are already high for most families and additional credit payments may be more than your budget can manage.

Don't think of holiday giving as a time to make amends, make an impression, or generally make a show of what you can do. Holiday time is a time to think of others. So, keep your gifts simple and let your thoughtfulness shine through. For instance, last minute stocking stuffers don't need to be expensive treasures. Make them gifts that matter. Something you've made yourself or coupons good for tasks at home. Services such as shoveling snow, baby sitting, floor polishing, window washing, or even grocery shopping are always welcome gifts.

Ad you buy, ask yourself if your friend or family member would want you to go into debt just to buy their Christmas present? Would you want your friend or relation to go into debt for you? Wouldn't you prefer a hug, a note of affection, or a simple homemade gift? Follow your judgement, not your impulse to buy.

DELCO Home Economists

MEDIA — Maryette Dorricott and Greta Vairo, of Delaware County, joined more than 1,400 home economists for the annual meeting of the National Association of Extension Home Economists (NAEHE) participating in professional and personal development. They met at the Atlanta Westin Peachtree Plaza Hotel, Oct. 24-27.

Working under the theme, "Traditions, Transitions and Tomorrow," the group spent the week hearing speakers, contributing to committee meetings and workshops and applauding national award winners. Home economists from throughout the country presented workshops and exchanged ideas on such topics as strengthening the Extension partnership, changes influencing the consumer, coping with unemployment, electronic technology, adolescent pregnancy, urban programming and many more.

The program also featured special presentations, including Distinguished Service Awards, communications awards, fellowships and installation of national officers.

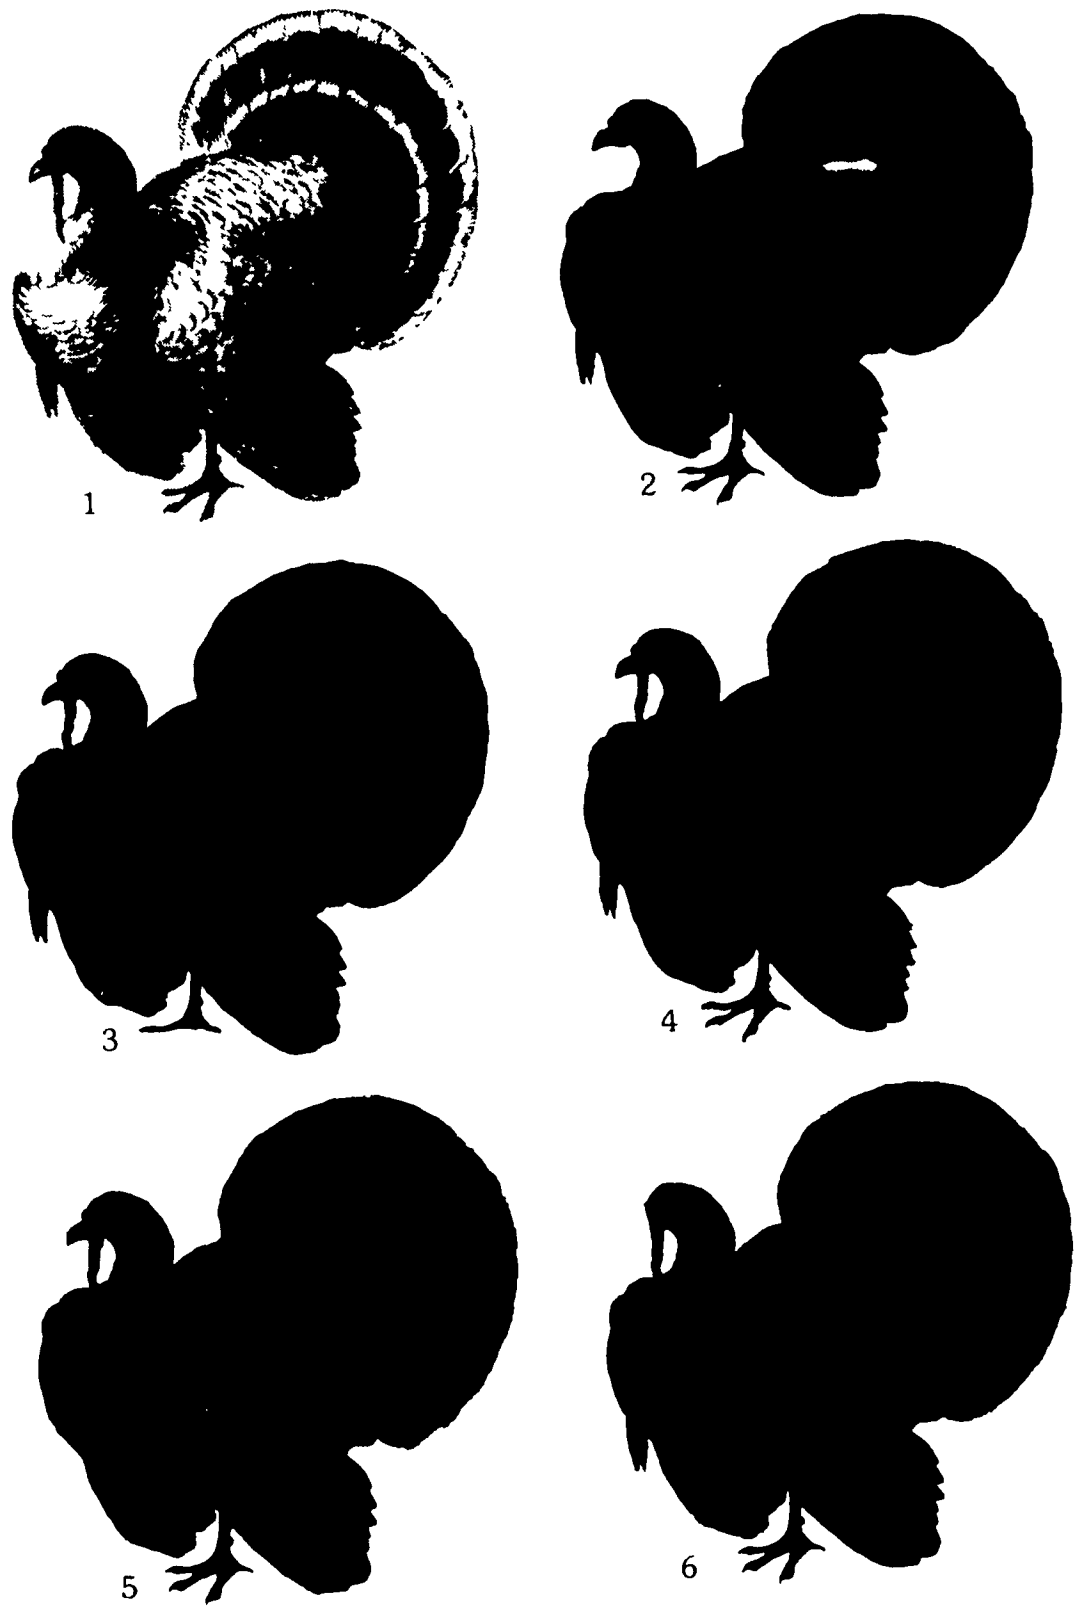
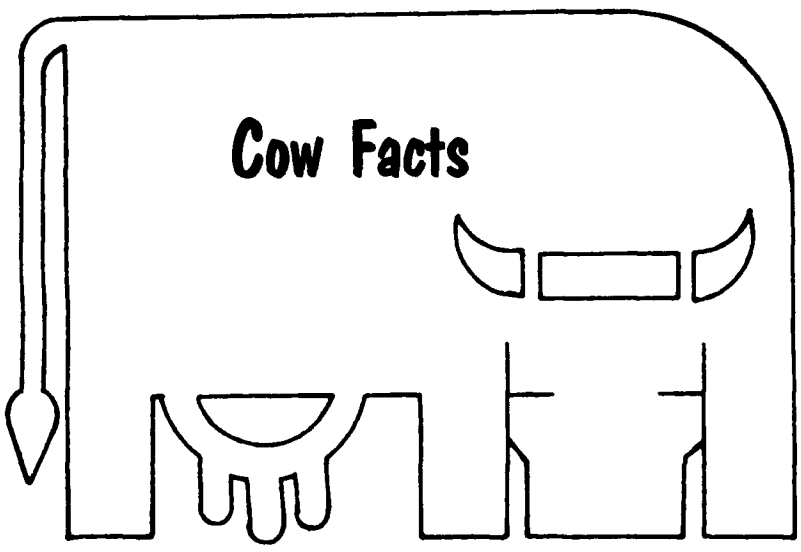
This poor turkey has lost his shadow. Help him out by finding the shadow that exactly matches the turkey.



Answer: Number 4.

Cow Facts



Here are three facts about cows. Try stumping your friends with them. But first, see if you can guess the right answers.

Which state in the United States produces the most milk each year? Hint: It's not Alaska.

(Wisconsin is the winner. But if you said: "States don't produce milk, cows do," give yourself a gold star.)

A cow in Indiana set a record in 1975. She gave more milk in one day than any other cow ever has. How many quarts of milk did she produce?

(If you said around 100 quarts, that's close enough. Actually, it was 193½ pounds of milk. A quart weighs about 2.1 pounds. The average for a really good cow is 65 pounds — about 30 quarts. Imagine how tired that prize-winning cow must have been after her record-producing day!)

How many glasses of milk does the average cow produce in a day?

Seeding, Weeding and mulch more

For the avid gardener

All winter-injured wood should be cut to the nearest live leaf bud, remove weak branches and possibly some old stems.

It is also a good idea to protect bushes with mulches around the base of the plant. Any course material - oak leaves, corn stalks from the garden, the killed tops of annual and perennial flowers, straw, mushroom soil, fresh additions from atop the compost pile, weathered manures or whatever else becomes available from that final garden cleanup. Mulch also helps counter the freeze-thaw cycle that can damage roots.

To protect climbers against wind whip, according to Lueck, to secure them by tying them to the trellis, fence or arbor. Long canes should be cut back to a reasonable length; not allowed to wave in the breeze.

4-H'er Earns Horticulture Award

MYERSTOWN — Ann Grumbine, Myerstown R.D.2, earned a national award at the National Junior Horticulture Association Convention held Oct. 28-31 in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Ann was named a blue ribbon winner and one of four national award winners in the "Artistic Arrangement" demonstration category.

In 1982, Ann was named state horticulture demonstration winner for the same presentation.

Ann, 15, is a daughter of Ray and Martha Grumbine. She is a student at Elco High School.

Her 4-H activities include Board of Directors, Teen Council, camp counselor, State 4-H Days, teen leadership, and the Lebanon Area Fair. She is a member of the Avon-East Lebanon 4-H Club.

Prepare Roses for the Winter

Last week, Lancaster County Extension Agent Arnold Lueck, explained ways to winterize plants and shrubs during the cold weather ahead. This week, with the help of material prepared by Lueck, we'll give you tips on how to tend to those roses that brought so much pleasure during the summer.

Lueck explained that roses that are strong and healthy during the summer months have a better chance of surviving winter conditions. If they have healthy foliage during the growing season, the plants will be able to make mature wood by the time dormancy comes in the fall.

According to Lueck, roses accept winter better if they are able to become gradually conditioned to increasingly cold weather. This is called "hardening off." A rose not hardened off is referred to as "soft." Feeding roses too late in the season can artificially induce this situation, prolonging the growth period past the time when the plants should be going dormant.

Pruning is necessary after the first killing frost. Hybrid tea rose plants should be pruned to 18 to 24 inches in height. When cutting back, leave some latitude for freezing. Lueck recommended that the final pruning be done in spring just as the plants break dormancy.

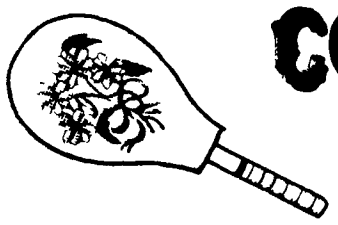
CRAFT CORNER

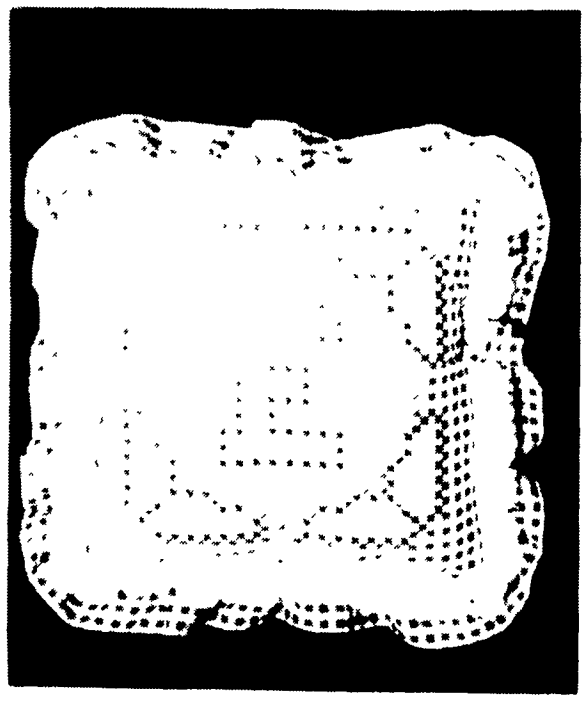


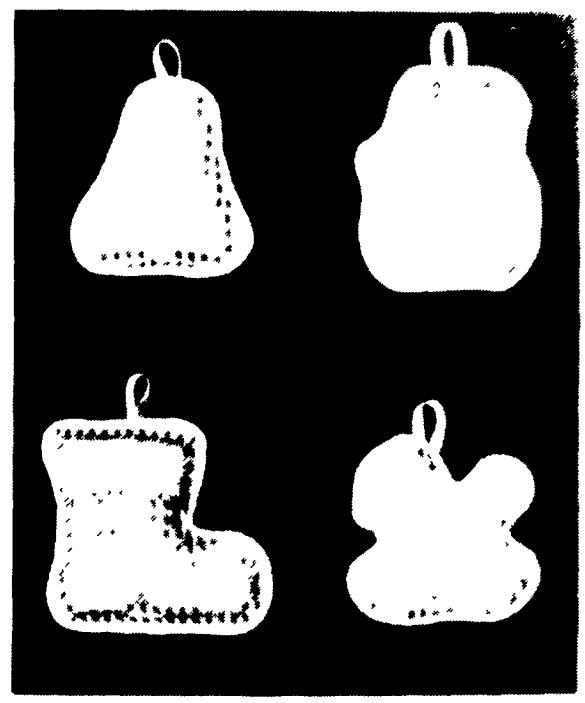
'Chicken scratch' gingham lace

No matter how the name sounds, "chicken scratch" has nothing to do with chickens. Instead, chicken scratch is a needlecraft that lets you turn original gingham into lace.

Although chicken scratch is its most popular name today, over the years the craft has been known as depression lace, mountain lace and snowflake embroidery. No matter what you call it though, you can create lace designs, or even monograms, with nothing but simple embroidery stitches.

Both the monogrammed pillow and Christmas ornaments shown are examples of chicken scratch.





The projects are available as kits and may be ordered by writing to the address that follows this column. To learn the technique, just read on.

In chicken scratch, the basic stitch is a double cross-stitch, in other words, one cross-stitch over another cross-stitch. All other stitches are simple circles and straight lines.

Since chicken scratch is worked on gingham, the boxes serve as guidelines for the stitches. To make a design, you can either follow a chart or just improvise.

Lacy borders, hearts, circles, diamonds and monograms all look beautiful in chicken scratch, especially on aprons, potholders, pillows and Christmas ornaments. No matter what you make, however, the craft is fast and fun to do.

Here are directions for chicken scratch:

MATERIALS: Gingham fabric; white and colored floss; embroidery needle; design chart or graph paper and pencil. Optional but recommended: embroidery hoop.

DESIGN: Work from a special chicken scratch chart or draw your own design on graph paper as follows:

1. Mark the squares in your graph that correspond to the dark squares in the gingham. 2. Mark the squares in your graph that correspond to the white squares. 3. Draw an outline for your design by connecting white squares. 4. Mark the center of your chart.

PREPARATION: 1. Fold gingham lengthwise and widthwise to find center. 2. Counting one square of gingham for each square in your chart, count gingham squares to find the top of your design. 3. Count left to find first square of design. 4. Position fabric in hoop.

OUTLINES: 1. Thread needle with three strands of colored floss.

Jaindls Hustle to Process Holiday Turkeys

BY KIMBERLY HERR

OREFIELD — The hustle and bustle of the holiday season will soon descend, bringing wishes for 48-hour days and an extra pair of hands to get everything accomplished. For the Jaindl family of the Jaindl Turkey Farm, Orefield, those wishes were voiced around Labor Day.

From September until Thanksgiving the Jaindl Farms will process approximately 400,000 turkeys. So, unlike those of us who wait to the last minute to prepare for the holidays, the Jaindls have to plan ahead.

According to Mark Jaindl, controller of Jaindl Farm, their turkey farm in the Lehigh Valley, is the largest in the world that raises, hatches and processes turkeys. They raise between 800,000 and one million turkeys each year.

Although today the Jaindl Farm produces enough turkeys for thousands of families to eat on Thanksgiving Day, it wasn't always that way.

Fred Jaindl, Mark's father, began the turkey business in the 1930s with his father, John L. They started with 12 turkeys and a small incubator. According to Mark, the processing plant was in the bottom of the house. Fred and his father had 15 acres of land at that time. The Jaindl Farm now consists of 6000 acres.

Both Mark and Fred attribute their success to their special breed of turkey and "just a little hard work.".

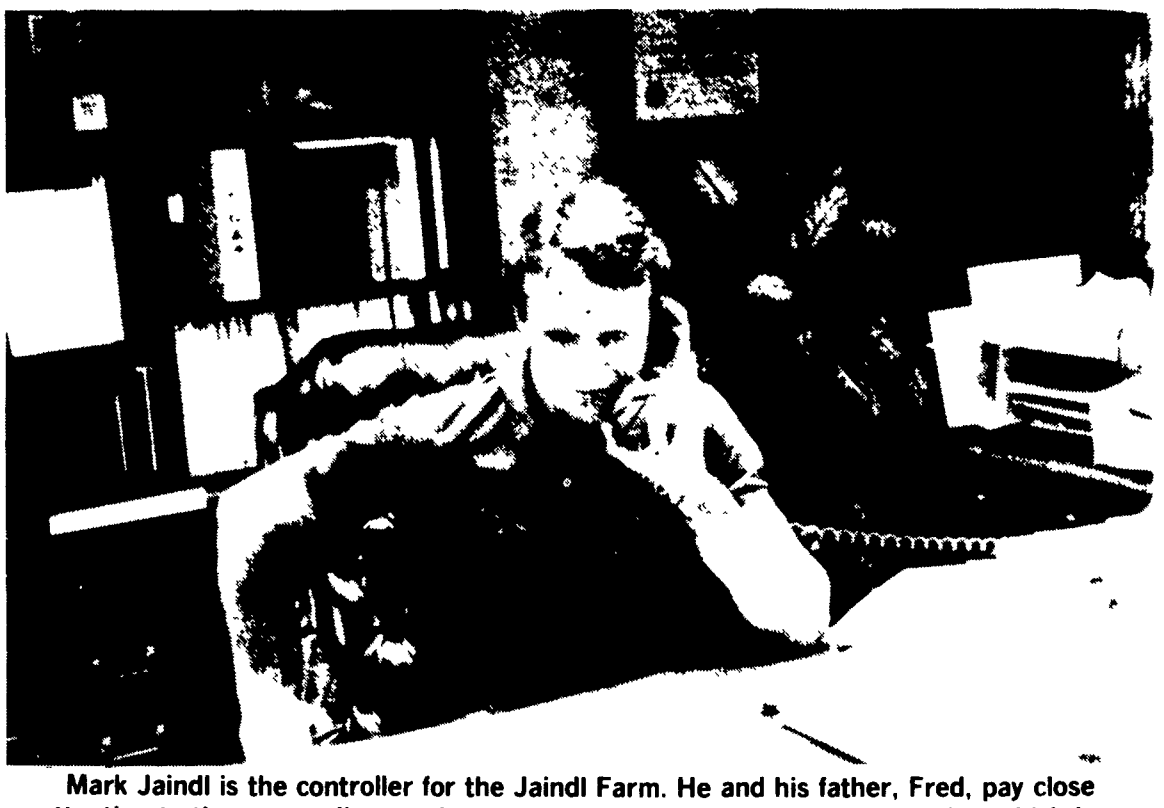
"The competitive advantage that we have is the turkey and the confirmation of the turkey," Mark explained. "Our turkeys have 15 to 20 percent more white meat."

Mark explained that the additional white meat is gained from the way the turkeys have been bred. The Jaindl turkeys, according to Mark, have a "box-shaped breast."

Fred Jaindl handpicks all the breeders used on the farm. According to Mark, Fred looks at approximately 300,000 turkeys and chooses about 32,000 for breeders.

After the breeders have been selected, the rest of the turkeys head toward the processing plant. After the turkeys are killed, the feathers are picked off automatically and the birds head toward the line to be dissembled, where each of the turkeys is inspected.

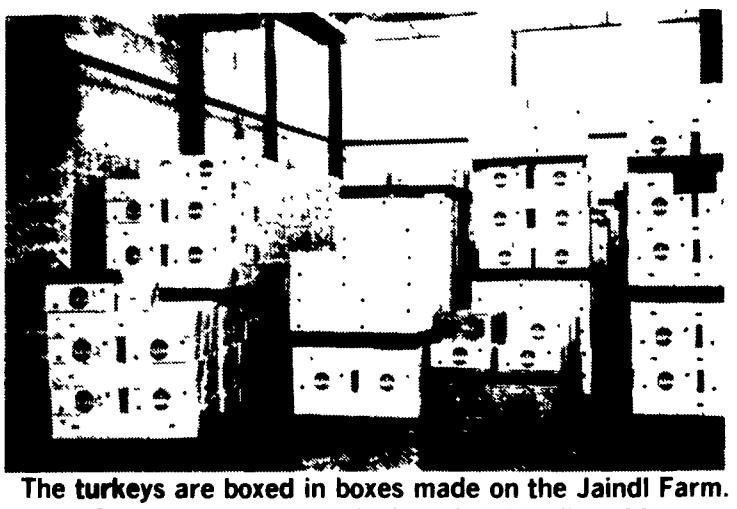
By the time the turkeys reach the end of the line, they have received one of three grades. Ninety percent of the birds leave the Jaindl Farm with the Grade A Grand Champion tag. Those birds with a slight skin tear leave with a Harvest Brand, and anything less than that receives the Parkland Valley label, which is shipped strictly to canners, according to Dave Jaindl, general manager of Jaindl Farm.



Mark Jaindl is the controller for the Jaindl Farm. He and his father, Fred, pay close attention to the commodity markets, which they receive from a satellite disc which is located on the roof of their plant.

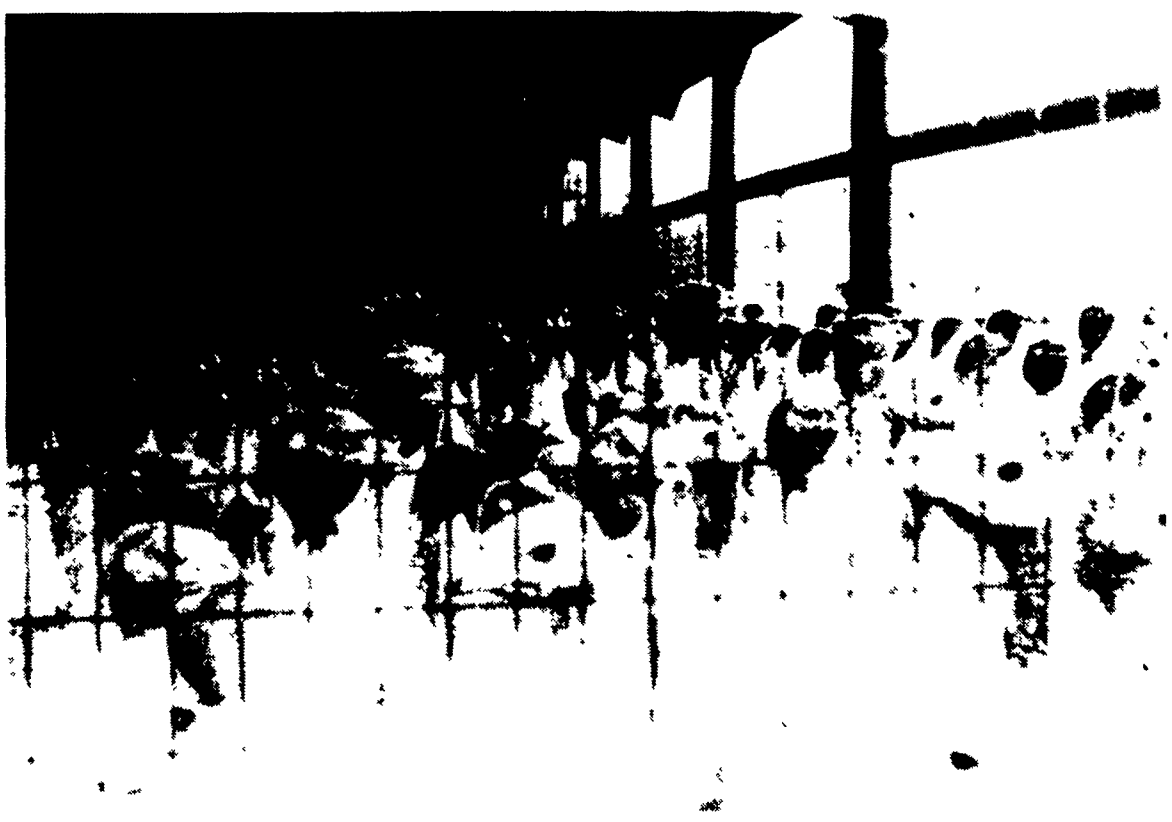
The turkeys that were not old enough to make it for this Thanksgiving are housed in one of 192 45X301 pole barns.

The Jaindl turkeys are fed corn, which is grown on the Jaindl Farm, and soybeans, with protein mixes added, according to the age of the turkey. The Jaindl turkeys consume about 1300 ton of food per week during their busiest time of year, according to Dave.



The turkeys are boxed in boxes made on the Jaindl Farm. "We make our own boxes, which makes it a little bit more efficient," explained Dave Jaindl, general manager of the Jaindl Farm.

As the processed turkeys reach the end of the production line, they are bagged and all the air is evacuated to help preserve the freshness of the meat.



The Jaindl Turkey Farm, Orefield, produces between 800,000 and one million turkeys each year. From Sept. 1 until Thanksgiving, they will have prepared approximately 400,000 turkeys to be served on tables in more than 20 states.

The Jaindls also grow their own wheat, which is used for straw bedding. According to Dave, they use approximately 100,000 bales of straw each year.

But after planning for bedding and what the turkeys will eat and working with the birds every day, don't the Jaindl's ever getting tired of turkeys? Never, according to Dave.

"It's the best food you can eat," he said. "You can make it so many ways, and it's high in protein."

Dave explained that their family has turkey at least once a week, and his favorite is turkey cutlets.

"I could eat those every week," Dave said.

The recipe for turkey cutlets, as well as some ideas for Thanksgiving Day dishes and ways to use leftover turkey, follow. All recipes are courtesy of the Jaindl Farm.

Turkey Cutlets

Cut thin slices from uncooked turkey breast. Dip the slices first in flour, then in beaten egg and finally in bread crumbs. Fry slices only a few minutes on each side to brown. The cutlets may be served with the following tomato sauce recipe.

Tomato Sauce

Make a paste with one tablespoon shortening and one tablespoon flour. Add one teaspoon sugar and a pinch each of salt and pepper; then add three cups of tomato juice and bring to a boil.

Giblet Gravy

Cook gizzard, heart and neck of turkey in four cups of salted water until tender, about one to two hours. Add liver last half hour. Remove neck; chop giblets into small pieces; return to cooking water. Use as liquid in making pan gravy as follows.

For each cup of medium gravy, add two tablespoons fat, two tablespoons flour, one cup liquid.

For each cup of thin gravy, add one cup of liquid and one tablespoon each of fat and flour. For thick gravy, use one cup of liquid and three tablespoons each of fat and flour.

Remove meat to warm place. Pour off fat; measure amount needed back into pan or saucepan. Add level tablespoon of flour. Stir fat and flour together until smooth, then cook over low to medium heat, stirring steadily until it's all bubbly and brown.

Hot Turkey Casserole

4 cups diced cooked turkey
1 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
4 hard cooked eggs, diced
1 small jar pimientos, diced
2/3 cup blanched chopped almonds
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 cups chopped celery
1/2 cup mushroom soup
1 cup grated cheese
1 1/2 cups crushed potato chips

Combine turkey, mayonnaise, lemon juice, eggs, pimientos, almonds, salt, onion, celery and soup. Mix well and turn into greased 13X9-inch baking dish. Spread cheese and potato chips over top. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes.

Turkey Barbecue

8 cups cooked chunked turkey
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup diced celery
1 cup catsup
1 cup turkey broth or chicken bouillon
1/4 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon celery seed

Simmer the above ingredients for one hour.

Junior market steer projects starting

HONESDALE — The 1984 Wayne County Junior Market Steer Feeding Program will be starting soon.

This 4-H and FFA project is open to all young people in Wayne County with an interest in feeding, caring and managing a 4-H or FFA market beef steer.

To meet the 4-H membership requirement, the young person must be at least 8 years old by Jan. 1, 1983 and not have passed their 19th birthday as of the same date. The young person must also belong to any one of the 4-H agricultural or community clubs here in Wayne County. To meet the FFA membership requirement, the young person must be enrolled in or be active in a vocational agriculture program.

If you are selecting a beef steer for the first time, here are a few tips to keep in mind:

1. Select a feeder calf that currently weighs between 400 and 600 pounds. Keep in mind that a finished market steer should weigh around 100 pounds at fair time. The average beef steer will gain about 2 pounds of weight per day. The 1983 - 1984 feeding period will involve about 250 days. If the average steer can gain 2 pounds per day over this 250 day feeding period, this will result in a gain of about 500 pounds and a 1000 pound beef steer. This is why we need to start with a feeder calf in the 400 to 600 pound weight range.

2. Try to select a well-bred beef animal. This can be either a purebred or a grade beef animal, or an animal which is a cross of two beef breeds. Do not select a steer which is the result of a dairy-breed-beef-breed cross.

3. Try to select a beef steer that is well-started showing growthiness and some muscling throughout its body.

It is recommended that all steer projects be started in October, November or early December.

All 4-H and FFA beef steers should be placed on full feed no later than Dec. 15, 1983. This date is also the absolute deadline for enrollment in this project.

Young, growing beef steers should be fed grain at a rate of 2 percent of their body weight. If a 500 pound steer was fed this rate, it would be consuming 10 pounds of feed per day. Growing steers also should have access to good hay, a salt and mineral box plus a good supply of clean, fresh drinking water.

All 4-H and FFA Market Steers will be exhibited at the Junior Market Steer Show at the Wayne County Fair. The steers are then sold through the Junior Livestock Sale.

The 4-H and FFA member will acquire skills in showmanship, fitting, feeding and managing the beef steer. A record book of all expenses must be maintained throughout the feeding period.

Young people interested in this 4-H or FFA project should contact the Wayne County Extension Service for enrollment forms and additional details. The phone number to call is 253-5970, extension 114. The Extension Office will try to maintain a list of area beef producers that have 4-H or FFA beef steers for sale as project animals.

FEEDING HIGH MOISTURE CORN?

Agway HMC Balancer™ has the extra nutrients cows need for extra production

Feeding high moisture corn may cut costs and even boost profits . . . in the short run. True, it's energy rich. But high moisture corn is seriously deficient in protein, vitamins and minerals. And it just doesn't pay to skimp on those nutrients.

Make the choice hundreds of smart farmers have made: Agway HMC Balancer, the Pro:Right® concentrate specifically designed to supplement high moisture corn with the nutrients your herd needs for maximum and efficient milk production.

Agway HMC Balancer contains 32% protein precisely formulated to regulate* the amount of both soluble and insoluble protein. Also included are the critical vitamins and minerals your herd needs to stay healthy and productive.

No wonder use of Agway HMC Balancer has increased 800% in just the past five years!

Agway also offers many other concentrates that enhance a variety of forage programs. For more information, see your Agway Dairy Enterprise Salesperson, or call your local Agway.

DEALER INQUIRIES INVITED

On being a farm wife -And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Tension hung in the air, so thick you could almost have sliced it like fresh bread.

High-ceilinged, towering-walled rooms within the massive complex where we waited, closed out the sunshine of the bright day just beyond the doors. The oppressive atmosphere of waiting, waiting, waiting, was sporadically rent with sudden explosions of giggling attacks.

Across the hall of the Kentucky Exposition's west wing, just a part of the sprawling livestock show and civic center complex in Louisville, teams of four youths faced each other. Their fingers hovered above buttons, trigger ready, to try to be first to hit the buzzer and earn a chance to answer a question and earn points for their team.

This was the National 4-H Dairy Quiz Bowl contest, with fifteen teams battling for the top spot. Questions prodded their knowledge of the broad dairy industry, anything from milk marketing to cattle diseases.

Adults waiting with the York County team, representing Pennsylvania as state winner, were fast becoming as jittery as the kids. Having won their first couple of rounds, earlier calm was disintegrating in the waiting room isolation as the semi-finals drew closer.

Already, during one round, one team member had snapped a lead pencil in two with nervous tension.

Swiping paper from the note-taking tablets, they initiated a picture-drawing event, each member adding some item. Other pieces of lined tablet paper soon sprouted tic-tac-toe contest scribblings and assorted pencil games - anything to have something to do.

When that wore out, which was pretty soon, a spitball appeared. A pair of ballpoints became paddles and the spitball a ping-pong ball in an informal miniature table tennis game across the table.

A silver chewing gum wrapper found recycled used as a miniature paper airplane. While the design and engineering were suitable, the lightweight material prevented the craft from any maneuver save fluttering to the floor on the initial launch.

Then began a joke-telling session.

Chairs scraped across the floor as members of assorted teams sampled the milk punch, walked out to the fountains, to the restrooms, or to the official listing of how teams were being eliminated or moved to new competitiors in ensuing rounds.

When the call came for what would be our team's final round, relief was audible. Anything, aything, was preferable to the agony of waiting.

When awards time came, they accepted their ribbons for third in the nation. Others also representing the Keystone state in various events further swelled our commonwealth price.

Berks Countian Patty Dreisbach, named the new national Jersey queen. York County's Mike Welsh who won the national junior Brown Swiss She

And a host of livestock exhibitors who placed either top, or very high, in their respective classes.

It just shows that Pennsylvania agriculture can go anywhere, national or international, and uphold that we're growing quality - both kids and livestock.

We came home Pennsylvania Proud.

Montgomery Co. 4-H'ers Recognized

NORRISTOWN — Montgomery County 4-H leaders and members were honored recently at the County 4-H Achievement Night held at the Holiday Inn, Kulpsville. County Commissioners Rita Banning and Alan Myers were present to congratulate the participants and offer words of praise for the outstanding contributions made by leaders and members to the 4-H program. The Outstanding 4-H Boy and Girl for 1983 were recognized by Mrs. Banning. Debbie Fagley, Trappe, accepted her award. Jerry Longworth, Hatfield, was unable to attend because of school commitments, but his sister, Denise, accepted it on his behalf.

Kitty Kopistecki, Royersford, and Debbie Fagley received the "I Dare You" Award for outstanding 4-H leadership in the county. Commissioner Myers presented the awards to them.

Adult leaders were recognized by Paul Reber, county agent, who presented certificates to them for their commitment to the 4-H program.

4-H teen leaders were recognized by Helaine Brown, 4-H agent. Other 4-H members were recognized for their participation in other county, regional, state and national 4-H programs.

Bob Hare and David Farmer, at halter, of Winchester, Ohio, are congratulated by judge Tom Turner on their Chianina Junior Show championship at the Keystone International.

Lynne Wise, New Philadelphia, Ohio, and her heifer, RW Twiggy, are congratulated by judge Tom Turner and Pennsylvania Polled Hereford Queen Lisa Brudney for their win in the Junior Polled Hereford Show at the Keystone International.

BY LAURA ENGLAND

HARRISBURG — Junior members were in abundance last Sunday as they paraded approximately 142 entries through the showring during the Keystone International Livestock Exposition junior beef breeding show.

Breeds represented in the contest were Angus, Charolais, Chianina, Hereford, Polled Hereford, Shorthorn and Simmental. The show was judged by Tom Turner, Columbus, Ohio.

Named the Angus breed grand champion was an April junior yearling heifer owned by Cathy Shive, Seven Valleys. The heifer, SAF Queen Dolly was sired by PS Power Play. Reserve honors went to David Hutchins, West Mansfield, Ohio, and his Linbacker daughter, Millcreek Femtastic R182.

Carla Clutter, Prosperity, swept the Charolais show winning both the grand and reserve grand champion titles. Her grand entry, Derby's Sane 2118, was a summer yearling sired by WF Silver Hatchet. Late summer yearling 4C Star's Beth, sired by HCR Expectation Jr., won the reserve title.

An early summer yearling heifer owned by David Farmer, Winchester, Ohio, topped the Chianina show. The heifer, R R Miss Blackbird M131, was sired by Faletto. David Grimes, Decatur, Ohio, and his heifer, Eagle Crk Southern Belle, took the reserve title. The junior calf was sired by Walco Ky Colonel.

The only entry in the Hereford class was also awarded the championship title. The junior calf, RF Miss Squaw 375, was owned by Natalie Renner, Waynesburg. RF Adv 359 D4 was the sire.

Polled Hereford championship honors were earned by Lynn Wise, New Philadelphia, Ohio, and Stan Roadcap, Staunton, Va. Wise and her senior heifer calf, RW Twiggy 107H 49, sired by STLBRK Gilead were named the grand champions. Roadcap's early summer yearling heifer, TK Lady Wilt 42, was named reserve champion. MB Jogahan Wilt was the sire.

Edward McLaughlin, Woodsfield, Ohio, and his early summer yearling entry filled the championship spot in the Shorthorn class. R W Delta Dawn, sired by Windholme Robin King, was the winner. Reserve honors went to Sharon McLaughlin, Woodsfield, Ohio, and 10M's Dottie Miss 883. The senior calf was sired by Windholme Clark.

Rounding up the junior beef breeding show was the Simmental class lead by Greg Woodard, New Concord, Ohio, and Sarah Messick, Middletown. Woodard and his late junior yearling Abricot daughter, Miss SKR Abby P2, were named the grand champion winners. Messick and her late junior yearling heifer were the reserve winners. The heifer, MF Miss Superstar P34, was sired by CSV Achilles Superstar.

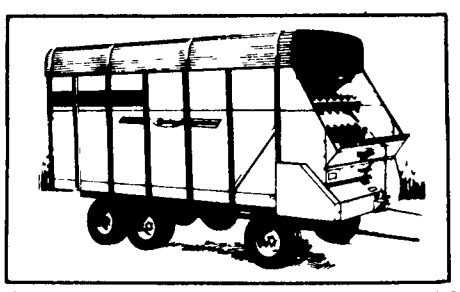
Extra weight. Extra capacity. Extra performance for top unloading silos. That's what Badger's Pow-R-Trac Unloader is all about.

The Badger Pow-R-Trac is built better than other models with extra iron and extra weight to unload evenly, top to bottom. Match that extra weight with its hardened knives over the full length of the rugged auger and a digger wheel that shaves silage off the walls, and you've got an unloader that will chew through even the toughest hard packed or frozen material.

* Qualified Buyers Only



You Can't Buy A Better Forage Box Than Badger's

Start with specially treated acid resistant exterior grade plywood, bolted to steel channel stakes. No nails anywhere. Add to that a tough welded and bolted undercarriage built to carry the big loads. Match all this with Badger's simple and reliable heavy roller chain drive, a beater design that delivers a smooth even discharge to the blower. And then mount it on Badger's own heavy duty single or tandem axle running gear and you've got a box that will stand up to the toughest punishment.

Sarah and Tim Fleener of Lancaster, proudly showed this pair of Shropshires to win the grand champion ewe and ram in the National Shropshire show at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

BY TRISH WILLIAMS

HARRISBURG — Tim and Sarah Fleener of Lancaster proved the superiority of their sheep Nov. 4, as they captured the grand champion ewe and ram in the National Shropshire Show.

The National Shropshire Show was held in conjunction with the Keystone International Livestock Exposition at the Farm Show Complex.

Among stiff competition the young sheep breeders continually placed high with their prized Shropshires. Their Shropshire's winnings included: first placed exhibitor's flock, third placed junior ram, second placed pair of ram lambs, first placed ram one year and under two, grand champion ram; fourth placed ewe junior lamb, first, second and third place ewe one year and under two, and grand champion ewe.

And with a full compliment of these superior sheep, the Fleener's captured the Governor's trophy for the group class consisting of one yearling ram, two ram lambs, two yearling ewes, two ewe lambs, and all bred and owned by the exhibitor.

The Fleener's are no strangers to the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. This is the third year they have competed as a team since they wed, prior to their marriage they competed as individuals in the show.

"Showing was a family effort," explained Sarah, giving credit to her parents, Clyde and Dorothy Brubaker.

The Fleeners live on Sarah's grandparent's 56 acre farm on Harrisburg Pike, where they raise two breeds of sheep, Shropshire and Hampshire.

In Hampshire competition that same day, the Fleeners made a good showing. Their winnings in the Hampshire Show included: third place ram lamb, fourth place ewe fall lamb, fifth place pen of three ewe lambs, first place ewe one year and under two, and reserve champion ewe.

Judge Gary Ricketts, Urbana, Ill., inspects these Shropshire sale ewe lambs in this first time class, referred to by the breeders as "Shear 'em and show 'em". The sheep are shorn and tied to a fence for judging, the idea being that the sheep are judged on their own merit, without the influence of the showman.

Ohio breeder claims top honors in Dorset breed

HARRISBURG — Ribbons in Dorset sheep action at the 27th Keystone International Livestock Exposition went to a variety of contestants, but entries from Ohio captured the top spots in the competition.

"Maple Grove 783," the champion ram, and "Maple Grove 827," the champion ewe, were exhibited by Maple Grove Farm of Washington Courthouse, Ohio.

Honors for reserve champion ram went to "Staver 556" and its owner Orvine Alley Dorsets of Palmyra, Lebanon County. The farm also had the first place exhibitor flock.

The reserve champion ewe, "Driscoll 121P," was shown by Alicia Strausbaugh of York. The premier exhibitor was Wade Brothers of Greenville, Virginia.

CHICKEN HEALTH IS IMPORTANT NOW TO RESIST DISEASE

Full spectrum lights with ultra-violet rays (more like the sun) makes humans, poultry and livestock in confinement much healthier. Tests prove it!! Darker red combs, deeper yellow legs, much less flighty, much longer good laying periods, practically no cannabolism even with bright lights, 10% more eggs with better size, quality and shell strength, better feed efficiency. Full spectrum gives better digestion.

Our Aloe Vere juice from a different, a superior species of Aloe plants is excellent for humans, livestock and poultry problems, including disease prevention. Many dramatic-testimonials far and near. Tests showed it saved about enough feed in chickens and hogs to pay for itself, by better digestion. Then the health benefit comes free. Therefore quickly use both mentioned products to save layers from getting the dreaded flu. What can you lose when you save the cost in feed, etc.??

Natural resistance is the answer which is also proven in our

MASTITIS PROGRAM AND FIELD CROPS

It works, Many excellent testimonials. Ask for literature. Apply our soil conditioners and long lasting fertilizer in the fall. By conditioning ahead customers receive 200 to 300 bu. corn per acre, 9.98 lbs. cantaloupes, 40 lb. watermelons, 27.7% protein in haylage, with decreasing fertilizer, insecticide and vet. expense.

It is not too good to be true. Our customers obey the Manual of the soil Creator. Do you use a John Deere manual for a Ford tractor?

Come to a MEETING especially about lights by a company respresentative who knows his product, on Monday, November 14, 7:30 PM at the Cloister Restaurant, West Main Street, Ephrata, PA. One block from Rt. 272. Other products can also be explained and sold.

THE WORLD'S LARGEST SELLING CHAIN SAW

Getting the Farm Experience in a City Setting

BY LAURA ENGLAND

PHILADELPHIA — Sue Wilkins and Sherry Malinich are high school seniors who share a common interest in the world of agriculture. Sue has always enjoyed plants and animals, and Sherry has her mind set on being a meat cutter.

With these interests and aspirations behind them, the two seniors knew they wanted to enroll in an agricultural curriculum, but in Philadelphia? You bet.

The Walter Biddle Saul High School of Agricultural Sciences was the choice the two needed to make. As eighth graders, Sue and Sherry were among some 1,000 students who applied to Saul High School and among 240 who were accepted.

According to Robert T. Holley, one of the two agricultural coordinators at the school, students interested in the agriculture program apply to Saul High School prior to Christmas. About 1,000 applications are received each year with the top 240 accepted.

To narrow down the number of applications, grades are considered, Holley said, and students go through an oral interview and take an interest inventory or aptitude test. From here, the scores are tallied and the applications ranked accordingly.

Many of the students, like Sue and Sherry, are inter-city kids who have varying reasons for wanting an agricultural background. Sue's interest in animals prompted her decision. Sherry's future plans to be a meat cutter, plus the fact that her mother worked as a custodian at the school, lead her the same route.

Sue, who's enrolled in the laboratory tech program, said there is "something to do all the time."

"In the classroom, the teacher explains what's going on and then we go out and work," she said. "We don't learn everything out of a book."

Added Sherry who's enrolled in animal science, "We learn by hands-on experience, actually getting out there and doing it."

The curriculum at Saul High School begins in ninth grade where students are placed on a rotation schedule through tenth grade. Holley explained that ninth graders select course group 701 or group 702. Group 701 offers courses in meat cutting, poultry, aquaculture, greenhouse management and beef and dairy. Group 702 offers agricultural business, crops, laboratory animals and landscape.

These agriculture courses, along with an academic curriculum of English, biology, math, health and physical education, and a foreign language, are taught throughout the ninth grade. In tenth grade, students in group 701 continue to group 703, and students in group 702 continue to group 704.

Courses offered in group 703 are agricultural mechanics, sheep and beef, soil and turf, and laboratory animals. Group 704 includes livestock, ornamental horticulture, agricultural mechanics and horticulture mechanics.

In grades 11 and 12, students pick a major in one of seven areas: agriculture production - animals and crops; agriculture mechanics; agriculture products; horticulture; agriculture resources; laboratory animal technology; or agriculture business. Again, an academic curriculum is included.

Holley, the animal science coordinator who shares his duties with Bob Hunter, the mechanics and horticulture coordinator, explained that hands-on experience is an important part of the curriculum at Saul High School.

Facilities at the school itself include a full-scale animal science department complete with dairy cattle, beef, swine, poultry, sheep, a dog kennel, and a meats cutting lab. Enough acreage is set aside for crops planting and harvesting.

Within the classroom building are a horticulture department with greenhouses, a flower shop, a mechanics shop, and laboratories for classroom lessons and experiments.

The curriculum and facilities, Holley said, lend themselves to educating and training students for entry level job positions. On the average, he said, 65 percent of the students go to college, and the remaining 35 percent are placed in jobs.

"We get all students who are not college bound placed in jobs," Holley said.

Routine farming practices, such as roping cattle for veterinary care and check-ups, are taught to students on a hands-on basis.

With the help of the National Guard, lead by Msgt. John Ragan, between 55 to 60 acres of woodland and brush will be cleared at the Fox Chase Farm to make way for crops.

Resident farmer Bill McFadden, left, and Bob Holley, agriculture coordinator at W.B. Saul High School, discuss future projects of the Fox Chase Farm, such as a pond to be built on the site where the two are standing.

First-hand experience, including the feeding and care of the school's livestock, is an important part of the curriculum at W.B. Saul High School in Philadelphia.

Experience

FOX CHASE FARM

A recent addition to the Saul High School district is the Fox Chase Farm. Obtained in May 1981 on a rental basis from Fairmont Park, the farm is located about a half hour drive from the school.

The farm was needed, Holley said, for classroom projects and to replenish the livestock at the school. Managed by resident farmers Bill McFadden and Gary Fausbough, the farm includes 115 acres and houses sheep, beef cattle, chickens, pigs, and dairy heifers and steers.

A major project going on at the farm now is the clearing of about 60 acres of woodland and brush for additional crop acreage. To get the job done, the National Guard, complete with manpower and equipment, was called in, explained school principal Ralph Bartholomew.

Lead by Master Sgt. John Ragan, a Saul High School alumnus, the 103rd Engineer Batallion out of Philadelphia is using the project as part of its weekend drills. The project is providing training for equipment operators and the soldiers, Ragan said.

And for Ragan, the project is allowing him to do something for his alma mater. A 1958 graduate, Ragan said he heard about Saul High School when he was in eighth grade.

"I was a city person all my life," he said, "and when I heard about the school in eighth grade, I just wanted to try it out."

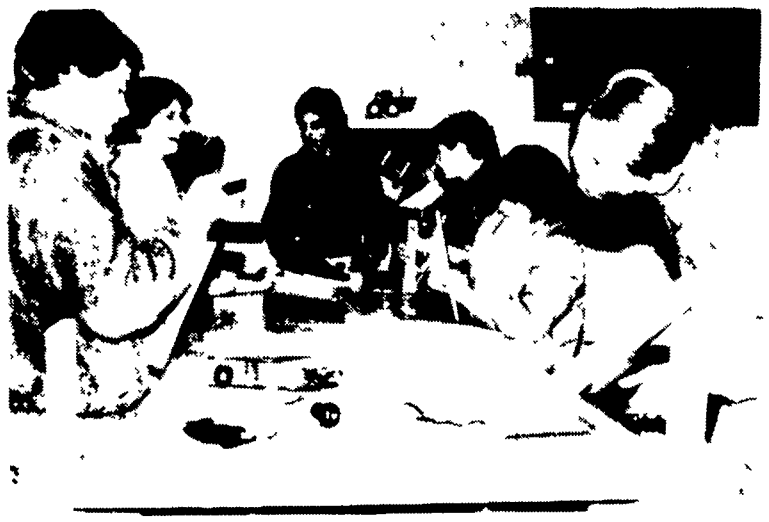
Ragan's son, Timothy, is currently enrolled at Saul High School and plans to be a landscape architect. His daughter, still in junior high, is also considering applying to the school.

Another project at Fox Chase, in addition to raising the farm livestock, is a joint cancer research project. For the research, ducks and woodchucks are being raised to get positive and negative specimens for Hepatitis B, which is related to the human cancer cell.

A five-year funding was approved for the project, and during the summer high school students are employed to help in the coop program.

Another way that students help at Fox Chase Farm and get a hold on agriculture is the showing of livestock during the Farm Show in January. This year, two heifers purchased from Dunwalke Farm, Fairhills, N.J., and some Suffolk ewes will be shown.

These animals are part of the total 40 sheep, 85 layers, 30 beef, 10 pigs, and seven dairy steers at Fox Chase. When needed, the animals will be moved to the school's site where students can continue to receive hands-on experience in raising and caring for livestock, as well as get a well-rounded exposure to farm life in a city setting.



This group of students are learning the basics of using hand tools. The lesson for the day - the proper use of a planer.

The Bou-Matic®

Computerized Feed Management System . . .

Through computerized feeding you can tailor your concentrate consumption on a cow-by-cow basis and regulate the maximum amount of concentrate consumed in 12 daily feeding periods With this means of control, your cows can be fed according to their production—not demand This eliminates overfeeding of low producers which results in better feed cost management and also provides high milkers the full nutrition they need to maximize milk production

The Bou-Matic® Computerized Feeding System offers simplicity of use, cost effectiveness and record keeping printouts needed by even the most advanced dairymen—for a total feed management program

From total herd adjustment by group (in one easy step), to individual cow tailoring of one or both feed rations, Bou-Matic's Computerized Feeding System can demonstrate the favorable economics of individual cow feeding management

Achievement Night Honors 4-H'ers

LEBANON — Lebanon County 4-H Achievement Night was held recently at the Lebanon Valley College.

Deb Bolles of Mount Zion and Lori Ressor, of Schaefferstown, were named Outstanding 4-H'ers, the highest county award. Deb is the 1983 State Winner in the Dog category and most recently was named a Sectional Winner. Lori is the state winner in Fashion Revue this year. Both girls have now advanced to national competition in their respective categories.

Another highlight of the evening was the presentation of the first annual Susan Heilinger Werner Memorial Award. This award, sponsored by an anonymous donor, is given to a 4-H dairy member who is selected on the basis of involvement in the 4-H dairy program, level of involvement in local, county, state, and national 4-H activities, leadership, responsibility, and future goals in the dairy industry. These were the qualities best exemplified by Susan Heilinger Werner who died this spring of cancer.

The first recipient of this award was Heather Hernley, Bethel Township. Heather owns 15 Aryshires and has exhibited at state and All-American shows in both junior and open competition during her nine years in 4-H. She was named Pennsylvania Outstanding Aryshire Girl of 1982 and received the South East FFA Calf Award in Aryshires. Heather is the secretary of the Norlebco Dairy Club and a member of a community 4-H club. Her future plans include college and a partnership with her family on their farm.

As the winner of this award, Heather will receive $200, a certificate, and have her name engraved on a permanent plaque kept in the Lebanon County Extension Office.

People's National Bank sponsored three college scholarships. This was the 29th year that People's offered scholarships to Lebanon County 4-H'ers. The recipients were Charity Saam, with a $250 agricultural scholarship, and Jodi Kreider and Lori Ressor, who each received $125 home economics scholarships.

Loretta Noll was also recognized as the state winner of the Allen Baker scholarship.

Many other outstanding 4-H'ers were recognized. County winners in the National Awards Pro ram were: Loretta Noll, Margot LeRoy, Deb Bolles, Lori Ressor, Melanie Bow, Jodi Kreider, Troy Funk, Jennifer Allwein, Jeff Wagner, Sylvia Royer, Larissa Smith, Natalie Wagner, Damian Shiner, Angela Bollinger, Ann Grumbine, Sharon Wagner, Jackie Brown, Sheri Pierce, Kris Lehn, Mike Steckman, Megan Burrichter.

Keystone winners and their categories in the National Awards Program were: Lori Ressor-Clothing and Consumer Education; Deb Bolles-Dog and Poultry; Damian Shiner-Home Environment and Public Speaking; and Margot LeRoy-Horse.

Lebanon County has established a program called "Honor 4-H'ers" which recognizes the top three members in each of the age groups from 8-13. This award is designed to recognize even the youngest members for their efforts and achievements.

Honor 4-H'ers for 1983 were: 8-year-olds - Tony Ebling, Brian Kreider, and Heather Sowers; 9-year-olds - Laura George, Ralph Major, Susan Jo Simmon; 10-year-olds - Donna Lawrence, Emily Swanger, Tara Weyand; 11-year-olds - Dottie Connor, Eric Funk, Rob Kain; 12-year-olds - Jon Boyer, Lori Brandt, Becky Sonnen; 13-year-olds - Karen Crain, David Sonnen, and Sharon Wagner.

Members who served as teen leaders in the club and at county events received pins and certificates. They were: Ann Fake, Ann Grumbine, Sherry Harnish, Jodi Kreider, Lori Ressor, Karen Crain, Regina Roof, Christine Wagner, Sherri Wampler, Loretta Noll, Mike Steckman, Deb Bolles, Karen Albright, Cindy Flanagan, Damian Shiner, Dan Shiner, Elizabeth Shiner, Larissa Smith, Troy Funk, Becky Smith, Natalie Wagner, and Sharon Wagner.

There are many types of national competition in 4-H, and Karen Crain and Damian Shiner received Honorable Mention certificates for their entries in the National 4-H Poster Art Program.

Another aspect of 4-H involvement is community service. Winner of the County Award for

Farm Women Hold Convention

LANCASTER — The Farm Women of Lancaster County capped off a busy year Saturday with their annual convention at the Farm and Home Center.

The day began with registration at 9 a.m., followed by opening ceremonies and various reports from county Farm Women officers. The group of more than 500 women then heard from the women running for the office of the second vice president of the county. Hazel Ulrich was elected.

Joan Hershey, the new county president, spoke on what had occurred during the past year. Some of the contributions offered by Lancaster County Farm Women over the past year have been hours donated at the Heart Association, sewing at local hospitals, the donation of band uniforms for school districts or baseball uniforms, according to Mrs. Hershey.

Mrs. Hershey's review was followed by a reflection of Fran Sauder's, last year's president, on what her time as president had been like.

Doris Thomas, Lancaster County home economist, offered some information on what the Farm Women had contributed to the Farm and Home building over the years. She also informed the women of the measures being taken to combat the avian influenza problem.

A high-light of the afternoon was the donation of $1,000 to the Shelter for Abused Women. Donna Clover, from the Shelter, was on hand to receive the donation.

Dinner was served at noon with music by Glenn Sauder. A musical skit was provided by Lloyd Bewley and John Zimmerman, and Dr. Lucille Wingert offered "Musical Notes on the Harp and Bells."

Attendance awards were given to Society 22, who had the most number of people in attendance. Second place went to Society 2.

Now with convenient hydrostatic drive and extended battery life!

Load it full. Press the new hydrostatic control lever. And you're on your way to feed silage, haylage or any other feed to your dairy herd—quickly, cleanly and conveniently.

With new hydrostatic drive, this new Series IV cart gives you fully variable speed control. Fingertip operation provides any travelling speed you select.

The Weaverline Series IV cart puts you in complete command of your feeding operation. As your Series IV cart moves into position in front of each stall, set the auger and apron-system indicator to discharge the rate of feed you desire. Then shut it off and move on to the next cow. Or if you want, lay a continuous flow of feed. Fast-flow front-end discharge with flexible deflector makes it easy to put your feed right where you want it.

No matter which of the three models you choose, you can depend on Weaverline advance engineering design. Upkeep, time and labor saved will more than pay for the cost of a Weaverline Series IV transport cart.

Clover Fun Gang

The Clover Fun Gang held a meeting recently in Union Township. The club elected officers for the new year. The results were: President, Jason Gilmore; Vice-President, Matthew Stevens; Secretary, Brian Jacobson; Treasurer, Christine Cozzi, a new member. Members will take a field trip to learn about food services at the Pittstown Inn during their next meeting.

Achievement Night

Outstanding Community Service by a club was the Myerstown 4-H Raiders. They helped the Salvation Army with their Christmas Doll project and also collected food for the Lebanon County Food Bank. Honorable mention went to Hoof and Horns (LEAP Program), Jonestown Bake and Eat (nursing home program), and Mill Acres (food bank).

This event helps to provide funds to maintain and finance the Lebanon Area Fair for 4-H events.

Phyllis Paine, chairman of the Lebanon Area Fair Bar-B-Q committee was present to give a report of this event over the past 12 years. She also recognized the Happy Variety Club for its support by assisting at the barbeque the first year and each year thereafter.

Although many 4-H awards are yet to be presented at various banquets throughout the fall, Lebanon county has recognized many of its top 4-H members.

Simmental champions named at Keystone International

BY LAURA ENGLAND

HARRISBURG — Sharing the spotlight Sunday during the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Simmental Breeding Cattle Show were exhibitors from Ohio, Virginia, New York and Pennsylvania.

Capturing grand champion female honors was Greg Woodard, New Concord, Ohio, and his March junior yearling, Miss SKR Abby. The Abricot daughter also won grand champion honors in the Junior Beef Breeding Show.

The reserve female title went to Miss Signal MHF, owned by Cindy Virts, Purcellville, Va. The junior heifer calf was sired by Signal.

Taking the grand champion bull honors for the second consecutive year was Seneca Stilts, exhibited by Alexander Farms, Interlaken, N.Y. The 2-year-old bull was sired by Signal.

Reserve bull honors went to William Shoemaker, Buffalo Mills and his junior bull entry. Shoemaker's Prince William was sired by C.P.S.

The show was judged by Dick Beck, Queenstown, Md.

ORTHO UNIPEL® 21-7-14

this Fall, and you've finished basic corn fertility.

You'll get a big jump on Spring field work when you apply ORTHO UNIPEL 21-7-14 fertilizer this fall on Potash-responsive corn fields.

This UNIPEL Single Application fertilizer meets the local soil requirement for more Potassium than Phosphorus... to correct a nutrient imbalance caused by continuous high-yielding crops. It's the choice uniform single application fertilizer of many top corn growers. Many prefer a Fall application, but know if time gets away they can be equally assured of top results from Spring applied 21-7-14.

The homogeneous, uniformly-sized UNIPEL fertilizer pellets assure even spreading, well-balanced field fertility and plant feeding in the precise complete N-P-K ration you planned. The result — uniform plant maturity, higher yields and profits.

Let us provide you with precise recommendations for a Fall application of ORTHO UNIPEL 21-7-14 to meet your corn yield and profit goals.

Bulletin views future of Del. ag

NEWARK, Del. — Adjustments by Delaware's agricultural industry are the subject of a forward-looking bulletin published recently by the University of Delaware Cooperative Extension Service. The publication, "Delaware Agriculture in the 1980s: Future Direction," was written by community and resource economics specialist Gerald F. Vaughn and retired assistant extension director Willard T. McAllister, also an agricultural economist.

The 110-page bulletin is perhaps the most comprehensive review of the competitive position of Delaware agriculture ever produced. It was prepared for a seminar held by the College of Agricutural Sciences in observance of the 150th anniversary of the university's chartering. It contains sections on general economic trends in U.S. and Delaware agriculture, plus sections on the following commodities: poultry and eggs; field crops; vegetables and fruits; dairy and livestock; and greenhouse, nursery and forest products. Agricultural land and water resource management is also covered.

A major conclusion of the writers is that "Farmers with manageable debts, well conceived operating plans, an understanding of competitive economic theory, and good management and marketing skills can survive and thrive in Delaware."

They predict that continued economic pressure to convert some of the state's agricultural land base to nonagricultural use will focus greater public attention on the issue of farmland preservation during the 1980s. Environmental problems — particularly those related to chemical and animal waste management — also will receive greater attention. Adoption of "best management practices" seems essential to solving these problems and avoiding added regulation of agriculture, the writers say.

They suggest that more efficient use of available resources — nutrients, soil and water — and more intensive farming of existing cropland are most likely to increase future agricultural output in the state, with irrigation offering the greatest potential of any technology for increased production.

Vaughn and McAllister also suggest that farmers and other agribusiness firms must become better financial and business managers in order to survive the economic pressures of the current decade. Greater diversification may be needed to achieve better allocation of resources and to avoid the crippling economic effects of prolonged periods of low prices, unfavorable weather, or serious diseases in broilers, soybeans and/or corn.

The writers point out that agricultural organizations in the state can benefit by working together toward a unified policy and by developing stronger leadership in order to represent their common concerns more effectively to local, state and federal lawmakers.

Copies of this informative and thought-provoking bulletin are available at county extension offices in Newark (738-2506), Dover (736-1448) and Georgetown (856-5250). Ask for "Delaware Agriculture In The 1980's."

Pa. REA holds meeting

HERSHEY — Leaders of the rural electric cooperatives of Pennsylvania and New Jersey met this week in Hershey for the 42nd annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association. Almost 300 rural electric cooperative directors, managers, and key employees attended the event at the Hotel Hershey.

Llewellyn King, the well known editor of the national trade publication, The Energy Daily, served as the keynote speaker for the function.

Representatives of several major research organizations made presentations on emerging energy resources. Speakers from Westinghouse Corporation, United Technologies, and the University of Delaware discussed the current status and potential of fuel cells, photovoltaics, and synthetic fuels.

Thomas S. Condit, the new president of the National Consumer Cooperative Bank discussed the changing role of cooperatives in our society. Condit recently joined the Consumer Cooperative Bank.

The meeting began on Wednesday with Committee meetings, run through three general sessions, and concluded with a board meeting on Friday.

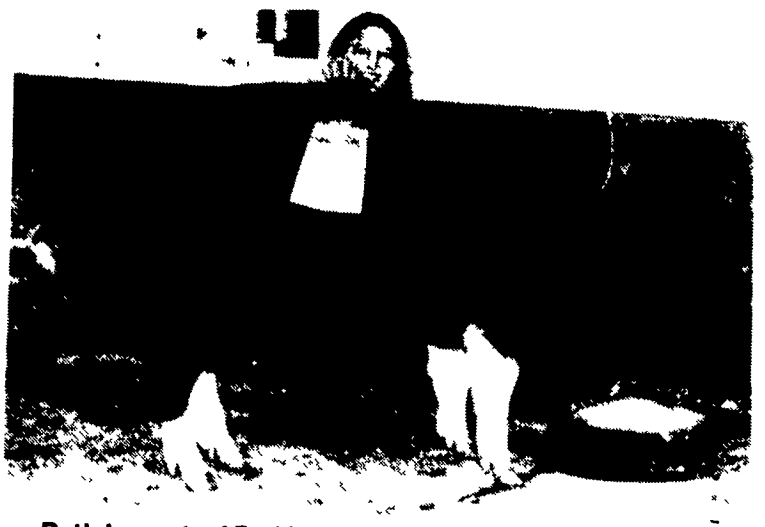
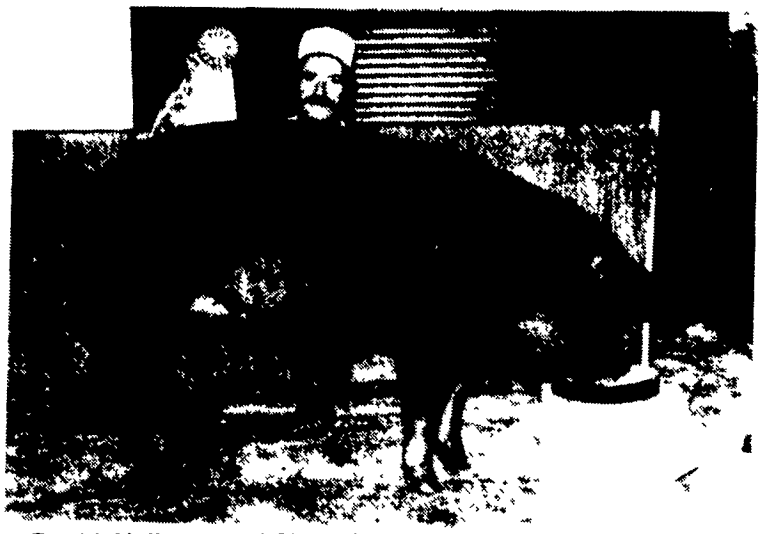
Pa. exhibitors dominate KILE breeding swine

Franklin Feeser, Taneytown, Md., with champion Yorkshire gilt.



Beth Innerst, of Red Lion, with champion Berkshire gilt.



David Halloway, of New Freedom, with champion Duroc gilt.

HARRISBURG — With the exception of the Chester Whites, which attracted more distant entries at its Eastern National Spotlight Show and Sale, the breeding swine categories at KILE were pretty well dominated by familiar Pennsylvania breeders.

Chester White rosettes were captured by L. Bidner, of Mahomet, Il., champion boar; Gale Bressner, of Chenoa, Il., champion gilt; H. Freter, Willow Springs, Mo., reserve boar; and Pennsylvanian Jim Parlett, Airville, moved into the winner's circle with the reserve champion gilt.

(For more on the Chester White Show and Sale, see separate story.)

John Strawbridge, of Stewartstown, was again in multiple evidence in the champion's circle with both the top two Hampshire boars and gilts and the champion Yorkshire boar. The champion and reserve York gilts and the reserve York boar were shown by Franklin Feeser, of Taneytown, Md.

In the Poland China division, the championship gilt honors were swept by Rocky Acres Farm, of New Tripoli. No grand or reserve boars were named.

Dennis Grumbine, of Myerstpown, had the champion Berkshire boar and Greg and Beth Innerst, of Red Lion, showed the champion and reserve gilts.

In spotted swine, James Parlett, of Airville, was the dominant exhibitor, taking the champion boar and champion and reserve champion gilt honors. The reserve champion boar ribbon went to Whiskey Run Farm, of Chambersburg.

And in Durocs, Jeff McConn, of Alexandria, showed the champion boar and David Holloway, of New Freedom, was back in the winner's circle with the champion gilt. The reserve championship in gilts went to Rick Pfautz, of Stevens,; while the reserve champion boar was exhibited by Happy Acres Farms, of Waterloo, N.Y.

Chester Whites bring 'national' to East

BY DONNA McCONAUGHEY

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania Chester White Breeders hosted the first Eastern National Chester White Spotlight Show and Sale in conjunction with KILE.

Pennsylvania breeders not only hosted the event but they also showed that top quality Chesters are being bred in the east.

Jim Parlett, of Airville, who was instrumental in bringing the show to the East Coast, captured the Reserve Champion Gilt award with a February gilt sired by Troubadour and out of a HF Avoid dam. This stylish gilt was bred to GB Sound, the top-indexing boar from the National Test Station and originated from the Gale Bressner herd. She sold to Phillip Johnson of Elkton, Maryland for $500.

Champion Gilt honors went to Gale Bressner, of Chenoa, Ill., on a February gilt also. This fancy, deep-bodied pig was sired by Sound, the top-gaining, top-indexing, top-selling boar at the 1981 National Barrow Show, and was out of a My Haven King dam. She carried the service of Movin On. During the championship drive the judge remarked, "This gilt is even better than the champion at the National Barrow Show three weeks ago." She sold to Franklin Feeser of Taneytown, Maryland for $875.

Chester Whites

Judge, Rick Maloney of Duncan, Oklahoma complemented Chester breeders throughout the show on the fine set of hogs exhibited. Maloney has judged Chesters at the last two National Barrow shows and is scheduled to officiate at the 1984 Southeastern National Duroc Congress.

"Most of the Chesters shown here today could easily have competed at the National Barrow Show," stated Maloney.

Maloney, who the day after the show would be back home making a living at raising and showing hogs, gave some of his highest compliments to the superb boar offering at this show and sale. He opened his comments on the March boar class with, "the first six or seven in this class are all excellent, and each breeder should evaluate them on the basis of what their breeding program needs."

The Champion Boar was a March pig exhibited by Lyle Bidner and family of Mahomet, Ill. This free-moving, deep-sided boar was sired by DSF Power Play, Champion at the 1982 National Barrow Show.

Fellow Chester White breeder Keith Eads of Illinois purchased this powerful, level-topped boar for $2100.

The Reserve Champion Boar was also a March pig shown by Hank Freter and Sons of Willow Springs, Missouri. A wide-chested, heavy-boned boar, this winner was sired by PF Tiger and out of a Comin-At-Ya dam. He goes back to the Dakota sow line which is one of the longest, best-testing females on the Freter ranch. Roy Keener of Munex, Pa. Bid $875 to take this boar home.

Pennsylvania Chester White breeders sponsored several trophies for the show. These included Premier Sire which was won by Lyle Bidner and Family on the Power Play boar. They topped Jim Parlett of Airville by one point. Parlett's outstanding sire was Troubador.

The Preimer Exhibitor Award also went to Lyle and Mary Jane Bidner and Family of Mahomet, Ill.

The sale offering included 18 boars and 30 gilts of which 15 were bred. Twelve boars sold averaged $546 and twenty-five gilts averaged $337. The high quality of these animals carried throughout the sale. Many of the exhibitors have made up the backbone of the Chester White breed for several years. They also made a committment to "hold back" some of their top animals for this show and sale. This was done and expenses incurred to show at KILE despite the fact that they knew prices are usually not as strong in the east.

Dan Parrish, Executive Secretary of the Chester White Record Association, explained the reason the breed tackled an endeavor such as this. "Our primary purpose was to expose more of the east to what the Chester breed is all about. This show has been in the planning stages for some time now. These breeders didn't come here expecting big prices, they came with the idea of expanding the breed through more exposure to the hog men of this area."

It is commendable that Chester White breeders, certainly not the largest in number of the purebred hog industry, would join forces across the nation to promote and market their product. Perhaps other breeds will take note and follow suit. It also will take a strong committment on the part of Pennsylvania Breed associations to host an outstanding event such as the 1983 National Chester White Spotlight Show and Sale.

Grassland group attends convention

NEW HOLLAND — On Monday, nine members of the Grassland FFA Chapter left for the 56th Annual National FFA Convention to be held in Kansas City, Mo. this week.

Members attending this year are Marlin Mast, Scott Bailey, Tom Stoltzfus, Lamar King, Linda good, Brian Hurst, Dave Fulton, Kevin Martin, and Chris Schnader. Serving as Advisor and chaperones for the group are Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ogline. The group plans on stopping at the Air Force Museum in Dayton, Ohio; Indy 500; Lincolns Home at Springfield, Ill.; and Mark Twain's Museum in Hannibal, Mo. The return trip will include a stop at the Gateway to the West Arch in St. Louis, Mo. The group is traveling by mini bus and will be returning on Monday morning.

Also attending from the Grassland FFA Chapter are Carolyn Witmer and Ronald Martin. Carolyn as State President is serving as a State Delegate at the National Convention. Carolyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Witmer of East Earl. Ron is currently serving as Eastern Regional Vice-President and will be attending with the rest of the State officers. Ron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin of Narvon.

HAROLD ALTHOUSE — FARM BUREAU SALESMAN

Harold's favorite variety is EASTLAND 6883! When Harold talks corn, we listen. As a past Pa. 5-Acre Corn Club State Winner, he can pick the genetic yield potential to get the job done.

At the Daniel Levengood plot, Berks County (pictured above), he told us why corn growers using 105 day varieties should use some EASTLAND 6883...

1. CONSISTENT YIELD - this three-way tolerates variable soil types and stress conditions.
2. STIFF STALKS - once you've grown bushel after bushel of E-6883, you've got it! It stands!!
3. NICE DRYDOWN FOR MATURITY.

See Harold or your Eastland Dealer before November 24, 1983 for best buys and availability!

Penn State takes barrow title

HARRISBURG — Penn State showed the grand champion barrow on-foot during the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Open Barrow Show at the Farm Show Complex.

Penn State's entry was also the champion open barrow on-foot of the Crossbred competition. It had also taken the first place ribbon in the Crossbred medium-weight division.

The reserve grand champion barrow on-foot was exhibited by Franklin Feeser, of Taneytown, Md. Feeser's mediumweight Yorkshire hog was also named champion barrow on-foot in the Yorkshire division.

James Parlett, of Airville, exhibited both the champion and reserve barrows in the Chester White division. In the Duroc division, the champion title was won by LaVern Weller & Sons of Dwight, Ill., while Happy Acres Farm, of Waterloo, N.Y., captured the reserve ribbon.

Both the champion and reserve champion awards in the Hampshire division were won by Strawbridge & McCleary, of Stewartstown; while Rocky Acres Farms, of New Tripoli, took top honors in the Poland China division.

The Lazarus Brothers, of Germansville, won the champion ribbon in the Spotted Swine division as well as the reserve champion ribbon in the Yorkshire division. The reserve champion Spotted Swine title went to Keith Brad of Abbottstown.

Spotted swine champion open barrow with Les Lazarus, of Lazarus Brothers, of Germansville.

Poland China open barrow-on-foot with Steven Wessner, of Rocky Acres Farm, New Tripoli.

Poultry team is competing

NEW HOLLAND — Three Lancaster County FFA members are competing in the National FFA Poultry Contest in Kansas City, Mo. The contest, sponsored by Victor F. Weaver Inc., and Hubbard Farms is being held in conjunction with the 56th National FFA Convention this week.

Team members are Nelson Horning, R1, Denver; Jim Weidman, Bowmansville; and Jere Hoover, R1 Conestoga. Horning and Weidman are students at Garden Spot High School, while Hoover attends Penn Manor High School. Robert B. Lauffer, vocational agriculture instructor at Garden Spot High School is the team coach.

The poultry contest is one of 11 National FFA Contests held annually as part of the convention. Contestants will judge hens and pullets, present oral reasons, dressed boilers and turkeys, and grade eggs by exterior examination, candling, and broken out qualities.

To qualify for this national competition, Horning, Weidman, and Hoover placed 1st, 2nd, and 3rd respectively in the state FFA poultry contest held at Penn State this past June.

Victor F. Weaver Inc., and Hubbard Farms provide funds for contest administration, team travel, and awards breakfast and trophies and awards for winning teams and high scoring individuals.

KEYSTONE INTERNATIONAL LIVESTOCK EXPOSITION

Merino show held

HARRISBURG — Merino breeders held a national show in conjunction with KILE. There were 125 head exhibited which was the most of any non-sale breed.

Breeders from two Ohio farms walked away with the "best of show" awards. Joan Hess and Sons of Cable, Ohio, had the Champion Ram, the Reserve Champion Ram, and the Champion Ewe, all of which were home-bred sheep. The Hess family was also named the recipient of the first place exhibitor flock and captured the premier exhibitor plaque.

"Jerry Frame 64" took the ribbon for Reserve Champion Merino ewe. The owner was R. David White of Blue Rock, Ohio.

Energy Edicts

By James W. Garthe

Penn State Ext. ag engineer

Any method that will lower the heating requirements of your environmentally controlled swine building and at the same time improve the ventilation will save money and also improve the environment of the house, says James W. Garthe, Penn State Extension agricultural engineer.

Finding such a method becomes particularly important when you consider that in a typical environmentally controlled swine building, up to 90 percent of the energy used for space heating is exhausted through the ventilation system.

Underfloor ventilation, also called pit ventilation, is an option that is becoming more popular among Pennsylvania producers with existing underfloor manure storage facilities.

In conventional ventilation systems, cool, dry air from the ventilation intake tends to drop, forcing moist odorous air and gases up and out of the pit. The minimum ventilation rate must therefore be increased to keep the facility's gas and odor at safe levels for the pigs.

Underfloor ventilation is designed to pull the warmer ceiling air down to the pigs, while pulling manure gases out through the exhause fan. It does this through ducts beneath the slotted floors, with exhause fans which are attached to the ducts and located outside the building. The ducts are usually PVC piping with holes spaced a set distance apart depending on the length of the room.

With underfloor ventilation, the minimum ventilation rate can be used with comfort. The slotted floors remain dryer because of the air moving over them and a more uniform temperature is kept throughout the building.

With the rising price of energy today, a producer can't afford not to put one of these systems in, Garthe says.

Reichards gets 'American'

WAYNESBORO — Gerald J. Reichard, of Waynesboro, has been nominated to receive the American Farmer Degree, highest degree presented by the National Future Farmers of America (FFA) Organization. Reichard was nominated for the degree by the Pa FFA Association.

One of 742 FFA members nominated for the American Farmer Degree, Reichard received the degree in a special ceremony on Friday, November 11.

The American Farmer Degree is much sought after because it is only presented to approximately one member in 600 of the 468,953 member organization. It is presented only by the National FFA Organization to members who have demonstrated exceptional agricultural and leadership achievements.

Gerry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Reichard of Waynesboro and is currently a junior at Delaware Valley College, majoring in Animal Husbandry.

He earned the American Farmer Degree on the basis of a Home and Farmstead Improvement Program and the Development of a Swine Farming Partnership.

Also, Gerald W. Reichard, vocational agriculture instructor and FFA Advisor at Waynesboro Area Senior High School, has been nominated to receive the FFA's Honorary American Farmer Degree.

Reichard was nominated for the Degree by the PA FFA Association and the nomination was approved by the National FFA Board of Directors which recently met in Alexandria, Va.

Reichard has been a vocational agriculture teacher at Waynesboro Area SHS for 13 years.

Gerald W. Reichard, left, Vo-Ag Teacher at Waynesboro Area Senior High School; and Gerald J. Reichard, Member of Blue Ridge FFA Chapter, Past PA FFA Officer; are congratulated on receiving American degrees by Glenn M. Herrold, Vo-Ag Teacher, Waynesboro Area Senior High School; Louis M. Barlup, Jr., Principal, Waynesboro Area Senior High School; and Paul G. Benchoff, Head Vo-Ag Teacher, Waynesboro Area Senior High School.

Cedar Crest inducts Greenhands

LEBANON — On Wednesday, Oct. 26, Cedar Crest FFA held its Greenhand Activities Night. Nine freshmen and 27 other members attended this meeting of induction into the FFA. The freshmen were divided into three teams, and these teams participated in several contests, including balloon bursting; milk chugging, nailing, whistling, wheelbarrow racing, and bag jumping, bale throwing, bale stacking, corn shelling, and corn picking. The "Corn Huskers" Team won the freshman contests. The team consisted of Derik Steckbeck, Sheldon Howe, and Timothy Donton. They received FFA T-shirts for their efforts.

The second part of the program was held in the Vo-Ag classroom where Tanya Green, State FFA Secretary, spoke on FFA, chapter involvement, and setting goals for the future. After she spoke the freshmen viewed slides of the Chapter's activities.

Wayne Co. DHIA to meet Monday

HONESDALE — The annual meeting of the Wayne County Dairy Herd Improvement Association will be conducted Monday evening, November 14, 7:45 p.m. at the Belmont Fire Hall. A roast capon dinner will be served.

A highlight of the annual meeting will be awards presentations to dairymen who have made outstanding achievements during the past year.

Speaker for the event will be Tom Jurchak, County Extension Director, Lackawanna County. He will discuss the current milk marketing situation with emphasis on dairy economics and the status of the compromise dairy bill in Washington.

Tom writes a monthly newsletter on milk marketing and has been a frequent speaker at dairy events in the Northeastern states.

All interested persons are welcome including dairymen who are not members of the Wayne County Dairy Herd Improvement Association. Reservations may be made by calling the Wayne County Agricultural Extension Office 253-5970.

Century Farm deadline Monday

CHAMBERSBURG — Franklin County Agent John Shearer stresses that completed Century Farm Application Forms, for the 1983 observance, are due in the County Extension Office on Monday, Nov. 14.

Following approval by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, the awards will be presented to eligible recipients at the county Farm-City Week Banquet, Tuesday, Nov. 22, at the Kauffman Community Center.

To be eligible for Century Farm status, the farm must have been in the same family for at least the past 100 years; must contain at least ten acres of the original holding or gross over $1000 annually from the sale of farm products; and...a family member must live on the farm now.

County Farm-City Week Chairman, Dalton Paul, urges all eligible farmers to secure application forms immediately from the Franklin County Extension Office (263-9226), and return them, completed and notarized, by the deadline date.

Trap shoot is held

LEBANON — On Oct. 20, the Cedar Crest FFA competed against Annville FFA in their annual trapshoot at the Palmyra Sportsman's Club. Members had an opportunity to demonstrate their marksmanship skills and to learn about firearm safety.

The high scorers were Neal Boeshore with 14 hits, and Brian Boyer with 12 hits, both from Cedar Crest. Cedar Crest won the competition and received the trophy.

Other Cedar Crest members competing were Tom Price, Dave Gettel, Janice Isenberg, Jeff Ruhl, Derik Steckbeck, Frank Antrim and Jenny Embich.

Pesticide disposal outlined

NEWARK, Del. — The best way to dispose of any pesticide is to use it in a labeled (legal) application. However, users sometimes have small amounts of insecticide, herbicide or fungicide left over when they finish a job. Even in small quantities, such toxic chemicals pose a threat to the environment if not disposed of properly.

To help solve this problem, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has now released guidelines which apply to both farmers and homeowners, says University of Delaware extension entomologist Mark Graustein. Liquids in quantities of one gallon or less and dry materials of 10 pounds or less are affected.

According to Graustein, a liquid pesticide should be left in its original container with the cap securely in place to prevent spills or leaks. Then it should be wrapped in a minimum of three layers of newspaper and taped or tied so that the wrapping remains intact. He also suggests slipping the package into a plastic bag before disposal in order to retard breakdown of the newspaper. The bundle can then be placed in a trash container for routine collection.

Dry pesticide formulations (dusts, wettable powders and granular materials) in quantities of 10 pounds or less should also be left in their original containers. They should first be secured against leakage by placing them in a heavy-duty plastic bag or wrapping them in paper and tying or taping them shut. They should then be placed in an appropriate trash container for collection and delivery to a landfill.

Graustein says the heavy multiple wrappings will provide for very slow deterioration of the pesticides through chemical breakdown and microbial action.

Small amounts of pesticide, when handled as described, do not endanger trash collectors of the environment, EPA officials say. This is because a properly operated sanitary landfill presents a large dilution factor and contains the product well enough when wrapped as recommended to negate any hazardous effects.

Disposal of larger quantities of toxic waste must be determined on a case-by-case basis. Farmers of homeowners with questions should call the EPA hotline at 1-800-424-9346.

Wayne Co. 4-H final can collection

HONESDALE — The Wayne County 4-H County Council will hold its final Aluminum Can Collection on Saturday, November 19, from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., at Pethick's Farm Machinery, in Bethany. All Wayne County residents are encouraged to get all of their aluminum together for this final collection. 4-H County Council will load the truck on Sunday, November 20 at 3:00 p.m. Please call the Wayne County Extension Office at 253-5970, extension 114 for additional information.

Md. farmer is conservation finalist

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Vernon R. Foster, A Baltimore County farmer, is among the 10 finalists in the National Endowment for Soil and Water Conservation's first annual conservation awards program.

The finalists were announced at a news conference on Capitol Hill with conservation, government, congressional and industry leaders. Among them were Agriculture Secretary John Block; Sen. Roger Jepsen, R-Iowa, chairman of the Senate Agricultural Subcommittee on Soil and Water conservation and the Environment; Rep. Ed Jones, D-Tenn., Chairman of the House Agricultural Subcommittee on Conservation, Credit and Rural Development; and Dale Wolf, group vice president of the DuPont Company. it was also announced that the DuPont Company will fund this year's awards program.

Foster, who owns a 152-acre dairy farm that's been in his family since 1734, was recognized for his life-long dedication to soil and water conservation. The 10 finalists were selected from 35 state winners and will be narrowed down to three national winners later in the year.

Foster teamed up with the newly formed Baltimore Soil Conservation District 37 years ago, the same year he started farming. He was one of the first in the area to lay out his fields in contour strips. Plowing across the slope instead of up and down the hills helps create little dams to check the flow of runoff and reduce erosion.

Even though he now uses no-till to help cut down on erosion and to retain moisture, Foster still follows the same contour strip-cropping system laid out nearly four decades ago. He also uses crop rotations, alternating grass and nitrogen fixing legumes with row crops to rebuild soil tilth and fertility.

He began using no-till planting methods in 1973. Still considered by some farmers as a risky practice because the soil is not tilled before planting, it nevertheless can reduce erosion by 50 to 80 percent over conventional tillage. While Foster uses no-till primarily to control erosion, he also likes the yields he gets. In 1980, a dry year, he won top honors in the Maryland Crop Improvement Association for the highest no-till and highest overall corn yield. No-till also saves time. He figures between his son Rick, they'd only be able to plant one-third as much acreage if he used conventional planting methods.

For decades, Foster's farm has been considered a model of soil and water conservation. Hundreds of visitors have been paraded through it.

But Foster was not content to practice soil conservation on his land alone. About a year after signing up as a district cooperator, he volunteered to serve as a district board member, a post he's held ever since. For much of his tenure, he served as a district chairman of what has become known as one of the most active and progressive districts in the state and nation.

He also served as a member of the State Soil Conservation Committee between 1974 and 1982, and is now an advisory member. Foster chaired the State Committee from 1977 to 1982, during crucial years when the state's 208 agricultural water quality management plan was formulated. That program is now being considered one of the main thrusts in cleaning up the Chesapeake Bay.

4-WHEEL DRIVE
FORAGE and TILLAGE
DEMO DAY
NOVEMBER 17, 10 AM - 4 PM
at
MUNCY-CHIEF FARM
West of Susquehanna River at Muncy
Raindate - Nov 21, 1983

And

STEIGER

HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD:

- That "4-wheel drive is a status symbol?"
- That "4-wheel drives will not manuever in small fields."
- That "you cannot use a 4-wheel drive enough hours in a year."
- That "you cannot afford a 4-wheel drive"
- That "when a 4-wheel drive tractor breaks down, you're out of business."

STEIGER OWNERS TELL US:

- That "4-wheel drive produced more work in less time with considerably less expense."
- That "articulated 4-wheel drive gets us into the corners better than 2-wheelers"
- That "the hours the 4-wheel drive is not working is money in my pocket because of reduced repairs and maintenance."
- That "there is no difference between the cost of a Steiger or Versatile and a large 2-wheel drive with front assist."
- That "with Hoober's stand-by tractor program, we're never without a four-wheel drive to keep us going."

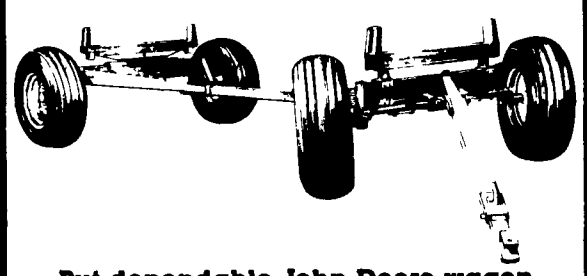
Better deal days

We're dealing far beyond our ordinary good deals to put a new John Deere on your farm

Dependable wagons

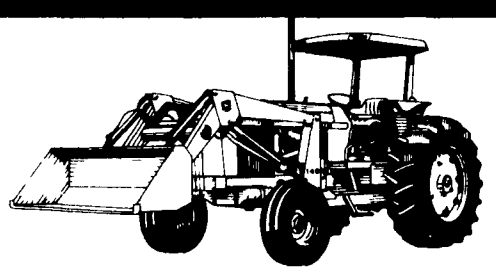


Put dependable John Deere wagon gear into your harvesting lineup

John Deere wagon gear is built with the extra strength and dependability you need whether you are using it in the field or around the yard

965 Farm Wagon
5 Ton, Standard Tongue, 9.5Lx15 Tires, ONE ONLY
$940.00

Most popular loader



John Deere's 148 Loader offers big capacities, and works perfectly with many new or old tractors

Here's our best-selling 100 Series Loader the 148 Loader Lift 3040 pounds to a maximum lift height of 10 ft 6 in

Designed to work with new or old 80- to 130-hp John Deere tractors

148 Farm Loader with Independent Controls, 84" Bucket and Mounting Stand - Will Mount On 2520, 3020, 4000, 4020, 4030, 4040, 4050, 4230, 4240, 4250, 4320, 4430 and 4440 Tractors - ONE ONLY

John Deere's 1710A Mulch Tiller — level it in transport and it stays level in the field

Combined tillage saves time, fuel and soil. The curvature of 22-inch spherical blades works with the gang angle to cut heavy trash better than coulters. Heavy-duty 1½x2-inch chisel standards shatter soil and mix residue, with power to spare. And, adjustments are refined for fast, easy results.

1710 A Mulch-Tiller
11 Ft., 9 Spring Trip Standards
ONE ONLY

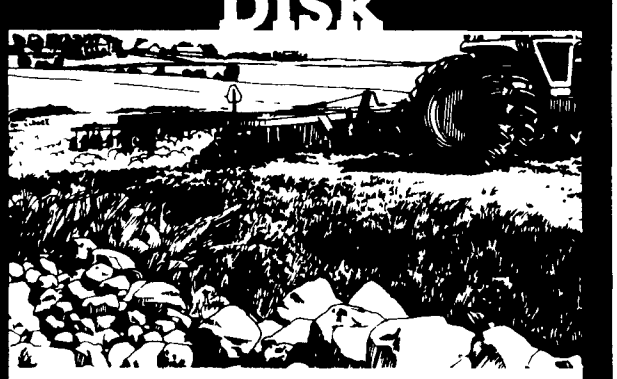
ROCK-RESISTANT DISK



Exclusive DuraCushion™ disk improves disking results in rocks

Special coil-spring standards act like heavy shock absorbers Individual gang sections flex over rocks

235 Dura-Cushion Disk

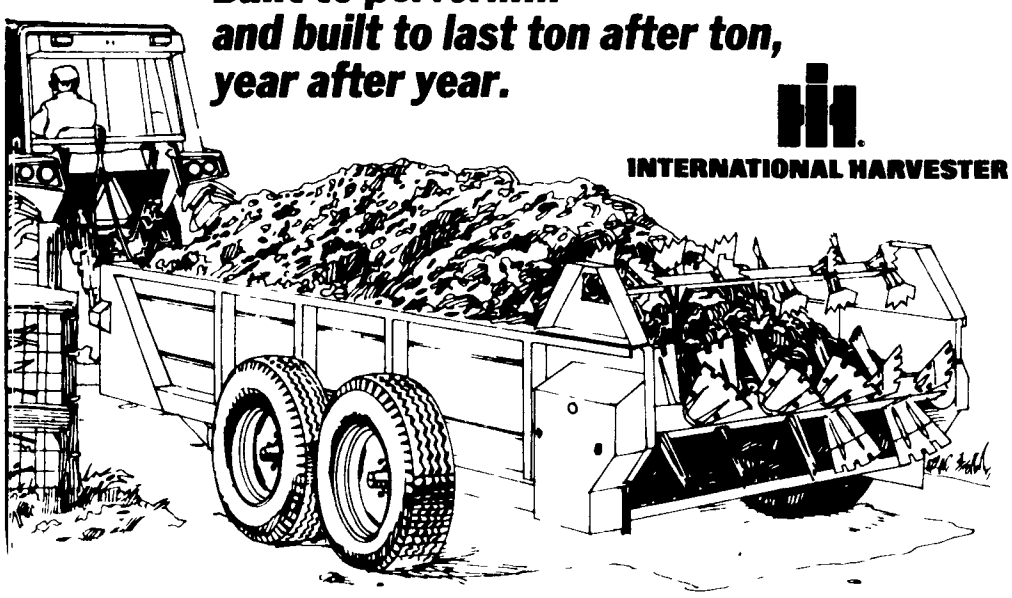
International 500 Series Spreaders

Built to perform... and built to last ton after ton, year after year.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER



If you have a lot of manure to haul and spread throughout the year, we have some good news for you six big-capacity, high-strength spreaders

Our biggest models, the 595 and 575, have heaped capacities of 343 and 271 cu ft. to handle your biggest jobs Both models have tandem wheels on bogie-type axles to help ease heavy loads over rough ground at fast spreading speeds

For smaller spreading jobs, IH offers you the 560, 550, 540 and 530 spreaders with single axles and heaped capacities from 148 to 255 cu ft They have many of the design features you'll find in the larger sizes

- Bear Claw beaters for good shredding and spreading action
- Beveled worm gear for long life of the drive components

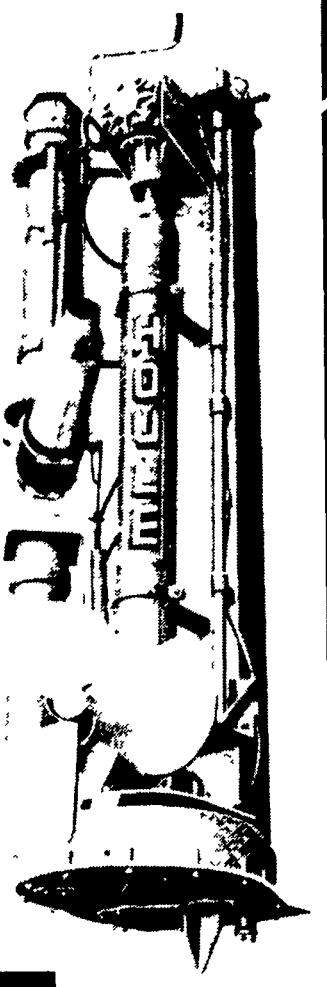
The MANURE PUMP with a BIG BITE

If you are trying to agitate and pump manure without this big propellor and positive cutting blade, you probably aren't doing it as fast as you could.

This big 24" steerable propellor agitates even the hardest of manure storage pits with heavy bedding at displacement rates of 18,000 gallons per minute. The cutting blade will chop long straw bedding and hay from feed bunks to mix it into a rich and creamy fertilizer. This pump is available for all sizes of storage areas in lagoon, trailer, 3-point hitch, and stationary models.



Don't be caught short of enough pump to do the job.

Call us today for more information or a free demonstration.

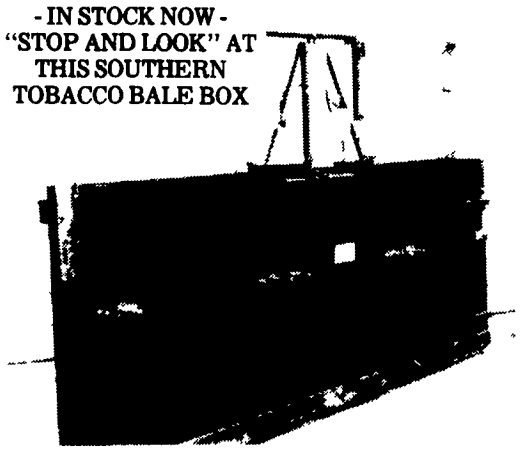
IF YOU HAVE "SOUTHERN" TOBACCO!

- IN STOCK NOW -
"STOP AND LOOK" AT THIS SOUTHERN TOBACCO BALE BOX



Maryland tobacco has found its way to market in the Pennsylvania area. A new method has been designed to pack this type tobacco Size and grade of these bales are important for marketing this tobacco in the Southern States.

A baling box machine should be used which puts up tobacco in 12"x22" bales and weigh 55 to 65 lbs. This size is very important for marketing in Southern auctions. Also lower moisture in this type tobacco is required by the Southern buyers. Cotton twine must be used to tie bales. Proper processing is important.

GREAT THINGS ARE HAPPENING IN POWL COUNTRY

A message to dairymen from Ms. Udderly, The Powl Country Cow:

You may not realize it, but I get heartburn too. The pH of my rumen should be 6.5 - 6.8.

My question to you is - how am I to perform up to your expectations when I suffer from rumen ache (acidosis)?

The problem starts because of too much haylage, corn silage, high moisture corn, and not enough dry, long-stemmed hay.

How do I get rumen relief?

Livestock Ledger

By

Chester D. Hughes

Extension Livestock Specialist

By the time you read this article, many of our local 4-H members will have completed their projects, exhibited their animals and participated in a sale of market livestock. For many of these youngsters, the 1983 project year has come to an end, while others, whose animals have been selected, will compete in the 1984 Pennsylvania Farm Show.

In Lancaster County, 76 boys and girls raised market hogs as a project which ended at either the County Roundup in August or the New Holland Fair in September. Over 40 members raised either breeding or market sheep projects with their roundup being held November 11 at the Manheim Farm Show grounds. The New Holland Beef Club's 28 members exhibited and sold their steer projects at the New Holland Fair in September. The 72 members of the Red Rose Beef Club were just involved in both their county roundup and the Southeast District Beef Show and Sale on November 11 and 12. The best market lambs and steers have been chosen to represent Lancaster County at the Pennsylvania Farm Show, In addition 14 4-H market hogs will also be shown at the state show in January.

The 4-H livestock experience is one that involves dedication, determination, long hours, successes, failures, and satisfaction. The love between man and animal is truly shown through a 4-H livestock project yet each member learns the true purpose of meat animal production. Participating in monthly club activities and meetings builds character, sharpens leadership skills, and enables our youth to interact and make new friends.

The project year for many has come to an end, yet many have already selected project animals for next year or have signed up to again participate in a great 4-H experience. Beef projects begin in the fall by purchasing a feeder calf to raise to market weight. Lamb and pig projects start in the spring of the year and are less time consuming.

The 4-H program is open to anyone between the ages of 8-19. Our capable volunteer leaders are very willing to help you or a friend get started in a livestock project. For further information feel free to call your local County Extension Office.

Extra steps needed for greater feeder calf returns

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — In the cow-calf business, considerable time and money is invested in a weaned calf crop.

Consider two extra steps to protect that investment and increase your odds for profit, says Dr. Kurt Wohlgemuth, Extension veterinarian at North Dakota State University.

First, precondition those calves. The simplest way to benefit is to participate in a state certified preconditioning program. Active programs exist in Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota and Tennessee.

Second, use program options to insure broad health protection and increase the value of the calves, Wohlegemuth says.

Basically a health program, preconditioning is gaining popularity as a marketing tool as well. Preconditioning initially was designed to prepare the calf to better withstand the stress of movement from point of origin through the marketing channels.

Though state standards vary slightly, preconditioning normally includes adequate castration and dehorning, weaning at least three weeks prior to sale, control of parasites and immunization against major diseases.

The local veterinarian who has done the work, or who can verify it, signs a certificate which declares the calves are preconditioned and lists the specific treatments.

Buyers benefit from reduced death loss and sickness in the calves, and improved performance. And, Wohlgemuth says, buyers have been willing to pay for that.

Sellers have received premiums on preconditioned calves of $1 to $4.50 per hundredweight over similar quality, nonpreconditioned calves, according to individual states' figures. There are other advantages, proponents say.

At marketing, preconditioned calves normally weigh heavier than green calves, Wohlgemuth says. That extra weight alone should pay the cost. And while they're still in the producer's hands, disease control also is an economic advantage.

"We assumed in the past that we wouldn't see many respiratory problems in calves raised and weaned on the same farm – only in calves that have been transported and stressed," says Dr. Kenneth White, a private practitioner in Perryville, Mo.

"We do now. We're currently treating 'original farm' calves for bovine respiratory disease complex."

Disease protection at home, plus the extra sale value, have led to more use of the immunizations and procedures listed as "optional" in many state programs.

"Depending on local conditions and the buyer, some options may be necessities. The veterinarian working with the herd should be consulted on choices," Wohlgemuth emphasizes.

Some state programs require only IBR, PI3 and multipleclostridial vaccinations. Others commonly include BVD and pasteurella. An increasingly popular option, Haemophilus somnus, now is mandatory in Kansas and Kentucky, and gaining support in Missouri.

"We recommend Haemophilus somnus and pasteurella on all the calves we precondition," White says. "When we've got the calves up, we try to vaccinate and protect them for as many things as we can. I think it helps and it's not much more expensive."

Another Missouri veterinarian, Dr. Dick Taylor, of Fayette, says he's confirmed cases of H. somnus in local feedlots and cowherds. "We've seen eight or ten breaks in the last couple of years," he said.

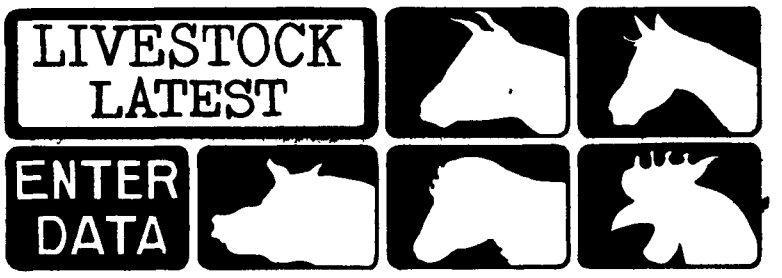
"Our main pneumonia problem is haemophilus underneath other organisms. I think we've controlled the other problems and now we're seeing the haemophilus," Taylor says. "I definitely want haemophilus (vaccine) in the calves."

Another big reason Taylor recommends full protection, including haemophilus, is marketing. "The biggest preconditioned calf market in our area has several order buyers that will not bid on calves unless they have haemophilus (vaccine) in them."

Wohlgemuth says buyer preference for specific vaccines – like the protection needs – will vary with areas. A check with your buyer, or marketing representative and veterinarian can help you decide on options.

"All other things being equal, in well-managed herds, the extra options can help protect calves and add value to them," he says.

White had another marketing observation. "The advantage in selling preconditioned calves is partly psychological – buyers seem to think they've come from better-managed herds," he says. "Fly (insecticide) tags and identification tags will help that perception along, too."



Limousin breed sees growth

DENVER, Co. — The North American Limousin Foundation (NALF), Denver, Colo., reported a 12 percent increase in both new registrations and transfers for the 1982-83 fiscal year.

According to Dr. Greg Martin, NALF executive vice president, the association registered 49,182 new animals and processed 33,183 transfers during the fiscal year that ended Aug. 31.

The breakdown of new registrations by percentage presents a good picture of where the breed, which was introduced in North American only 15 years ago, stands in its development.

When the Limousin Foundation was formed in 1968, French cattle were not eligible for importation into the United States. However, Canada did accept the imports after a strict quarantine program, and semen from Canadian bulls could be shipped throughout North America.

As a result, the Limousin breed founders adopted a policy which allowed the recording of low percentage heifers, 37 percent, and bulls 50 percent. This policy allowed breeders to begin with foundation cows (no Limousin blood) and upgrade to purebred Limousin by using Limousin bulls for several generations.

This year's figures show that the policy is fulfilling its intent. Of the Limousin cattle recorded during the past year, 33 percent were in the purebred category, 32 percent were seven-eighths Limousin, 19 percent were three-quarter bloods, 13 percent were half-bloods and only 3 percent were less than one-half Limousin.

After only 15 years, Limousin is coming into maturity as a cattle breed in the United States. However, even with this new maturity, the breed continues to grow in numbers and popularity, as evidenced by a 14 percent increase in lifetime memberships and a 13 percent increase in junior memberships during the last year.

Martin attributes this steady growth to the fact that Limousin cattle work for the commercial man.

"Calving ease, good growth rate and feeder calves that bring a premium because of their ability to grow and stay lean have been the keys to our acceptance by the beef industry," Martin said.

Kidney stones major problem among caged laying hens

UNIVERSITY PARK — Kidney stones have become a major cause of death among caged laying hens in the U.S. The disease has been severe the past two years but has plagued poultrymen for 10 years in Great Britian.

The disease damages only the kidneys of domestic fowl, according to Robert F. Wideman of Penn State's Department of Poultry Science. Affected hens show no consistent external symptoms and no other internal organs are involved routinely.

Since the urinary tract ("uro") contains stones or "liths" in infected hens, the disease is known as urolithiasis (uro-lith-i-sis). Research to uncover the cause is challenging the skills of poultry scientists at Penn State.

Small regions of the kidneys are destroyed during early stages of the disease. As tissue destruction progresses, large sections of the kidneys simply disappear.

In general, only one kidney is damaged, Dr. Wideman states in the upcoming Fall issue of "Science in Agriculture," the quarterly magazine of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Penn State. He said debris from the damaged tissue seems to serve as a focal point for stones to begin forming, although extensive damage can occur without stone formation.

The stones contain calcium and uric acid. The latter is the major form of excreted nitrogen in poultry.

Kidney damage progresses slowly enough that many hens are able to survive through their egg production cycle. Kidney stones have been detected in hens as young as 10 weeks of age and as old as 70 weeks. Active laying hens have survived for 70 weeks with only one-fourth of their kidney tissue remaining.

Two attacks of kidney stones can often result in death. First, a decrease in functioning kidney tissue can allow nitrogenous wastes to accumulate in the blood. The accumulated uric acid can block capillaries and lymphatic vessels, killing the hens. Second, large stones can abruptly block the urinary tract, preventing all remaining kidney tissue from functioning properly. Death then occurs within two days.

"We are currently preparing an all-out assault on the urolilthiasis problem," Dr. Wideman said. "We know that an 'initiating event' probably occurs early in life, prior to 10 weeks of age."

"Combined studies by various Penn State scientists are being carried out to identify the causes of kidney stones. Field outbreaks and case histories are being evaluated. Recently, we caused urolithiasis under controlled conditions in a laboratory. Dietary modifications will be tested in an attempt to prevent stone formation," he added.

The overall impact of urolithiasis generally reflects the quality of flock management, Dr. Wideman said. Under the most desirable management conditions, urolithiasis causes only one to three percent increase in monthly mortality. With less desirable management conditions, death can rapidly exceed 50 percent of a flock.

Egg production suffers during an outbreak of kidney stones. Wideman and associates believe this is correlated with the fact that kidneys of laying hens undergo dramatic daily cycles. These 24-hour cycles are associated with the stages of egg formation. The best layers appear to be most severely affected by urolithiasis since their kidney undergo more cyclic stresses than the kidneys of poor or non-layers.

In the absence of stone formation, remnant kidney tissue is able to continue functioning. Ultimately, Dr. Wideman and associates should be able to describe to flock managers the cause, appropriate treatment, and preventive measures for kidney stones in laying hens.

Paint Horse champions announced

HARRISBURG — Two entries from Ohio took top ribbons Nov. 5 in the 1983 Paint Horse Show. The show was held in conjunction with the Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

"Clegs Shot Round," a three-year-old stallion owned by Donald Vaughn, Lorain, Ohio, took honors for grand champion stallion, while "Sweet Oil," a two-year-old filly, captured the ribbon for grand champion mare. The mare is owned by Gary and Frances Inskeep, Richwood, Ohio.

The reserve grand champion stallion, "Broadway Fancy," also a three-year-old, was shown by P & A Burgon Stevenson, Lafayette, N.Y. the reserve grand champion mare, "Miss J Bar Seeker," was exhibited by Crystal Garvin, Pennfield.

Showing the grand champion gelding, "One Spot Tommy," a four-year-and-older entry, were James and Jill Pacelli, Clinton, N.Y. The reserve grand champion gelding, "Mr. Perfection," a three-year-old, was shown by Joe Luongo and D. Paulaski, Sussex, N.J.

Newly purchased feeder pigs need special care

NEWARK, DE — Load a pig on a truck with 30 or 40 of his buddies and send him down the road. Put him in a sale barn. Deprive him of feed and water. Put him back on a truck...with even more pigs, but from a different farm. Then put him in a strong environment with still more pigs, and expect him to perform.

"Anybody buying or selling feeder pigs is aware of feeder pig stress and has to deal with it on a regular basis," says University of Delaware extension livestock specialist Dr. Ken Kephart. Researchers at several Midwestern universities have been taking a hard look at this problem, he says.

A summary of results from these studies was published recently by the National Pork Producers Council. Kephart has highlighted some of the findings for the benefits of area pork producers.

Transport and Fasting. The detrimental effects of transport appear to be temporary, the specialist says. Studies at both Missouri and Purdue indicate that transporting pigs and keeping them off feed and water affect performance for only the first few weeks. In one Missouri study, pigs were shipped to a simulated market and handled in one of three ways: 1. no feed or water, 2. water only, or 3. water and feed.

Pigs that stayed home had similar growth rates and feed efficiencies to those undergoing simulated marketing conditions. The pigs tolerated the shipping and handling better than expected. But in these experiments, they may not have been exposed to all the diseases for which auction barns are notorious, he says.

Source of Pigs. Scientists at Nebraska conclude that equal performance can be expected from either local pigs from one owner or pigs from distant markets from several owners. But they point out that pigs from distant markets require more health treatments and have higher death losses.

Disease. The major health problems affecting feeder pigs are respiratory distress and diarrhea, says Kephart. A 1972 survey of midwestern buyers found that 85 percent of them had death losses of 4 percent or less.

Feeder Pig Shrinkage. Total shrinkage varies. Some feeder pig buyers report live weight shrinkage of 15 percent during transport, while some researchers contend it may be as little as 5.5 percent, the specilist says. Providing feed and water to the pig during his stay at the market terminal was of little value in many studies for reducing transport shrinkage. And it appears that the weight loss encountered during the marketing process is generally regained by the third day.

Receiving Diets. What is the right protein level? Should oats be included in the ration? Should antibiotics be fed and at what level? Should they be in the water or feed?

Many researchers and farmers feel that because the newly purchased pig consumes less feed than normal, he should be on a high protein diet, Kephart says. But there are probably just as many people in the industry suggesting that a low protein diet is best.

"The fact is that we don't know how much protein a ration should contain for newly purchased pigs until more research has been conducted," he says.

A common practice for preventing scours is to increase the dietary fiber--generally through the addition of oats. Researchers at Nebraska and Missouri have conducted six studies in the past three years to determine if extra fiber is of any benefit for the control of diarrhea. Based on these studies it appears that added fiber usually will delay the onset of diarrhea and in some cases decrease its severity, the specialist says.

Nebraska researchers recommend limit feeding on the floor twice a day for the first 7 to 10 days to reduce the incidence of diarrhea. An obvious advantage of this practice is the increased daily observation, which enables prompter treatment of sick pigs, he says.

Most studies indicate a benefit from antimicrobial feed additives. "The degree of response varies, but pigs on antibiotics generally scour less, grow more efficiently, and at a faster rate," says Kephart. "Using a broad spectrum product is a logical approach, but it's not clear how long we should feed the antibiotic or at what level."

Most people agree that a pig under stress will drink before it will eat. "It follows that we should add antibiotics to the water, with or in place of those in the feed," he says. "Data regarding water medication are limited but antibiotics appear to be more effective in the water."

To summarize, the effects of transportation and processing of feeder pigs may not be as harmful as once thought, says Kephart. But these stresses in combination with disease exposure may lead to more problems than some of the university studies show. And more questions need to be answered in regard to protein, fiber and antibiotics.

"While we wait for the answers, remember that common sense goes a long way," he concludes. "Avoid overcrowded trucks. Keep the pigs comfortable during weather extremes. And leave the whip in your hip pocket."

Record number accepted for NY bull test program

ITHACA, N.Y. — A record number 113 young purebred bulls have been accepted for the 1983-84 New York State Bull Test program.

Eighty breeders from nine states have entered bulls in this uniform, unbiased performance testing program. This includes 96 bulls nominated by 63 New York State breeders, seven bulls from Pennsylvania, four from New Jersey, and one each from Maryland, Vermont, Delaware, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Montana (Each New York breeder was able to nominate two bulls while out-of-state breeders were limited to one nomination.)

The bull nominees include 39 Angus, 38 Polled Herefords, 14 Simmentals, nine Charolais, five Red Angus, three Shorthorns, two Beefalo, and one each Salers, Welsh Black, and Herefor'

The Bull Test and Sa.e at the conclusion of the test are jointly sponsored by the New York Beef Cattlemen's Association, Cornell University, Cooperative Extension, and the State Department of Agriculture and Markets. The test is conducted at the Cornell Livestock Teaching and Research Center at Harford under the direction of William Greene, livestock extension associate at Cornell.

Greene expressed appreciation at the increased number of nominations (148 which were narrowed to 113) and the out-of-state interest in the New York program.

He said breeders will bring their bulls to Harford Nov. 4 and 5 where each bull will be weighed, measured, and given a health examination and expects 100 bulls will start the 140-day test Nov. 28.

Greene said the record breaking 1983 Bull Test Sale was a factor in the increased interest in the bull test. He added, "more and more breeders with both large and small herds are accepting the value of performance testing as a basis for herd sire selection to achieve genetic improvement within their herds."

In addition to providing a recognized performance test, the Bull Test program has a second goal of making these performance tested bulls available to beef cattle producers at the May 4, 1984 sale.

Interest in the 1983-84 Bull Test will grow as monthly reports are made public at the conclusion of each weigh period. These are studied not only by breeders with bulls on test but also by many other beef cattle producers. Often a breed rivalry or a rivalry within a breed develops as the monthly average daily gain figures are issued.

In addition cattlemen will be following the on-the-farm evaluation of the bulls that completed the 1982-83 Bull Test as their first crop of calves are born during the late winter and early spring.

Information about the Bull Test may be obtained from William Greene, Morrison Hall, Ithaca, N.Y. 14853.

KANSAS CITY, MO. — An Oregon-bred bull became the Polled Hereford breed's seventh Superior Sire by completing the sire-daughter mating phase of testing.

Bred by Hawley Polled Hereford Ranch, Cottage Grove, Ore., Enforcer 107H is currently owned by Falklands Farm, Schellsburg, Pa.; Wests Polled Herefords, Spanish Fork, Utah; Pudding River Polled Hereford Ranch, Salem, Ore.; and Cen-Cal Polled Herefords, Napa, Calif.

The first "Grand Slam" Superior Sire, Enforcer collected the Gold Trophy, Gold Seal, Gold Standard and Gold Performance awards on his way to the Superior Sire honors. In the 1979-1980 show season, Enforcer progeny garnered the SOP points to put him on the Gold Trophy list the first year he was old enough to have calves in competition.

Adding the Gold Seal Award to his Gold Trophy status, Enforcer also made the elite Gold Standard list in 1980. In 1982, Enforcer sons at central bull test stations tallied the points to earn their sire the Gold Performance title. His recent completion of 21 sire-daughter matings without the occurance of horns or genetic abnormalities earned the rank of Superior Sire.

Enforcer was sired by Gold Standard Sire WSF PRL Justa Banner and is out of Lady Kay Leonard From Remitall Cattle Co., Olds, Alta. In addition to his award-winning performance in the Superior Sire Program, the 1983 Sire Summary lists him as a Trait Leader for weaning weight, yearling weight and maternal performance. The 1983 Benchmark Dam awards lists 10 half-sisters to Enforcer, sired by Justa Banner.

Roller Mixer

Rolled Feed Advantages:

• Eliminates dust & flour in feed - reduces waste
• Reduces respiratory problems
• Lower processing costs - less horsepower and time for same capacity as hammermills
• Better feed conversion - tests show 5-15 percent better conversion vs. hammermill

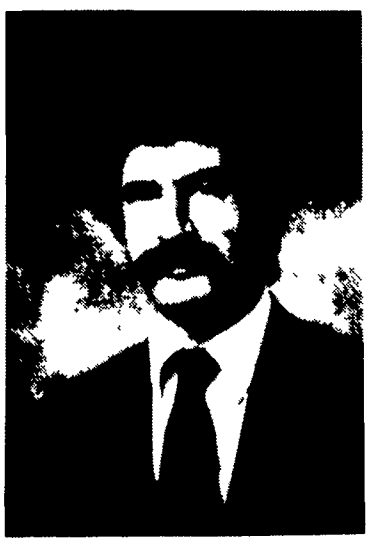
Sire Power names mgr.

Pablo A. Echevarria of Montevideo, Uruguay, has been named to the staff position of Latin America Sales Manager, according to DuWayne A. Kutz, General Manager, Sire Power, Inc.

As a member of the marketing department, Echevarria will be managing the established areas of Mexico, Central and South America, and will also be opening up new sales territory for Sire Power in these countries. He will direct and supervise the activities of established Latin American distributors to develop stronger sales activities and Sire Power programs.

Echevarria has been involved with A.I. and A.I. Training for 10 years. He worked in all aspects of A.I. He also has interest in Embryo Transfer and Reproduction Management. He attended school for his Doctor of Veterinary Medicine in Montevideo, Uruguay. Echevarria has also taken additional courses on ET work and



Pablo Echevarria

Egyptians visit U.S. farms

BY KIMBERLY HERR

WILLOW STREET — J. Mowery Frey Jr.'s Fultonway Farm, Willow Street, served as one of the model farms for Egyptian visitors during last Friday's tour.

The visitors represented various banks and the Egyptian Department of Agriculture, as well as some Egyptian news media. The group was also representing the Principal Bank for Development and Agriculture Credit, which is the sole source of credit for Egyptian farmers. Their U.S. host was the Agricultural Cooperative Development Internationl (ACDI), in Washington, D.C.

According to Gerald Phillips, of Farm Credit Service, the group was on a "fact finding tour of the United States."

George Reagan, director of training and evaluation for ACDI, explained the two main goals of the tour.

"They want to understand the farm credit system as we have it and to understand the United States' Extension system, how the information from the universities flows out to the farmers," Reagan said.

On Friday, the men visited Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, Willow Valley Restaurant, where they ate lunch, Frey's farm and the Lancaster headquarters of Farm Credit Service.

According to one of the tour participants, the most intriguing aspect of Friday was the work being conducted by Atlantic Breeders in artificial insemination.

The Egyptian visitors arrived in the United States Oct. 31 and they will remain here until Nov. 16.

After visiting Frey's farm Friday, the group was heading to Baltimore, Md., and then on to Washington D.C. for some sightseeing.

Buffington attends parts meeting

CHAMBERSBURG — Doug Buffington, Parts Manager for Chambersburg Farm Service, Inc., was one of 21 top Dealer Parts Managers from all over the U.S. chosen to attend the first International Harvester "Growing Together" national meeting held recently at the IH Agricultural Equipment General Office in Chicago, Il.

One Dealer Parts Manager was selected from each IH sales district in the country because of his ability to most effectively service customers through progressive and innovative programs. The IH Dealer said.

Chambersburg Farm Service, Inc., 975 South Main St., Chambersburg, is the local International Harvester Farm Equipment dealer. They also operate Melrose Farm Service, Greencastle.

3 bulls to ABS

DEFOREST, Wisc. — Three young Holstein bulls have been selected by American Breeders Service to enter their Progeny Testing Program.

From Pen-Col Farms, Millville, Pen-Col Debate-ET and Pen-Col Decode-ET were selected.

Their sire is Browncroft Jetson, +$285 +2,621M and +62BF and the dam is Pen-Col Elevation Delia. Their dam has production records to 21,540 lbs. of milk, with a Cow Index of +1,642M. She is classified VG-87 and is sired by Round Oak Apple Elevation.

Mowry-K Boardwalk, bred by Kenneth Mowry, of Roaring Spring, was also selected.

Mowry-K Boardwalk's sire is Cal-Clark Board Chairman, +$295, +2,527M and +72BF and the dam is Mowry-K Starlite Corinna-ET. His dam has production records to 34,570 lbs. of milk, with a Cow Index of +2,814M. She is classified VG-85 and is sired by Roybrook Starlite.

Genetic base change explained

FREDERICK, Md. — Dairymen attending the Maryland Sales Division Open House received a reassuring message from USDA on the Genetic Base Change at the Sire Power facilities near Frederick, Md.

Next year, dairymen could well see bulls in A.I. that have minus Predicted Difference values for milk and fat, according to Dr. Frank Dickinson, Chief of the Animal Improvement Programs Laboratory, and one of the major acrhitects of the sire summaries. Also, they will see a lot of cows with negative Cow Indexes. The average index for a Holstein female after the base change will be a -388, Dickinson said, and only 20 percent of the breed's cows will have positive Cow Index values.

"The increased P.D.'s are a sign of progress, and should not be thought of in terms of inflation. The base change has not cheapened the genetics available as the word inflation indicates, but dairymen are getting a bonus from genetic improvement that is a permanent asset," said Dickinson.

Dickinson reassured the audience that a genetic base must be established realistically as a reference point. Dairymen need to understand the impact of the genetic base change by evaluating these 4 areas: 1-Trait being evaluated, 2-Geographical area, 3-Time period, and 4-Breed. The basic purpose of a sire summary is to tell dairymen two things: 1) the rank of one sire to another, and 2) the relative differences between sires

"It is important to realize this does not, in any way, affect the ranking of the bulls," said Dickinson. The most important and valid use of P.D. is to rank the bulls. You can't do any better than to use the higher ranking P.D. bulls in your breeding program."

The Predicted Difference for milk will go down while Predicted Difference for percent fat will increase in the new sire summaries. Of course, the changes will vary from breed to breed, reflecting the genetic progress breeders have made since the last base was established in 1974. The average P.D. of Ayrshire bulls will drop only 637 pounds, the least among the five major dairy breeds. By contrast, Brown Swiss breeders have made the most progress, whereas, P.D.'s of their bulls will decline 1094 pounds, Dickinson said. And in the Holstein breed, P.D.'s will decline by 978 pounds of milk and 28 pounds of fat.

For example, a +2000 pound Holstein bull changes to +1022. The adjustment is pure arithmetic. The bulls have not changed, only the numbers. Differences between bulls (their ranking) will remain the same.

Dickinson left them with this suggestion, "Go home and cull your semen tanks to get the low P.D. bulls out of there, so you as a dairyman, will raise your genetic progress and growth."

Krause cites new harrow series

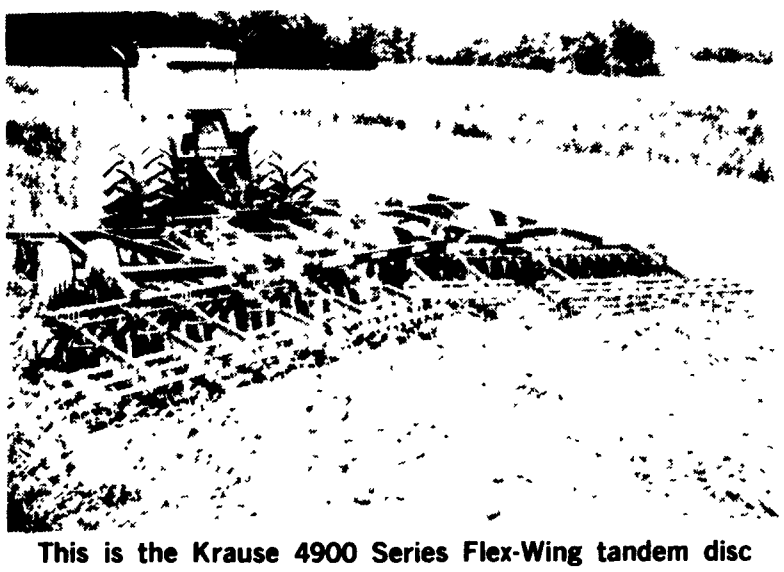
HUTCHINSON, Kan. — The 4900 Series "Flex-Wing" Tandem Disc Harrows, now available from Krause Plow Corporation, are the new generation flex wings that Krause first originated in 1966. This new fuel-saving design features the traditional three section flex-wing design and a unique new wheel linkage system that reduces field gouging.

The new wheel arrangement allows the center wheels to move backward while the wing wheels move forward providing more uniform depth gauging of the front gangs in the field position. When raised for turns, the center wheels and wing wheels are in line to provide a short turning radius and reduce side loading on the tires.

The 4900 also offers a new drop-frame design for superior strength. Separate gang beams bolt to the underside of the one-piece center and wing frames for greater strength and durability than ordinary integrated construction.

The 4900, with over 400 pounds of weight per foot of cut, is offered in working widths of 18', 21', 22', and 25' with overcenter wing fold and a 13' roading width. Other features include big 1-1/2" diameter alloy tie rods, 22" or 24" disc blades, "SuperSeal" regreaseable bearings, rigid or rock-flex bearing arms, twin leveling screws, weighted wing frames, optional hydraulic-actuated hitch, spring loaded scrapers, and tine or spike harrow attachments.

For further information on the new 4900 Series and the complete line of Krause tillage implements, contact Kruase Plow Corporation, P.O. Box 648, Hutchinson, Kan. 67501.



This is the Krause 4900 Series Flex-Wing tandem disc harrow.

Selecting soybean variety involves many criteria

DEKALB, Il.— Growers often select the new soybean varieties they want to plant solely on yield data from influential test plots. As a result, these varieties sometimes fail to perform as well as expected. While selecting a variety with a high yield potential is important, making it work for your management situation may also depend upon other characteristics.

Maturity is one of these items for consideration. Soybeans are photoperiod sensitive, which means flowering is triggered by the length of the nights. Therefore, attempts to stagger the harvest date of a particular variety by staggering the planting date will not be effective. Spreading maturity and influencing when a field is ready for harvest can best be done by planting varieties of different maturities. A full season variety should be selected as well as others that will mature four days to one week earlier. Timely harvesting of soybeans can result in two to six bushels per acre better yields. Two or three bushels can be lost by selling 9% moisture soybeans to a buyer paying on 13% moisture basis. The remainder of the loss can come from shattering or other weather-related problems.

Emergence characteristics should be a vital consideration for some people.

If you spring plow, especially marginal soils, you'll benefit from the use of top emerging soybeans. Planters providing poor depth control and poor seed-to-soil contact will amplify the importance. Fields with risk of herbicide carryover, crusting, or late planting will also draw attention to top emergence capability.

Lodging may be an annoying problem particularly for growers with irrigation, high fertility levels, or nitrogen carryover. If a field is rocky or uneven from improper tillage, lodging complicates harvest. A row-crop type combine head can help minimize the loss. Keeping the plant population at proper levels by precision planting of high quality seed also helps.

Several additional variety characteristics are very critical for some growers. Phytophthora rot ratings should be considered where there is a history of this disease or where soils are heavy and poorly drained. An excessively high calcium base saturation or low availability of iron requires soybean varieties with tolerance to iron chlorosis. Plant type and height are important for the grower using wide row spacing. Short or thin plant types do not canopy the ground properly.

It is well known that yield is important. A wise soybean grower will also pay attention to varietal characteristics important to his type of management.

Attends DeLaval course

Mike Purdue, of J.B. Zimmerman & Sons, Blue Ball, recently attended the DeLaval Agri-Systems Academy to take part in a comprehensive course in the Basic Milking System. The course included in-depth classroom instruction and hands-on training with various DeLaval equipment.

DeLaval, a division of Alfa-Laval, Inc., is a 100 year old dairy farm equipment company that markets milking, cooling, feeding, and manure handling equipment through a nationwide network of dealers.

Piston burning can have many causes

MILWAUKEE, Wisc. — The incidence of piston burning has dramatically increased in many makes of diesel engines. Seldom is there one specific cause, but rather a combination of circumstances. Simplified piston burning is caused by localized high temperatures in the piston.

What are the causes of piston burning? Basically, there are three categories: 1) detonation or irregular combustion; 2) localized hot spots caused by stuck rings, broken or cracked pistons, poor cooling; and 3) external causes such as fuels and maintenance.

Detonation ususally occurs when the combustion flame at the commencement of ignition advances irregularly, causing spontaneous ignition of the air/fuel mixture. This irregular explosion occurs with high velocity and temperatures. The high localized pressures and temperatures may reduce cylinder head capscrew torque, break pistons or rings, disturb ring insert integrity or cause other such physical destruction. Detonation is usually caused by one or more local spots and corresponding hot spots creating an irregular flame front.

We are all familiar with the "diesel rattle" associated with engine startup. This is detonation in one of its simplest forms. Some detonation causes are:

1. Improper cooling, either too hot or too cool, reflecting scale, loose belts, bad or improper thermostats, etc.

2. Improper air/fuel mixture caused by a dirty air cleaner, a sluggish turbocharger, a malfunctioning intercooler or an improperly adjusted injection system.

3. Incorrect valve timing or valve lash.

4. Excessively high or low compression ratio caused by improper parts or after resurfacing of cylinder block or head.

5. Use of fuel with improper cetane rating, mixtures including volatile ingredients such as gasoline, water present and the like.

6. Heavy local buildup of carbon. This is rather insidious in that it may be caused by any of the other factors and will continue to generate unless casual items are corrected.

7. Excessively cool inlet temperatures caused by operating at extremely low ambients or excessive idling or light load operation.

8. Excessive lugging, especially on turbocharged engines. This is very true when engines are accelerated under full load conditions from low speeds.

Localized hot spots may be created by improper seal of the compression rings, cracked pistons, improper piston cooling, scaled cylinder liners, varnish deposits, etc. All of these factors create a localized spot of high temperature which will continue to build until the piston burns or "gutters."

The basic purpose of the piston rings is to seal the combustion gases and transfer heat to the cylinder walls and the coolant. The rotation of the rings allows the even distribution of combustion gases and temperature around the circumference of the piston. Naturally, if ring rotation is halted, a hot spot will be generated at the ring gap position.

Any condition that causes the piston to operate at abnormally high temperatures will promote ring sticking.

Piston cracking or distress will also create a local hot spot. Some causes of cracking are:

1. High cylinder pressures caused by improper injection timing, incorrect injectors, overfueling, ether abuse and the like.

2. Improper handling of pistons during rebuild.

3. Operation under extremely

high loads for extended periods of time.

4. Running with extreme compression ratio due to non standard parts of improper rework techniques.

The external causes are the most difficult to pinpoint. Over the past few years we have all seen a general deterioration in fuels. This is not intended as a "slam" at the fuel suppliers, but merely indicates that the range of cetane, specific gravity, flash and ignition points have spread beyond previous limits. This situation can cause variances in engine operating temperatures and pressures as well as have a detrimental effect on injection timing and performance.

Maintenance of the engine is an on-going concern. Routine servicing of the oil system, proper air induction system care, periodic adjustments and all of the checks required in the Owners manual are necessary in order to keep the engine in prime operating condition. Any deviation from normal may create one or more of the adverse operating conditions explained previously and result in many engine problems including piston burning.

In summary, the problem of piston burning is complex and the causal factors are normally interrelated. However, prevention of this problem can be enhanced by attention to several details:

1. Maintenance of fuel, oil, air and fuel systems.
2. Careful attention to operating conditions to prevent excessive lugging, prolonged idle or operation without proper warmup.

Commercials to tell ag story

GREENSBORO, N.C. — The saga of American agriculture and the farmer's contribution to our nation's way of life will continue to be told to urban consumers in a new series of television commercials to be broadcast from late November through April on selected network TV news shows.

The commercials, sponsored by Ciba-Geigy Corp. and its Dual herbicide, are the continuation of an educational series which began last year. To reach urban consumers, the new series will air on ABC's "Good Morning America" and "This Week with David Brinkley" shows, the "CBS Early News," and on selected local programs.

Last year's series focused on the farmer's productivity, the importance of corn and soybeans to the economy, economic survival of the farmer, soil conservation and reduced tillage, and food as a bargain.

This year's commercials will highlight the 20 million agriculturally related jobs in the production and distribution of food and fiber created by America's two million farmers. They also highlight the fact that farm products are the nation's largest single export, contributing significantly to the U.S. balance of payments and creating jobs in farm-related industries. Another commercial will emphasize the importance of farm management in maintaining a strong agricultural base for the economy.

Farm production stars in a new series of Ciba-Geigy TV commercials which demonstrate for consumers the 20 million farm-related jobs created by the nation's two million farmers.

2 new Gold Medal Sires

PLAIN CITY, Oh. — Select Sires, Inc., owned 50 percent of the newly qualified Gold Medal Sires in July, 1983. Two of the four new Gold Medal Sires are 7H543 Carlin-M Ivanhoe Bell and 7H572 Rockalli Son of Bova. These sires achieved this permanent status with the following sire summaries:

7H543 Carlin-M Ivanhoe BELL (EX-91); +1,883M -.07% +58F 95%Rpt; +557 TPI +1.24 PDT 86%Rpt.

7H543 Bell was bred by John W. Carlin and Lawrence Mayer of Smolan, Kan. Bell's dam is B&W Heilo Creamelle (VG-87). His sire, Penstate Ivanhoe Star, and his grandsire are both Gold Medal Sires. 7H572 Bova, bred by Hubert Johnson of Mt. Vernon, Wa., is one of Elevation's finest sons. His dam, Rockalli Magnet Darcy (VG-85), is from an Excellent grandam and Gold Medal grandsire. Both 7H543 BELL and 7H572 BOVA complete a solid paternal line of three generations of Gold Medal Sires.

To receive Gold Medal Sire status, the sire must rank in the top 15 % of the breed for PD Milk and PD Type, and have 60% Repeatability or higher. He must also rank in the top 25% for PD Fat with a PD Fat% of -.20% or more. In addition, bulls identified as recessive carriers are not eligible for this award.

Top Agway officers renamed

SYRACUSE, NY — Three top officers were re-elected by the 16-member board of directors of Agway Inc. October 28 immediately following the farm coperative's 19th Annual Meeting.

Re-elected were Richard Croner, Berlin, Pa. chairman of the board; Richard C. Call, Batavia, N.Y., vice chairman; and William A. Hiller, Fayetteville, N.Y., president and chief executive officer.

Croner, who operates a dairy farm in partnership with his son, has served as Agway chairman since 1982. A member of the Agway board since 1964, he is a graduate of Penn State and was named a Pennsylvania Master Farmer in 1967.

Call, re-elected vice chairman, operates a dairy and crop farm in partnership with his brother. A member of the Agway board since 1973, he is a graduate of Cornell University.

William A. Hiller, re-elected president and chief executive officer, was first named to the post on July 1, 1981. He joined Agway in 1951 and has held managerial positions throughout the organization. As Agway's top management officer, he heads a system with consolidated sales of over $3.8 billion in fiscal 1982-83.

KEYSTONE INTERNATIONAL LIVESTOCK EXPOSITION

Familiar face & new face among market lamb winners

HARRISBURG — There were both a familiar face and a new face in the winner's circle of the open and junior market lamb competition at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition on Sunday.

Top winner in the Open Market Lamb competition was Barb Herr, who has been a familiar member of the Nix Besser exhibitors from R2 Narvon, which have included older brother, Chris and younger sister, Margaret.

And, in the Junior Market Lamb competition, first-time winner of the reserve championship was 11-year-old Garth Sweigard, whose family at R3 Halifax, will be heard from more and more in the future in both market lamb and Suffolk breeding competition.

Barb Herr's champion open market lamb was a Hampshire wether from B and B Livestock, of Danville, Ohio.

At KILE, the Nix Besser flock also boasted the Champion Dorset sale ewe, which brought $525, and the high selling ewe, which placed third, at $585.

Moving into the winner's circle at KILE was another stop in the successful showing season of the Nix Besser flock this fall. The Herrs had the champion and reserve champion Dorset ewe at Eastern States and the top two also at the Ohio State Fair. They now move on to Louisville competition at NAILE.

The reserve champion market lamb of Garth Sweigard, a Suffolk, also came out of Ohio.

The youthful exhibitor also had the first-place pen of three in the junior market lamb competition.

Garth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sweigard, R3 Halifax, who have only been in the sheep business for about a year. They purchased five ewes at KILE last year and now have a flock of about 20 ewes and lambs, mostly crossbreds. But they plan to move into a purebred Suffolk breeding operation.

Garth previously took both a first and third in sheep showing at the Dauphin Fair as a member of the Upper Dauphin Livestock Club.

The Sweigards have a diversified livestock operation, which includes Angus and Durocs.

Top Jr. Breeding Sheep winners listed at KILE

HARRISBURG — Exhibitors from across the Commonwealth were among top winners in competition at the 27th annual Keystone International Livestock Exposition's Junior Breeding Sheep Show held Sunday in the Farm Show Complex.

In the Suffolk division, William MacCauley, of Atglen, showed both the grand and reserve champion ram, and for the third year in a row, exhibited the grand champion Suffolk ewe. The reserve champion ewe was exhibited by Matthew McFAnn of Woodbine, Md.

Pennsylvania exhibitors placing in the top five were Tammy Styer, of Bedford; Margaret Arms, of Dauphin; Lisa Ann Shaffer of Hooversville; and Jeffrey Putnak of Monongahela.

Susan Falvey, of Bedford, captured both the grand and reserve champion ewe titles in the Southdown sheep division. The grand champion Southdown ram was exhibited by Roy Bruce Betts of Felton, Del., while the reserve champion was shown by Deanna Stumbo of Honeoye, N.Y.

Pennsylvania exhibitors placing in the top five were Melissa Trostle, of Red Lion, and Pegg McCrumb, of Mars.

In the Shropshire division, the grand champion ram was exhibited by Arlissa Snavely, of Lancaster, while both the reserve champion ram and ewe were shown by Brad Heaton, of Versailles, Ohio. The grand champion ewe was shown by Jeff Bricker, of Carlisle.

Other Pennsylvanians placing in the top five of their class included Joseph Showers, of Bendersville; Matthew Snavely, of Lancaster; and Guy McKean, of Mercer.

In the Oxford division, Amy Eshelman, of Sinking Spring, exhibited both the reserve champion ram and reserve champion ewe. The grand champion ram and ewe were shown by Ross Stoddard, of Kingston, N.Y.

Wayne Co. conducts milker school

HONESDALE — A Milker Management School will be presented by the Wayne County Agricultural Extension Service on November 21 and 22 from 10:00 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. at the Salem Township Municipal Building on Rt. 590 West of Hamlin.

The Milker Management School is one aspect of a coordinated state-wide Extension program to promote improved udder health in dairy herds. Nearly 50 Milking Schools have been held in Pennsylvania with over 1500 dairymen attending since the winter of 1981. This will be the third held in Wayne County during that period of time.

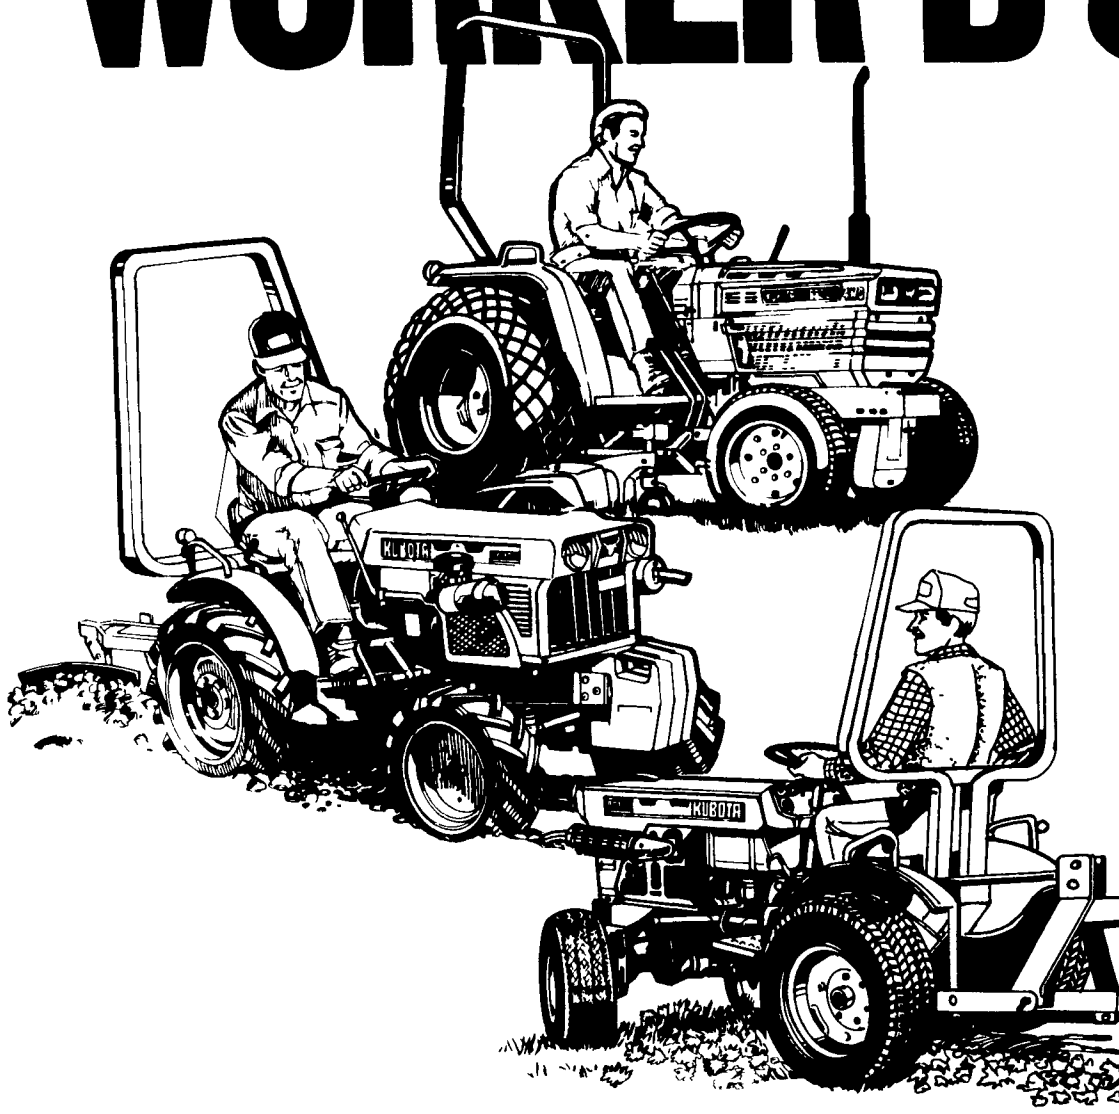
Topics to be presented will include development of the mammary gland, anatomy of the udder, physciology of milk secretion, mastitis control, cleaning and maintenance of milking equipment, how the milking machine works, and stray voltage.

A farm visit will be included to demonstrate milking machine analysis and other management practices. Participants will have an opportunity to utilize a Penn State Computer program to evaluate their milking system.

Instructors will be John Creighton and Edward Pruss, Extension Agents; and Dr. John Burlein, Veterinarian. Extension educational materials have been developed for the school by Penn State Extension personnel.

There will be a registration fee to help cover the cost of educational materials and other expenses. Participants are asked to bring a bag lunch. Interested persons can register or secure more information by contacting the Wayne County Extension Service at 717-253-5970 ext. 114.

WORKER B'S.



Nothing works harder than our B-Series tractors They range from 12 to 19 hp. So there's one for every job.

And with a hydraulic 3-point hitch, front and rear PTO, these tractors can handle a variety of implements

So if you're looking for a hard worker, look no further than Kubota's worker B-Series tractors.

Chester countian collects Suffolk honors

MacCauley's entries, "Night Rider 267" and "Breezeview 312", took top and reserve honors, respectively. His entries also earned him the two top spots in the junior breeding Suffolk competition. He showed the grand champion ewe in the 1982 and 1981 Keystone International Livestock Expositions.

"Mallow," a Suffolk entered by E.P. Mallow & Sons of Franklin, West Virginia, took champion ewe honors this year. The reserve champion Suffolk ewe, "Valley High E 232," was shown by Sandra Skvarka of Newark, New York. Paul Leader of York had the first place exhibitor flock.

1,000th Real Seal agreement

EDEN, N.Y. — New York is the home of the nation's 1,000th "REAL" Seal Agreement. The Eden Cheese Factory signed the 1,000th "REAL" Seal Agreement, part of a nation-wide dairy product identification program sponsored by the American Dairy Association.

Kevin Getchell, owner of the cheese factory, moved to Eden with his wife Lana and daughter Heidi, after purchasing the factory from its original owner two years ago. The factory has been in business since 1929.

"The 'REAL' Seal Program is a very good idea," says Getchell. "There's a lot of confusion in people's minds as to what real dairy products are. With people being more health conscious, and concerned about patronizing products made in this country, it's a very important program."

Getchell's factory produces 1,500 pounds of cheese per week, which is sold in a store attached to the side of the cheese factory. A limited amount of cheese is also sold through farmers' markets and mail orders.

The factory is noted for the unique flavor of its cheeses. Its product is old fashioned dairy cheddar, made from raw milk, that is bench cured and has a rind. "This produces a more intense, unique flavor," explains Getchell. The facotry also makes fresh cheese curds, butter, and Monteray Jack, Colby, and Linburger cheeses.

THE "HIP HUGGER"
New Revolutionary Design!!

1 The hip supporting bars are contoured and padded They surround the hip joints, evenly distributing the pressure making it more humane.

2 It is compact and easily positioned being much shorter than most hip clamps This gives ample clearance anywhere inside the frame of the "COW BUOY". It also allows the operator access to "Downer" cows in hard to get places.

3 Very easy to adjust and secure, the linkage on adjustment mechanism reduces effort required to turn adjusting screw.

4 It has a detachable handle, easily removed by pulling a snap pin. This prevents the adjusting screw from getting caught or bent

During the month there were 154 herds with 8,599 cows processed in the D.H.I.A program, according to Russell C. Seward, County Agent. Production ranged from a high of 65.2 pounds of milk, testing 3.5 percent fat, to a low of 11.6 pounds of milk, testing 4.7 percent fat.

In the owner-sampler program there were 26 herds with 993 cows being processed. The herds ranged from a high of 53.7 pounds of milk, testing 3.6 percent fat, to a low of 29.5 pounds of milk, testing 3.3 percent fat.

The ten high individual cow actual production records in D.H.I.A. produced on a two times a day milking in 305 days or less (unless otherwide indicated) were in the following herds:

NY meat packer agrees to pay civil penalty

WASHINGTON — Whitestown Packing Corp., a meat packer at Utica, N.Y., has agreed to pay a $500 civil penalty and accept a cease and desist order to settle charges that it purchased livestock without an adequate bond, a U.S. Department of Agriculture official said today.

B.H. (Bill) Jones, head of USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration, said the firm has since filed the required amount of bond.

Whitestown Packing Corp. purchases slaughter cows and formula veal calves throughout New England, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

In agreeing to the $500 civil penalty and the cease and desist order, Whitestown Packing neither admitted nor denied the charges in an administrative complaint filed by USDA last November under authority of the Packers and Stockyards Act.

The cease and desist order, similar to a permanent injunction was issued to insure future compliance with the P&S Act.

The P&S Act is an antitrust, fair trade practice and payment protection law. It is designed to maintain integrity in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat and in the marketplace.

If "How To Feed Cattle?

Schoessow Patented Slant Bar Feeder Wagon

Are THE ANSWER

QUESTION: Why Slant Bars?
ANSWER:
(1) SLANT BARS SET at approx. 45° force animals to turn their heads when leaving the feeder, thus dropping the feed inside the feeder, not on the ground.
(2) SLANT BARS DO NOT rub hair and hide from the top of livestocks' neck like cables do.
(3) SLANT BARS PREVENT the boss cow from disturbing all the animals feeding on one side of the feeder.
(4) SLANT BARS DON'T loosen like cables do — thus eliminating cattle getting hung in feeder.

QUESTION: Why Round Structural Tube and Pipe Construction?
ANSWER:
(1) ROUND GIVES MORE all directional strength than square tubing or angular steel when equal amounts of steel are used per foot.
(2) ROUND OFFERS less chance of livestock bruising.
(3) ROUND CAUSES FEWER cuts or ear tearing than angle iron, square tubing, or cable construction.

QUESTION: Why 360° Welds Along the Ends of Tubing and Pipe, Even Where You Don't See It?
ANSWER:
(1) GREATER STRENGTH than skip welds.
(2) PREVENTS MOISTURE from collecting inside hollow components thus reducing inner rust (no inside cancer like your car).

QUESTION: Why Use 55,000# High Tensile Strength Tubing with Walls as Heavy as 1/8"?
ANSWER:
(1) TO WITHSTAND the impact of large round bales dropped in by a farm loader.
(2) TO WITHSTAND the abuse that can be offered by a herd of cattle.
(3) TO BE STRONG enough to be loaded with 10 tons of feed and pulled through rough fields.

QUESTION: Why an All Formed Bottom with a Continuous End Weld?
ANSWER:
(1) NO CRACKS OR CREVICES to trap feed, which will cause rust.
(2) LOAD STRENGTH — NO WELDS to crack under 10 ton plus loads.
(3) NO 90° CORNERS at the side of feeder floor where cattle can't reach feed (thus leaving it to rot and cause rust in competitive models).

QUESTION: Why a 7' Wide Feeder?
ANSWER:
(1) HANDLES LARGE ROUND BALES. (5½-6½' feeder.)
(2) CAPACITY TO HOLD the large amou Schoessow wagon will handle.

QUESTION: Why a 14" Deep Manger with
ANSWER:
(1) SAVES FEED — THE DEEP MANG dollars saved to you.

QUESTION: Why 4' High Side Panels That Removable?
ANSWER:
(1) IN PLACE AND PROPERLY ADJUS down the loss of fine feed when choppi milk test).
(2) VERSATILITY — REMOVE THE B large round bales.
(3) VERSATILITY — ADJUST THE BOA to the manger to prevent feed hang up a QUESTION: Why Paint the Underside of the Wagon?

ANSWER:
(1) ALTHOUGH YOU CAN'T SEE IT, it protects the quality and value of your Schoessow wagon.

QUESTION: Why a 10 Ton Integral Running Gear?
ANSWER:
(1) THE 7' WIDE WAGON with high side boards will hold that much feed to save you trips.
(2) THE 2" LARGE SPINDLE and 5000# capacity hub work hard to save you the time and money you would spend repairing our competitor's 1 5/8" spindles and 3500# capacity hubs.
(3) THE SCHOESSOW DESIGNED gooseneck front hitch was the first and is still the strongest front hitch on the market today.

QUESTION: Why Offer a Non-Oscillating Tandem Axle (Optional)?
ANSWER:
(1) IN LONG ROAD TRAVEL SITUATIONS, there is less tire heat build-up.
(2) INCREASED FLOTATION in wet or soft ground situations.
(3) IN CASE OF A FLAT TIRE, you can reduce your speed and continue to the feed lot — the remaining wheels with their 2" spindles and 5000# hubs will carry the loads.

The Dairy Business

By Newton Bair

Millions of words, both written and spoken, will assail and insult our eyes and ears in the coming months. All kinds of experts", including Editors, Columnists, and Politicians, will expound their personal ideas on the best way to solve our problems. Some of it will surely be printed and spoken in a true spirit of helpfulness. But most of those words will fade into the wind, their owners glad that they don't have to eat them.

There is still a lot of speculation about what should be done about our surplus Dairy products. Down through history, any surplus food supplies would have been considered a blessing instead of a curse. Why then, in this enlightened age, (and with millions of starving people in the world), has the American farmer become the villain? If we look a little closer, we might see that there are other rogues in the bushes and that the American farmer is the scapegoat for them all.

MILK SURPLUSES ARE EVERYWHERE

Robert Rumler, in a recent article in Successful Farming Magazine, made some startling statements. The following table was compiled from USDA released figures:

Milk Production, in million metric tons

	1982	1983
United States	61.6	63.0
Canada	8.3	8.1
ECC (common market)	113.0	115.3
USSR	90.1	94.0
AUSTRALIA	5.3	5.3
New Zealand	6.8	6.8
India	34.0	35.0

When we think in terms of total World supply of milk and dairy products, it's easy to see that there is milk flowing from other sources than the United States. Strangely enough, the USSR produces 21 billion metric tons more milk than the U.S. And, the Russians actually import 25% of all the dairy products that enter the World markets! Since more than 50% of the dairy products in World trade are produced in Europe, we can assume that much of that goes to Russia.

One of the reasons we find it difficult to compete in the world markets for Dairy products, especially butter, is that the European Common Market (ECC) countries all have a heavy Government subsidy program. This virtually guarantees that there will be surplus production coming out of Europe for years to come. The only way for us to compete is to either sell at a loss, or accept higher government subsidies. Meanwhile, we continue to export our best bull semen, our high producing heifers, and our superior technology of production to the very countries who compete with us in the world market for cheese and butter.

None of us like to be restricted in our efforts to produce. We are proud of our constant progress in the industry. Every year sees a rise in milk, fat and protein per cow. There is tremendous progress in Genetic improvement, better feeding and management, and in the quality of our Dairy products. To restrict and control production would be to slow down progress in agriculture. A nation like ours can't afford to do that.

A dairy bill now before the U.S. House of Representatives would lower the support price from $13.10 to $12.60 per cwt.; maintain the current .50 cent per cwt. reduction through December 1984,; provide a $10.00 per cwt. payment to producers who reduce their net production at least 5 to 30 percent over the next 15 months. the bill would also require a .15 percent per cwt. assessment on all milk sold, to establish a dairy promotion and research program.

YOUR MONEY AND YOUR EFFORT

If we want to continue to produce without restrictions and controls imposed from outside, there is no alternative but to develop and expand our own domestic markets. With a product as good as ours, it shouldn't be hard. Real Milk Shakes, (not the ones made out of seaweed and vegetable fat), real American ice cream, Real American cheese, and Real fresh milk, can and should take back some of the market stolen by the "phony phood phads".

Resolve that it will take some effort and money to do it. Your money and your effort!

Dairylea calls for Conable amendment defeat

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — The president of one of the Northeast's major dairy cooperatives has urged members of the House of Representatives to reject a move by the Reagan Administration that "will destroy any possibility of new dairy legislation this year and probably next year as well."

Clyde E. Rutherford, President of the 3,000-member Dairylea Cooperative of Syracuse, in a telegram to New York and Pennsylvania House members called on them to defeat the Conable Amendment and support the Dairy Compromise bill. Introduced by Congressman Barber Conable (R-N.Y.), the Conable Amendment would replace the current $1.00 a hundredweight milk tax on farmers with authority for the Secretary of Agriculture to cut the dairy price support by as much as $1.50 a hundred pounds of milk.

"For many months," said Rutherford, "more than 85 percent of the nation's dairy farmers have supported the Dairy Compromise bill which would provide some measure of cash flow assistance to dairy farmers who reduce production. Dairy experts across the country have said that this bill would provide a quicker reduction in milk production than anything else now being offered, including the Conable price support cut.

"Originally, the Administration had agreed that if the Dairy Compromise bill passed both houses, President Reagan would approve it. Now, the administration has stepped into the congressional debate and tipped the scales in favor of a measure that will unquestionably put thousands of dairy farmers out of business across the country."

Rutherford said that if the House passes the Conable Amendment, there is great doubt that a House-Senate Conference committee, faced with the prospect of compromising two greatly different bills can come up with a legislative solution.

"The net result," he said "will be a continuation of the $1.00 milk tax for many months, perhaps until a new farm fill is written and becomes law on Oct. 1, 1985. By that time, irreparable damage will have been done to the nation's economy. The dairy industry is one of the major sources of jobs and commerce in this country. When we destroy its viability, we destroy a part of our economy....and it could be enough to seriously undermine the ongoing economic recovery."

Forage & seed conference set

UNIVERSITY PARK — Penn State in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland Council and the Pennsylvania Seedmen's Association will sponsor the 1983 Forage and Seed Conference on Nov. 21-22 in the J.O.Keller Confernence Center, University Park.

The conference will spotlight alfalfa production and utilization, federal agriculture programs, crop seed selection and pasture management.

Forage producers will participate in the 1983 Outstanding Forage Spokesman Program and results of the 1983 Alfalfa Grower's Program will be announced.

Speakers will discuss PIK in retrospect and experts will describe production, feeding and marketing techniques for alfalfa. Top Pennsylvania alfalfa producers will also share their secrets for growing a successful crop.

If you are interested in attending, call your county extension agent or Agronomy Extension (814-865-2543) for preregistration information. Registration for the full conference is $13 and $7 for a single day.

Grange egg trip draws big legislative audience

HARRISBURG — A very impressive number of Congressman attended the Grange sponsored poultry informational meeting in Washington. More than half of the U.S. House Pennsylvania delegation (15) were present, along with both Senators John Heinz and Arlen Specter.

The Pennsylvania State Grange, under the leadership of State Master Charles Wismer, Jr., sponsored 30 emissaries on a bus trip from Gettysburg to Washington, D.C. to present an informational meeting on the economic problems bombarding the family egg and poultry farmer in the Commonwealth.

Dolly Sterner headed the presentation, aided by fellow egg producers Dale King and Mark Widerman, President of the Adams County Poultry Federation. The Pennsylvania group consisted of 20 egg farmers from Adams and Lancaster Counties (the top two egg producing counties in the state) as well as State Representatives John Broujos (D-Cumberland), Samuel Morris (Chairman of the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee), and Carville "Peck" Foster (R-York), along with Charles Wismer of the Grange, and Jack Grey, research analyst for the Pa. House Agriculture Committee.

The Pennsylvania egg producers presented their concerns at the luncheon meeting at the Rayburn House Office Building in Washington. They presented their "blueprint for survival" in a depressed egg market, which includes more limitations on foreign and corporate invested farming operations, a prescribed poultry price marketing program, a national poultry industry management system, and producer payment protections.

Wismer requested that the legislators-"do not remove the egg provision in the current Dairy Compromise Bill now in the U.S. House." It is the first step to enacting our suggestions to aid the family egg farmer," he noted. The provision would add eggs to the 1937 Farm Commodities Act-setting a marketing order for prices on eggs. Both Senator's Heinz and Specter said they voted for the bill when it passed the Senate last month.

Wismer mentioned that on the state level, Rep. Peck Foster is going to introduce legislation to offer low interest loans only to the smaller family farmer and limit foreign-owned farms to 10 acres, instead of the current 100 acres.

Senator Heinz also stated that language to amend the Federal Packers and Stockyards Act is being formulated to allow contract poultry growers to be included for prompt payment requirements from processors.

Family egg producers are experiencing their fourth year of consecutive losses, according to Dolly Sterner, a spokesman for the egg producers and a Grange member. She noted that the most recent statistics show over 40 percent of the country's 4,700 independent egg producers went out of business this past year. "Producers are losing up to six cents on every dozen of eggs they produce." Sterner said, due to various factors including high feed prices caused by the drought.

Sterner also noted at the meeting that independents are losing their markets in part to large foreign and domestic investors who continue to expand in a surplus egg market. Foreign investors now own up to 25 percent of all laying birds in the nation, compared to 15 percent a year ago. The poultry farmers feel that these million-bird operations are expanding to the detriment of the family farmer, who will eventually be squeezed out of the market. In Adams County, foreign owned laying hens far outnumber hens owned by family producers, and foreign competition is the number one contributor to the Adams County poultrymen's financial crunch, Sterner asserts.

Following the meeting voicing all these concerns and more, including the possible devastating effects of avian influenza now facing Pennsylvania poultry growers, Wismer commented, "We can only hope concrete accomplishments will follow this very successful turn-out of our legislators."

During the meeting, U.S. Representative William Goodling of the 19th District said, "I've never seen so many U.S. Congressman together all at once for so long a period of time." The luncheon meeting lasted from 12:15 to 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday.

MILK MARKET NEWS

ORDER NO. 4 CLASS I MILK PRICE $15.30 FOR DECEMBER

ALEXANDRIA, Va — Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine announced on November 4 a Class I milk price of $15.30 per hundredweight for December 1983. This price is up four cents from November but is four cents lower than last December's Class I price. Order No. 4 prices are announced for milk testing 3.5 percent butterfat f.o.b. plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia, PA and also within 75 miles from the nearer of Washington, DC or Baltimore MD. There is also a 6-cent direct-delivery differential applicable to producer milk received at plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia.

Mr. Shine announced a Class II milk price of $12.60 per hundredweight for October 1983 and a butterfat differential of 17.0 cents for the month. The Class II price increased four cents from September while the butterfat differential was down four-tenths of a cent.

The December Class I price and the October Class II price are based on the October 1983 Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing milk price of $12.52 per hundredweight at a 3.5 percent butterfat content.

The USDA reported that the wholesale price of Grade A butter at Chicago for October declined 3.43 cents to $1.4759 per pound and the nonfat dry milk price was $.9404 per pound, f.o.b. plants in the Chicago area.

Final Wayne County water meeting Tuesday

HONESDALE — Despite the vast amount of water removed from the Delaware Basin to serve New York City, the three reservoirs in New York State are a net benefit to the Delaware River, according to Robert Goodell, Chief Engineer of the Delaware River Basin Commission (DRBC).

Goodell, speaking at the second session on water management of the Delaware at the Honesdale High School, described the formation and the role of the Commission in managing water in the Delaware. He stated that the releases from the reservoirs during low flow periods provide much more water in the river at those times than would flow if the dams had never been built.

In describing the history of Delaware River Water Management, Goodell discussed the Supreme Court case of 1931 between New York and New Jersey which established the right of New York City to divert water out of the Delaware basin. This decision also set up the requirement to release water into the Delaware to insure a minimum amount of water would flow in the Delaware during drought periods.

During the '40's and '50's, Goodell said numerous studies were conducted concerning the water in the Delaware Basin. Some of these studies under the code INCODEL, were responsible for the construction of the Jadwin and Walter reservoirs and the planning of the Walpack Bend (Tocks Island) reservoir. Because there was a continuing need to manage water in the Delaware basin and there was not enough water to follow the terms of the 1931 Supreme court decree, a move was made to establish a more cooperative form of management.

The adoption of the Delaware River Basin Compact and the formation of the Delaware River Basin Commission in 1961 was the result. This commission has one representative from each of the four states, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, and Delaware, and one from the federal government. The legislatures from each of the states passed a law which permits the commission great powers over management of water in the basin. One of the powers is to manage water during period of drought.

"For example", Goodell stated, "on Friday, Nov. 4, the amount of water in the reserviors will probably cross the drought line. If this continues for five consecutive days, the Commission will institute voluntary conservation measures. If the condition reaches a drought emergency, then mandatory conservation measures would be enforced".

The next and final series of meetings on water management sponsored by the Wayne County Extension Service and the Wayne County Planning Commission will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Wayne County Extension Service, Courthouse, Honesdale.

Speakers at this session will be: Jerry Hansler, Executive Director of the DRBC; Robert Fish, River Master; William Douglass, Wayne Co. Planning Commission; and Edward Wesley.

Panel moderator will be Robert Mermel, WDNH Radio. The topic of this session will be the role of Wayne County in overall management of water in the Delaware.

We Trade Choppers

THE BEST NOW EVEN BETTER

US Farm Systems bedding choppers are now available with controlled cutting length. We also have a recutter, if necessary, of those barns using grates over the gutters. This unit can give a consistent cut that will make every piece of bedding the length you desire. Available in gas engines, electric motors, or P.T.O. units. We also have special strawberry mulchers with 2 rotors that chop at a rate of 3 bales per minute.

Is your hog pre-mix doing its job?

This jelly jar can tell you for sure.

To find out how good your hog pre-mix is, take a little and put it into an empty jelly jar. Now, shake. How's it shake out? We thought so.

The Vigortone® difference.

You see, unlike most pre-mixes, Vigortone® particles are perfectly sized and uniform. That's the way they come out of the bag... and that's the way they go into your ration. So, your hogs get a better balanced ration.

If you'd like a real Vigortone comparison on your farm, give me a call. I'll bring Vigortone samples (and my own jelly jars).
